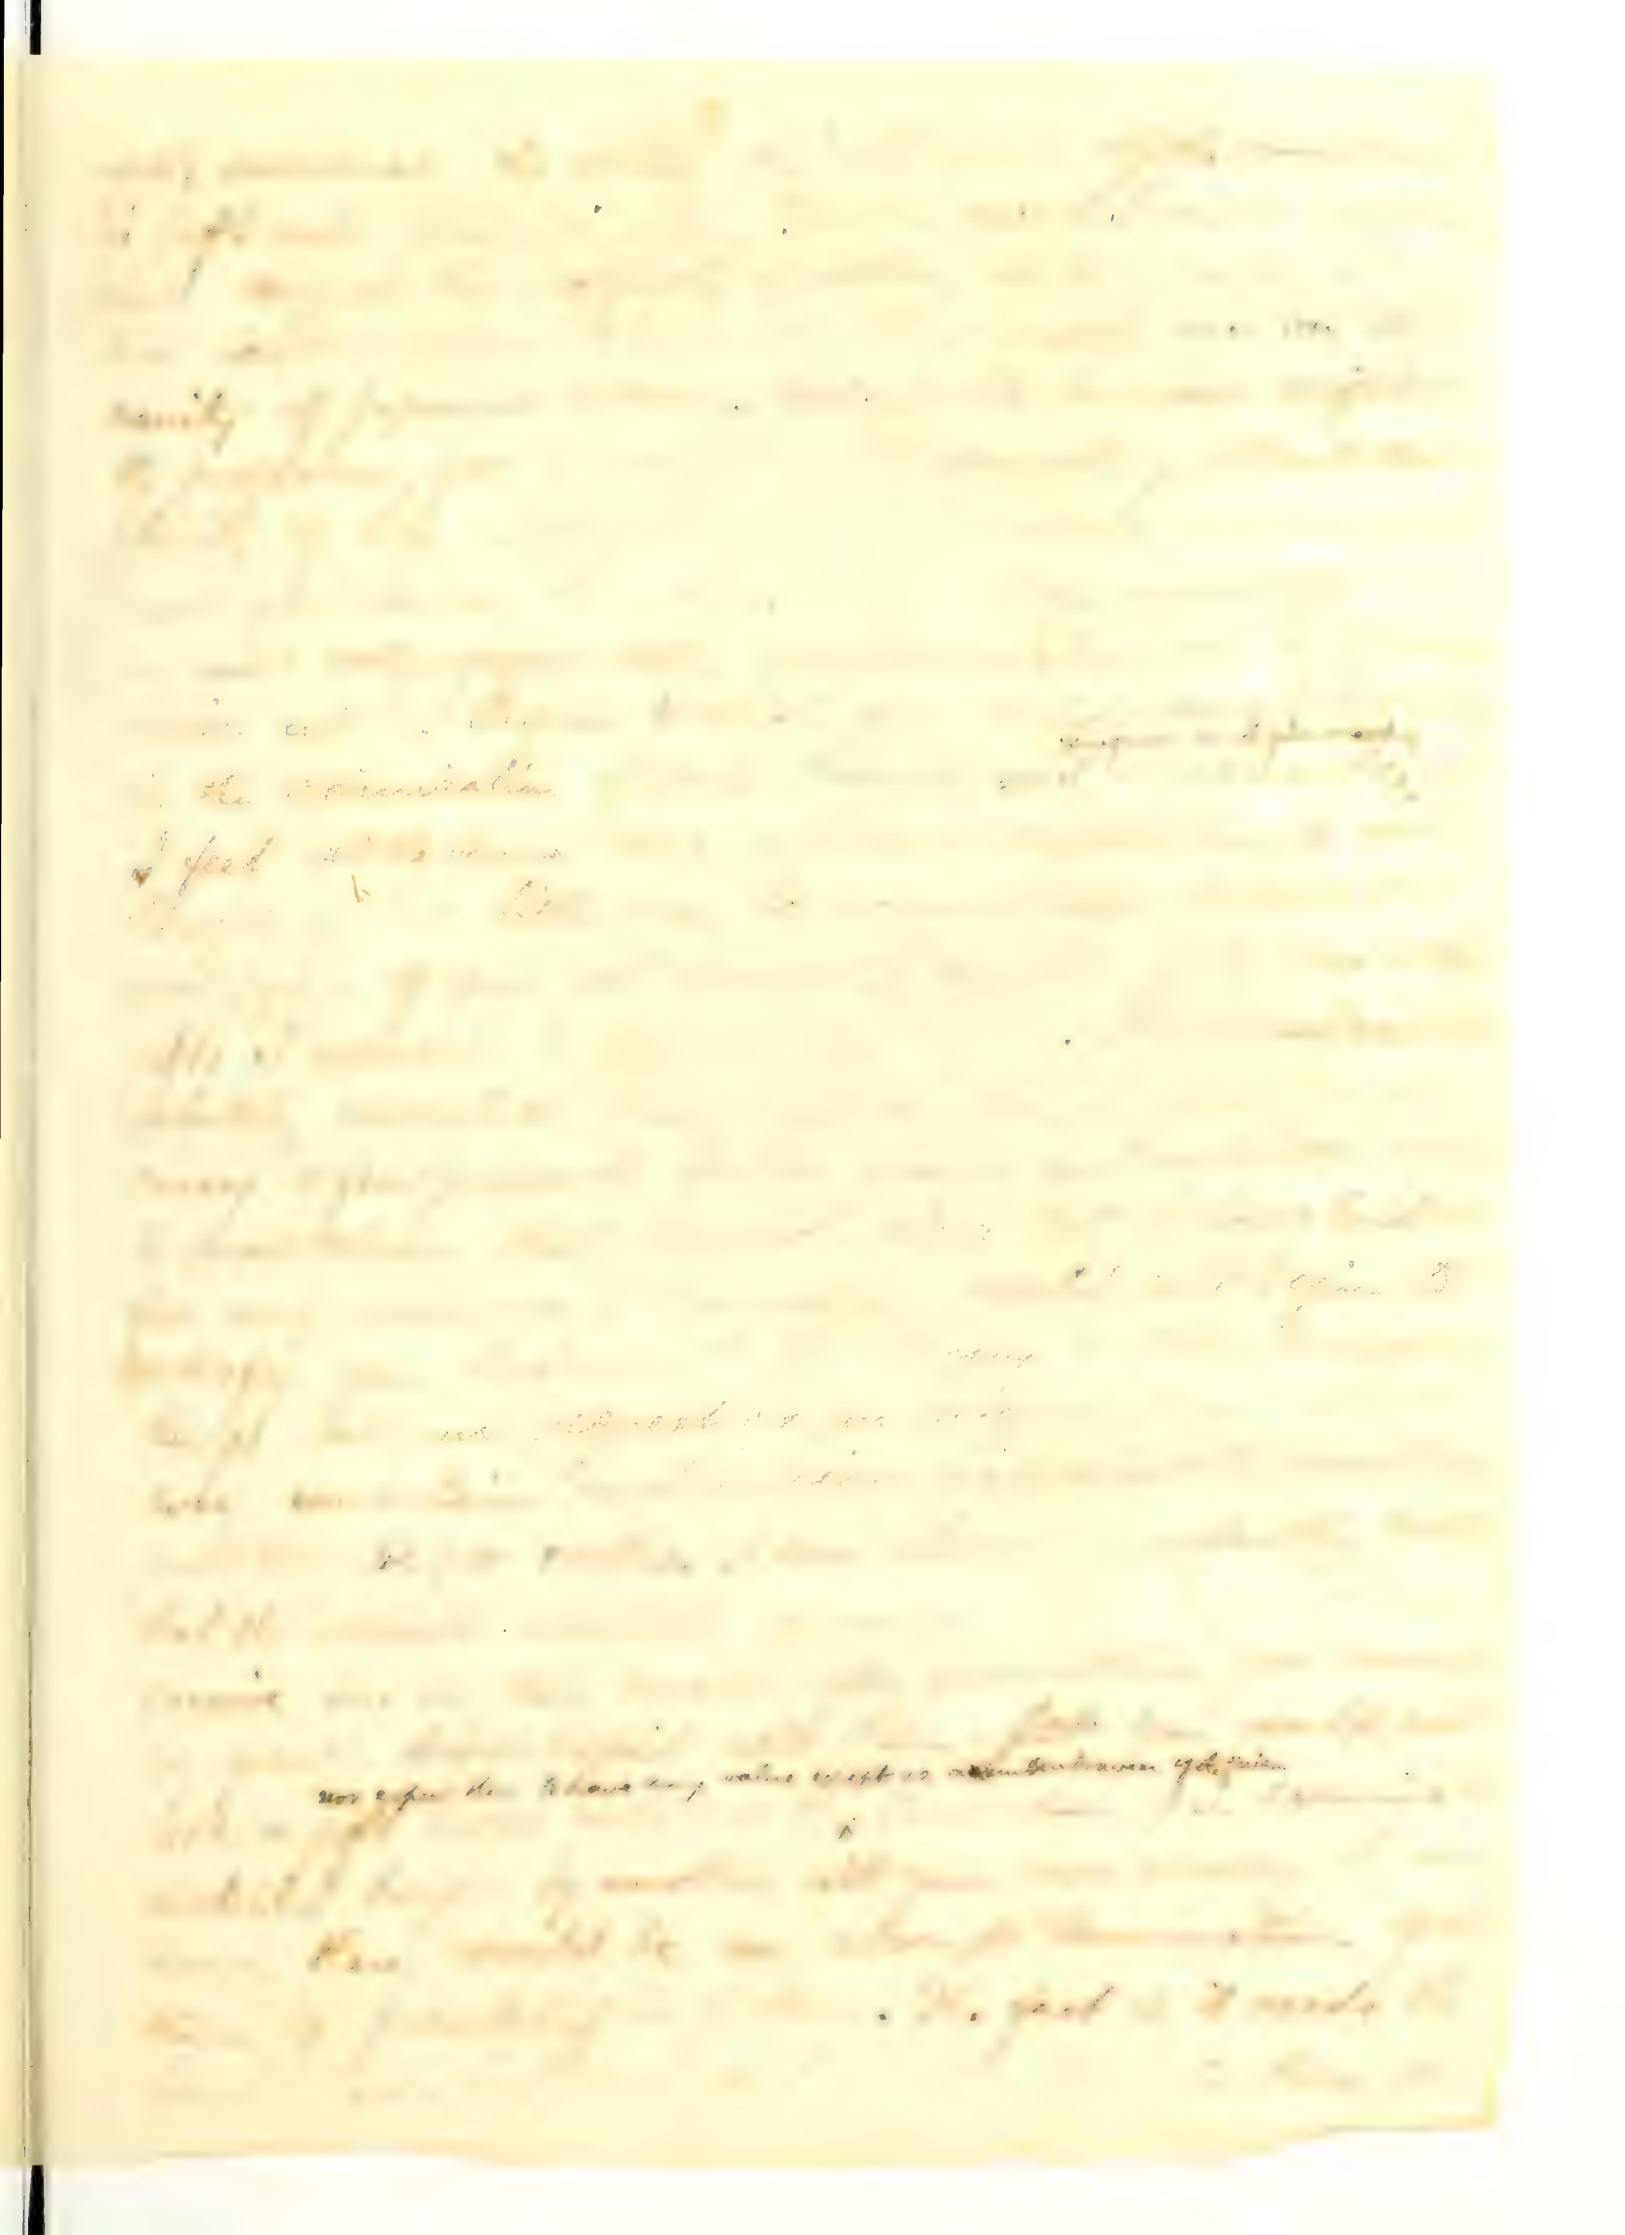
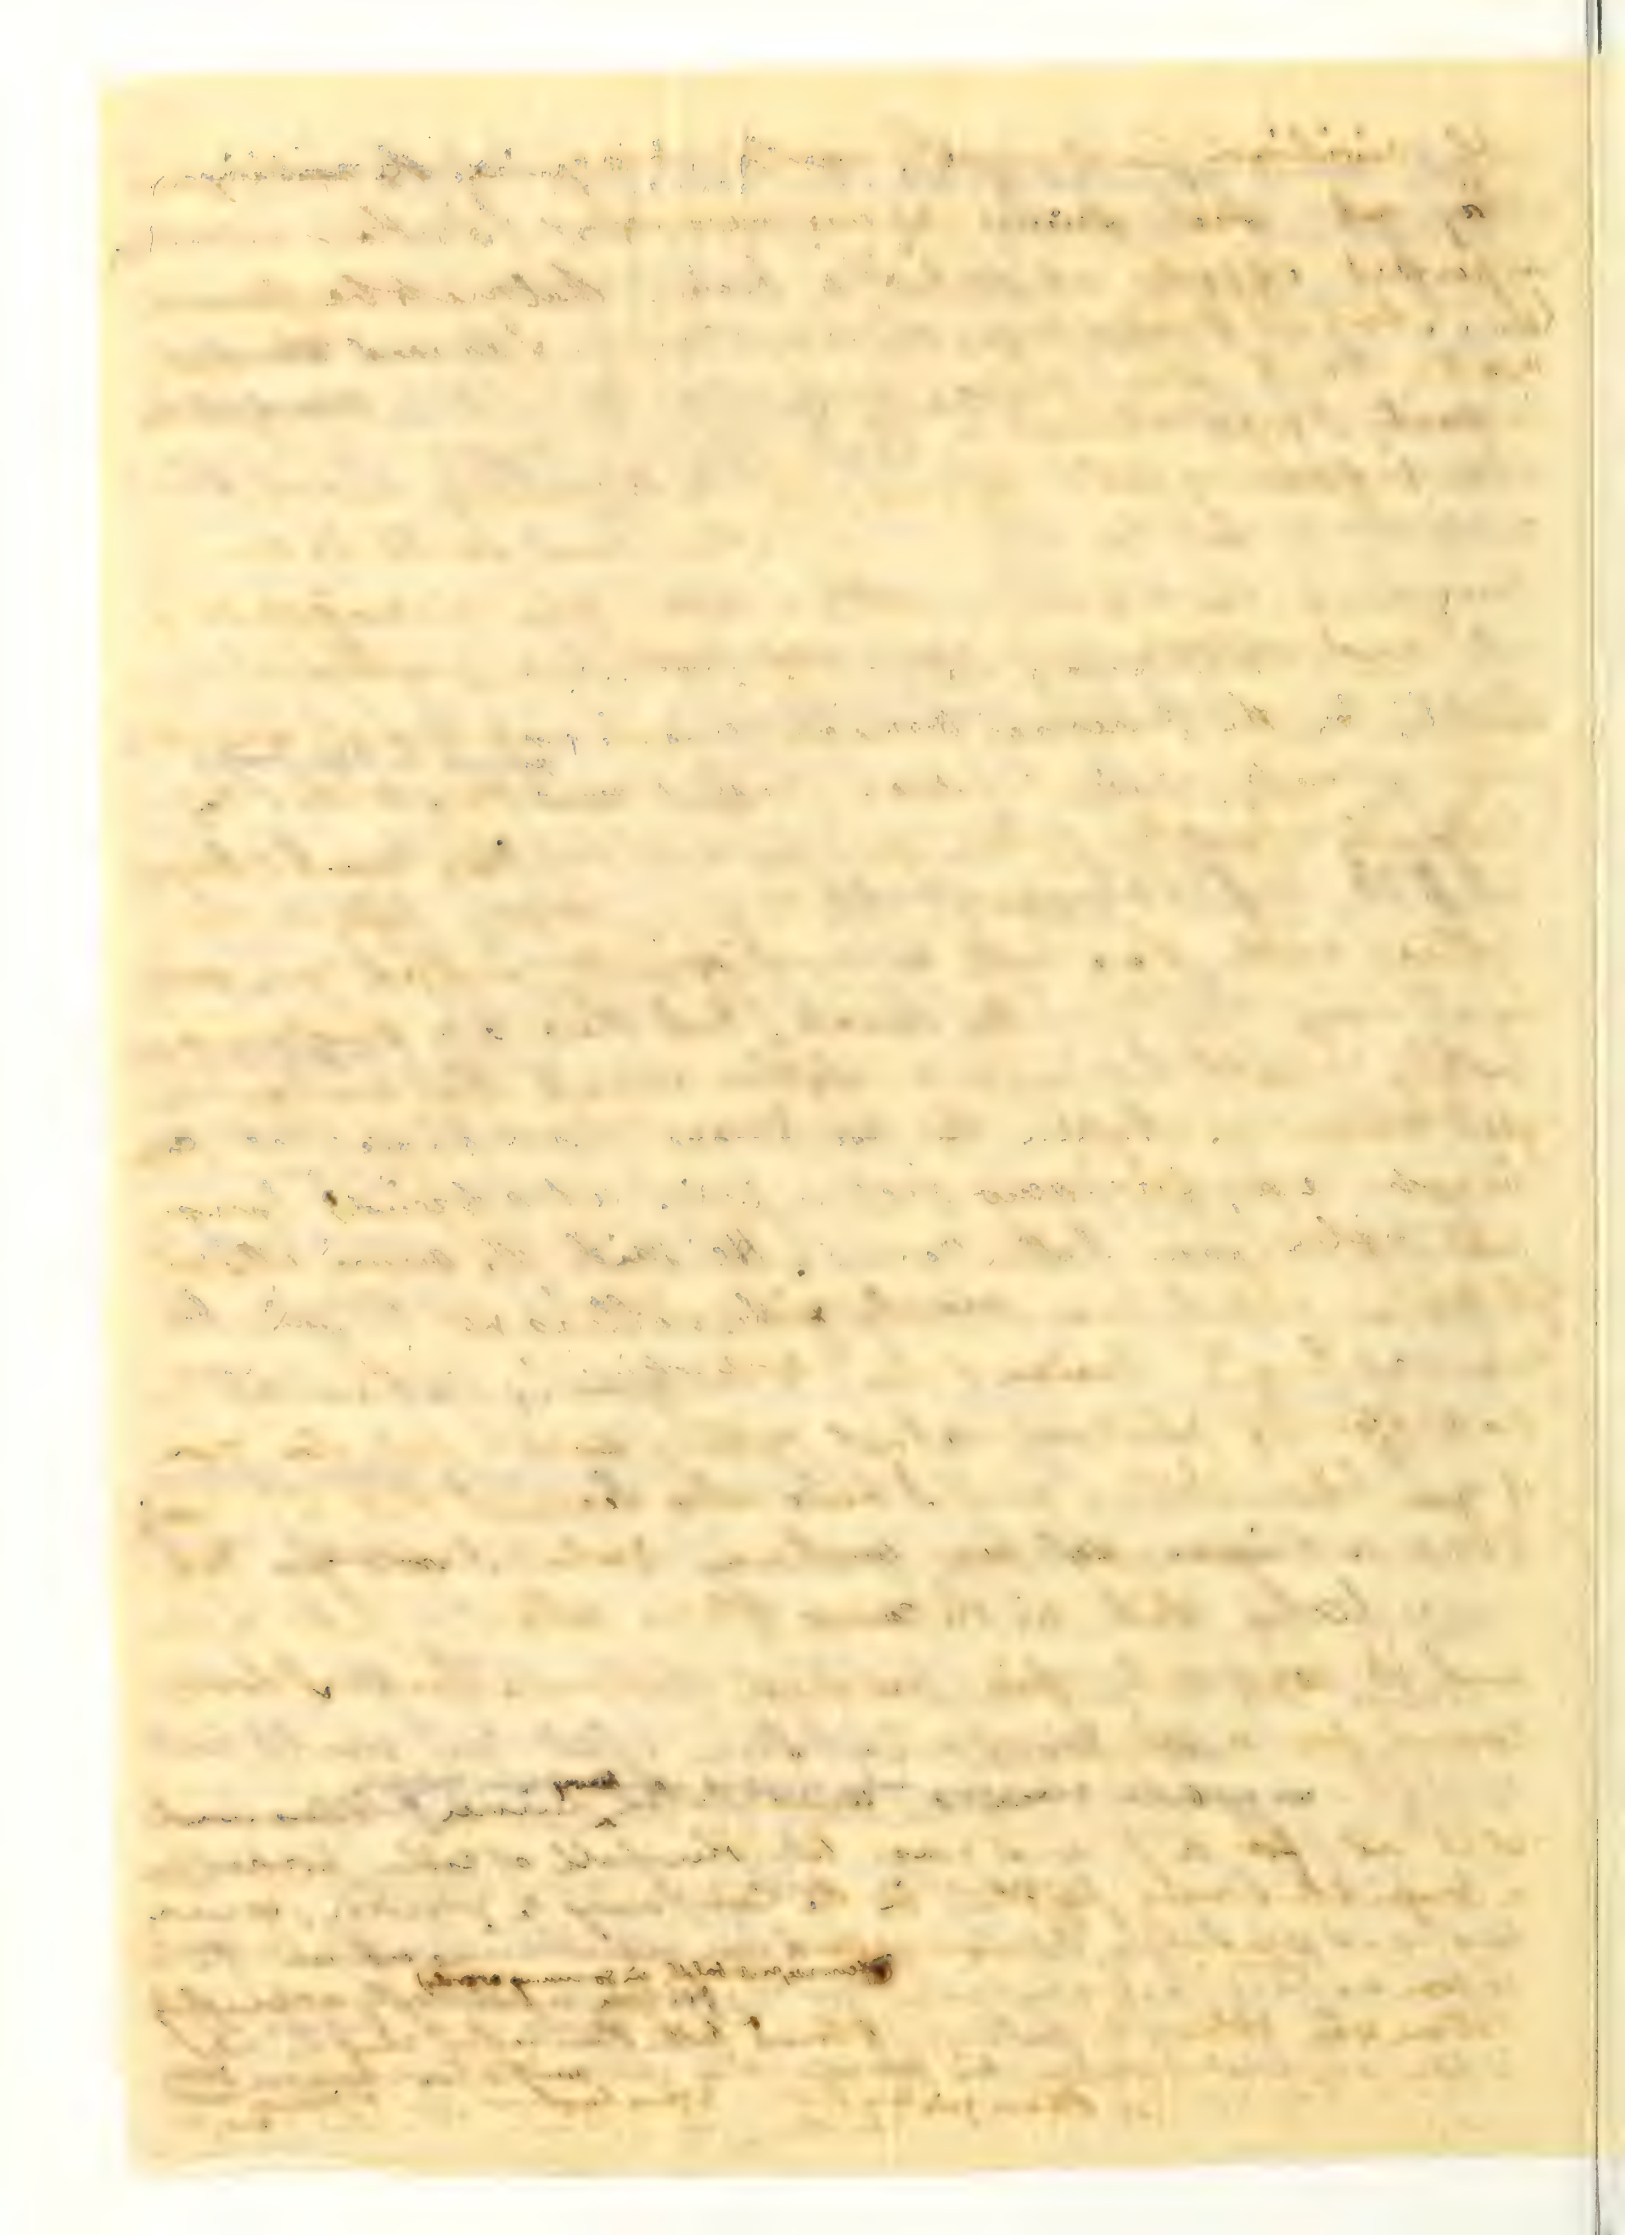
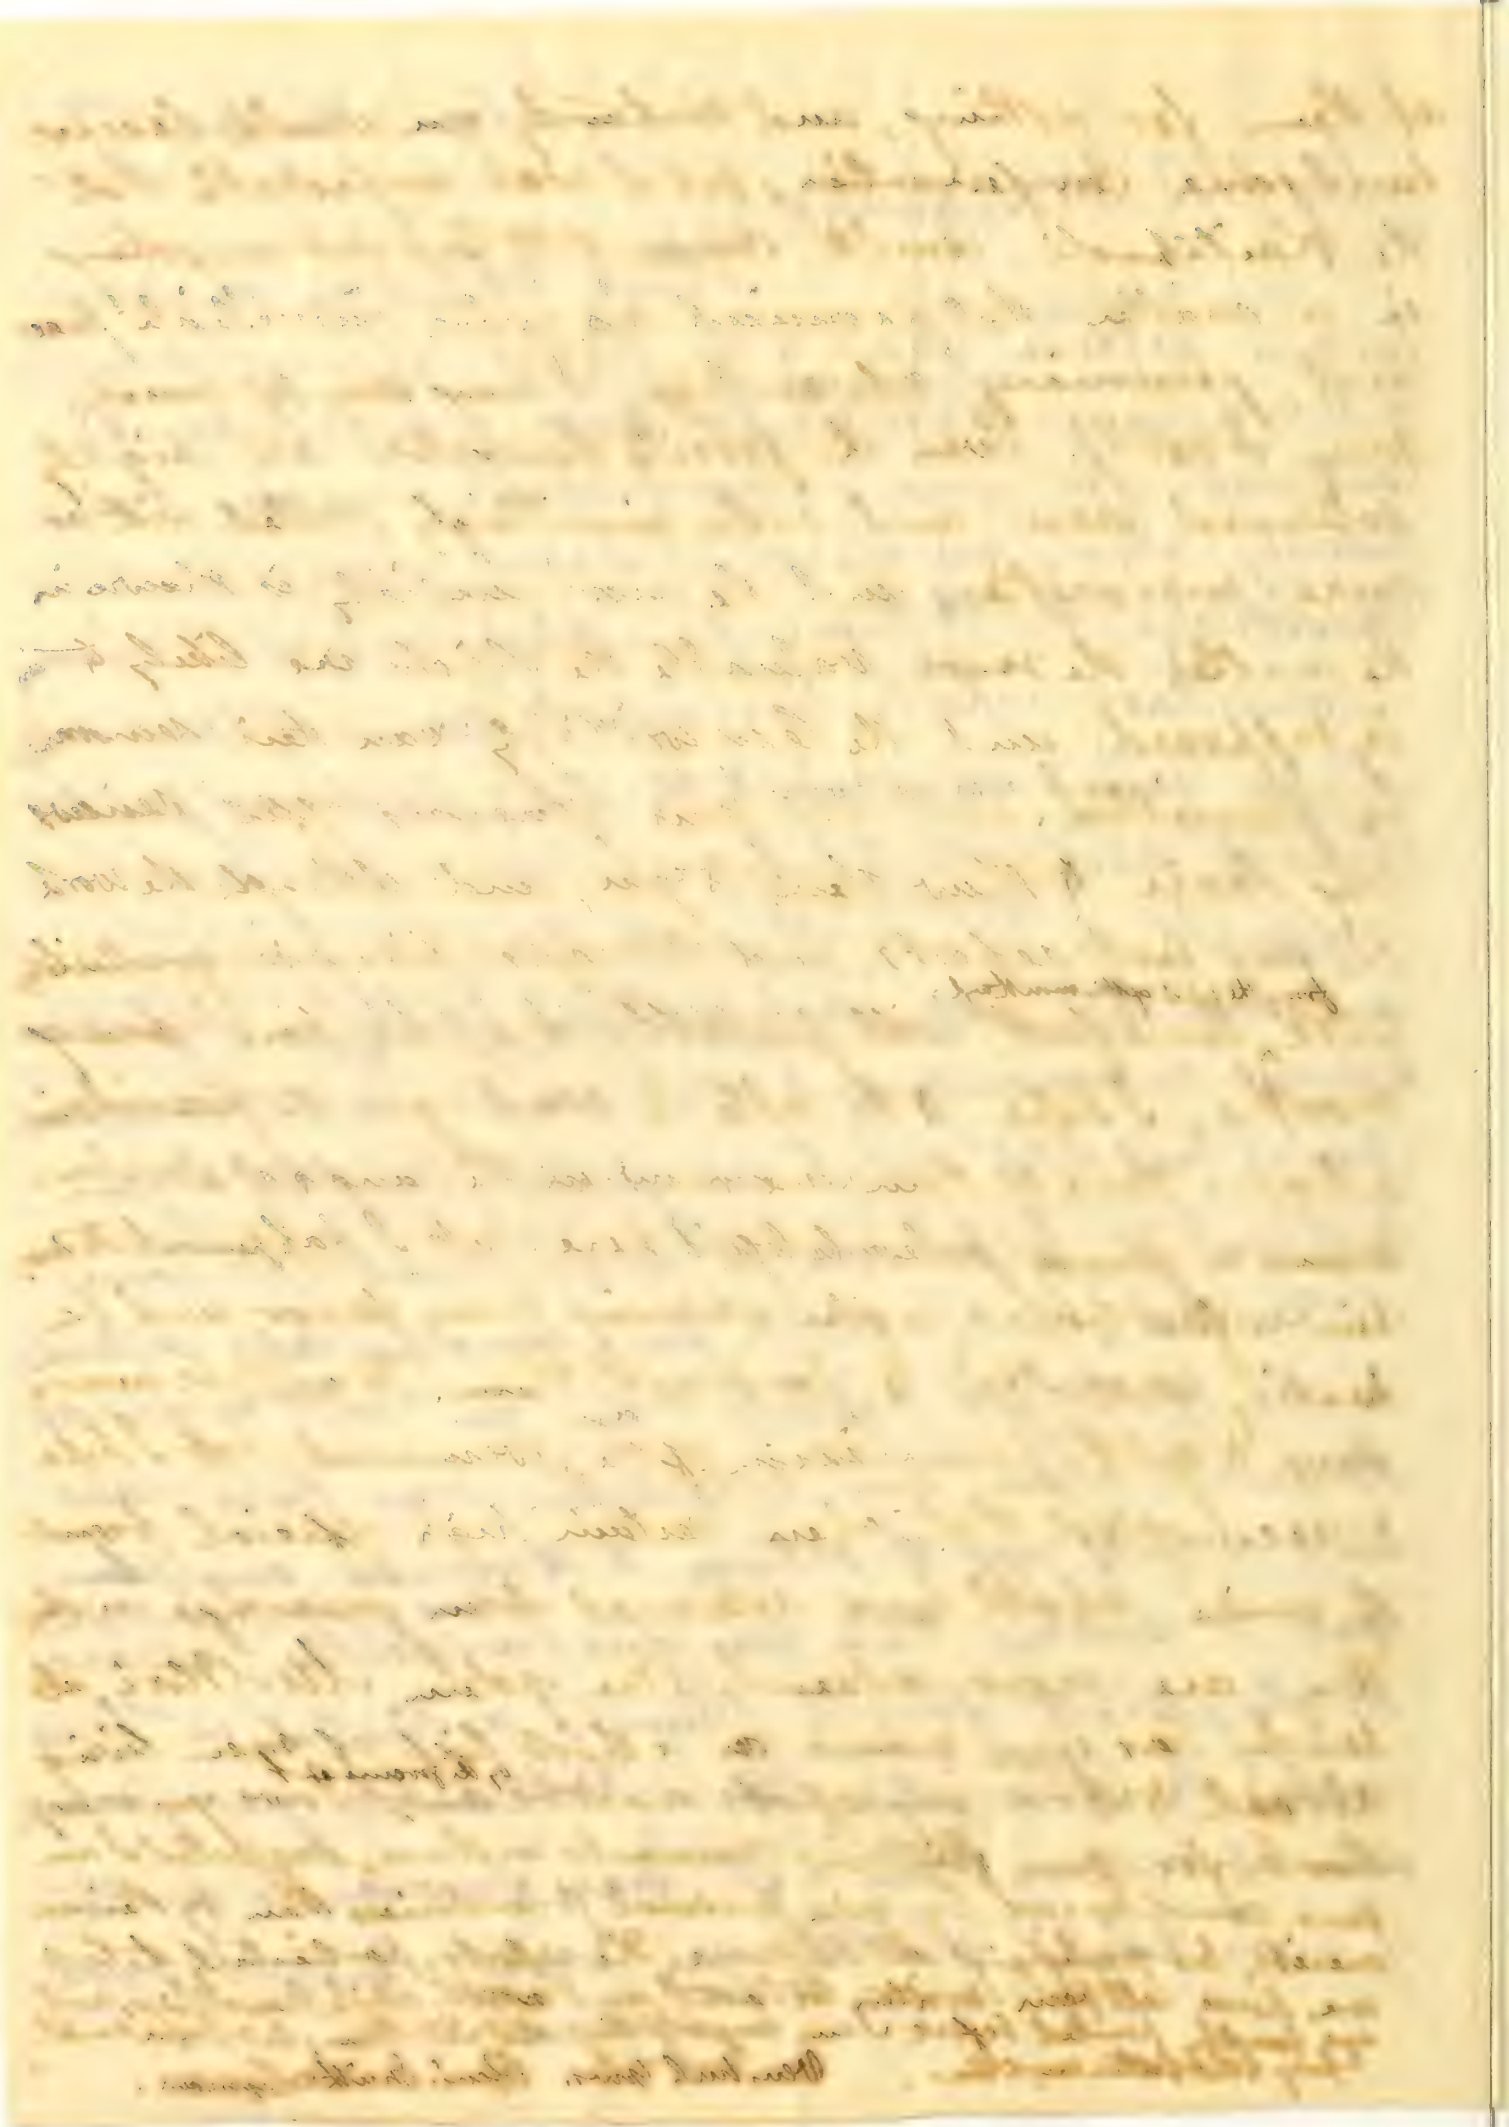
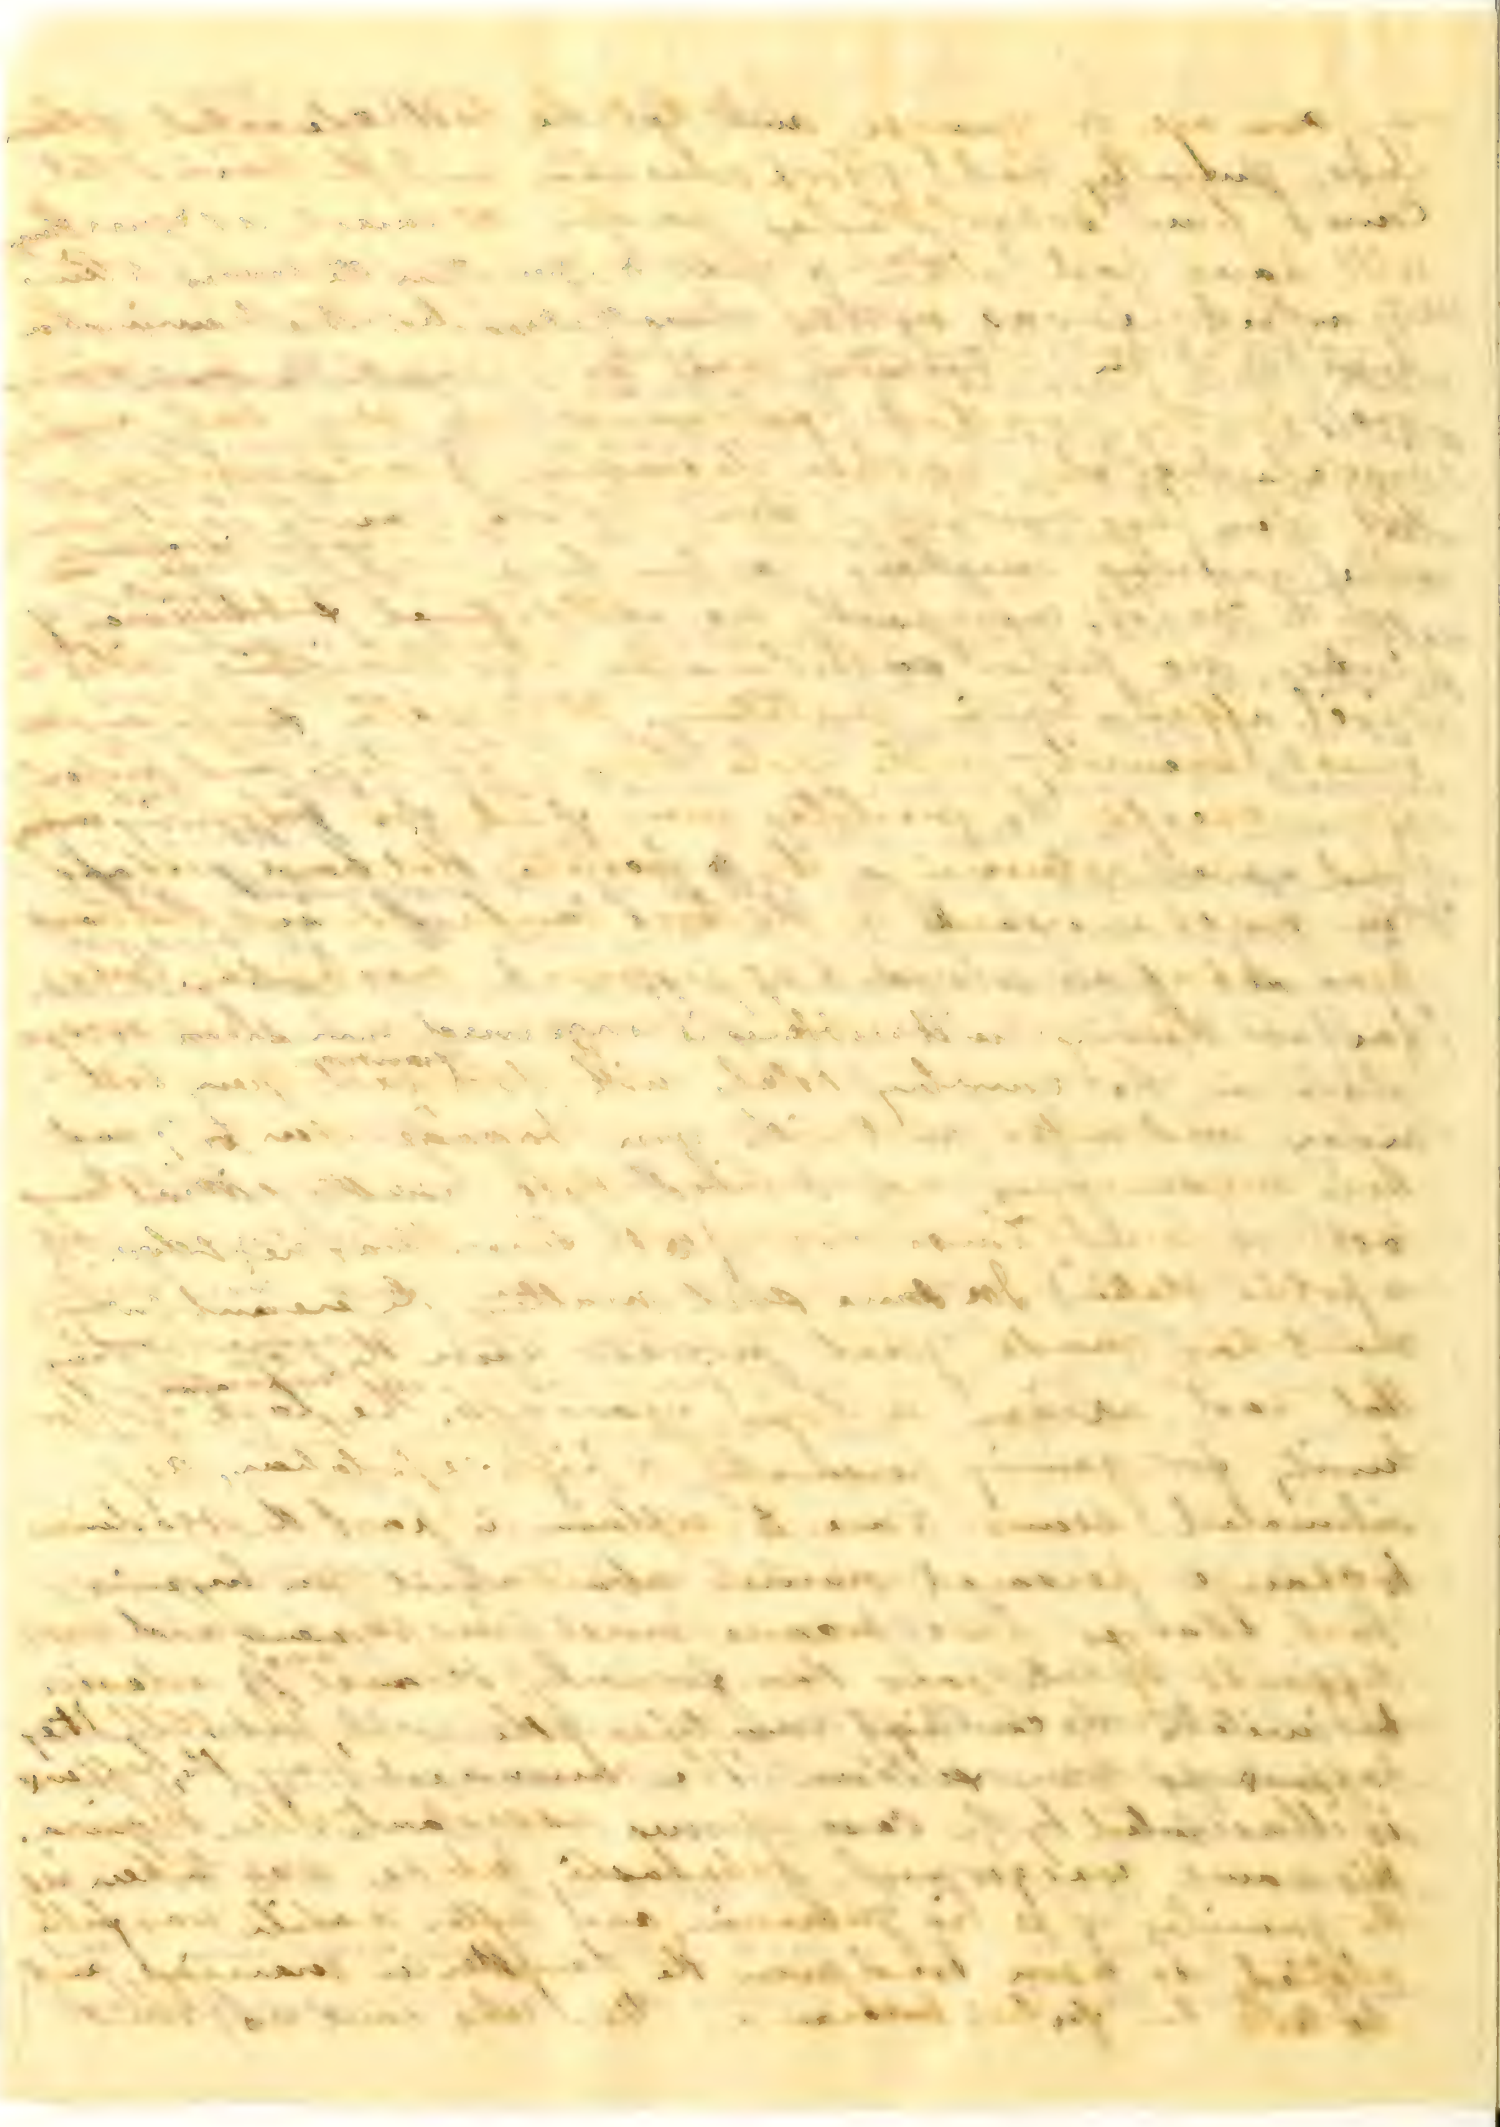
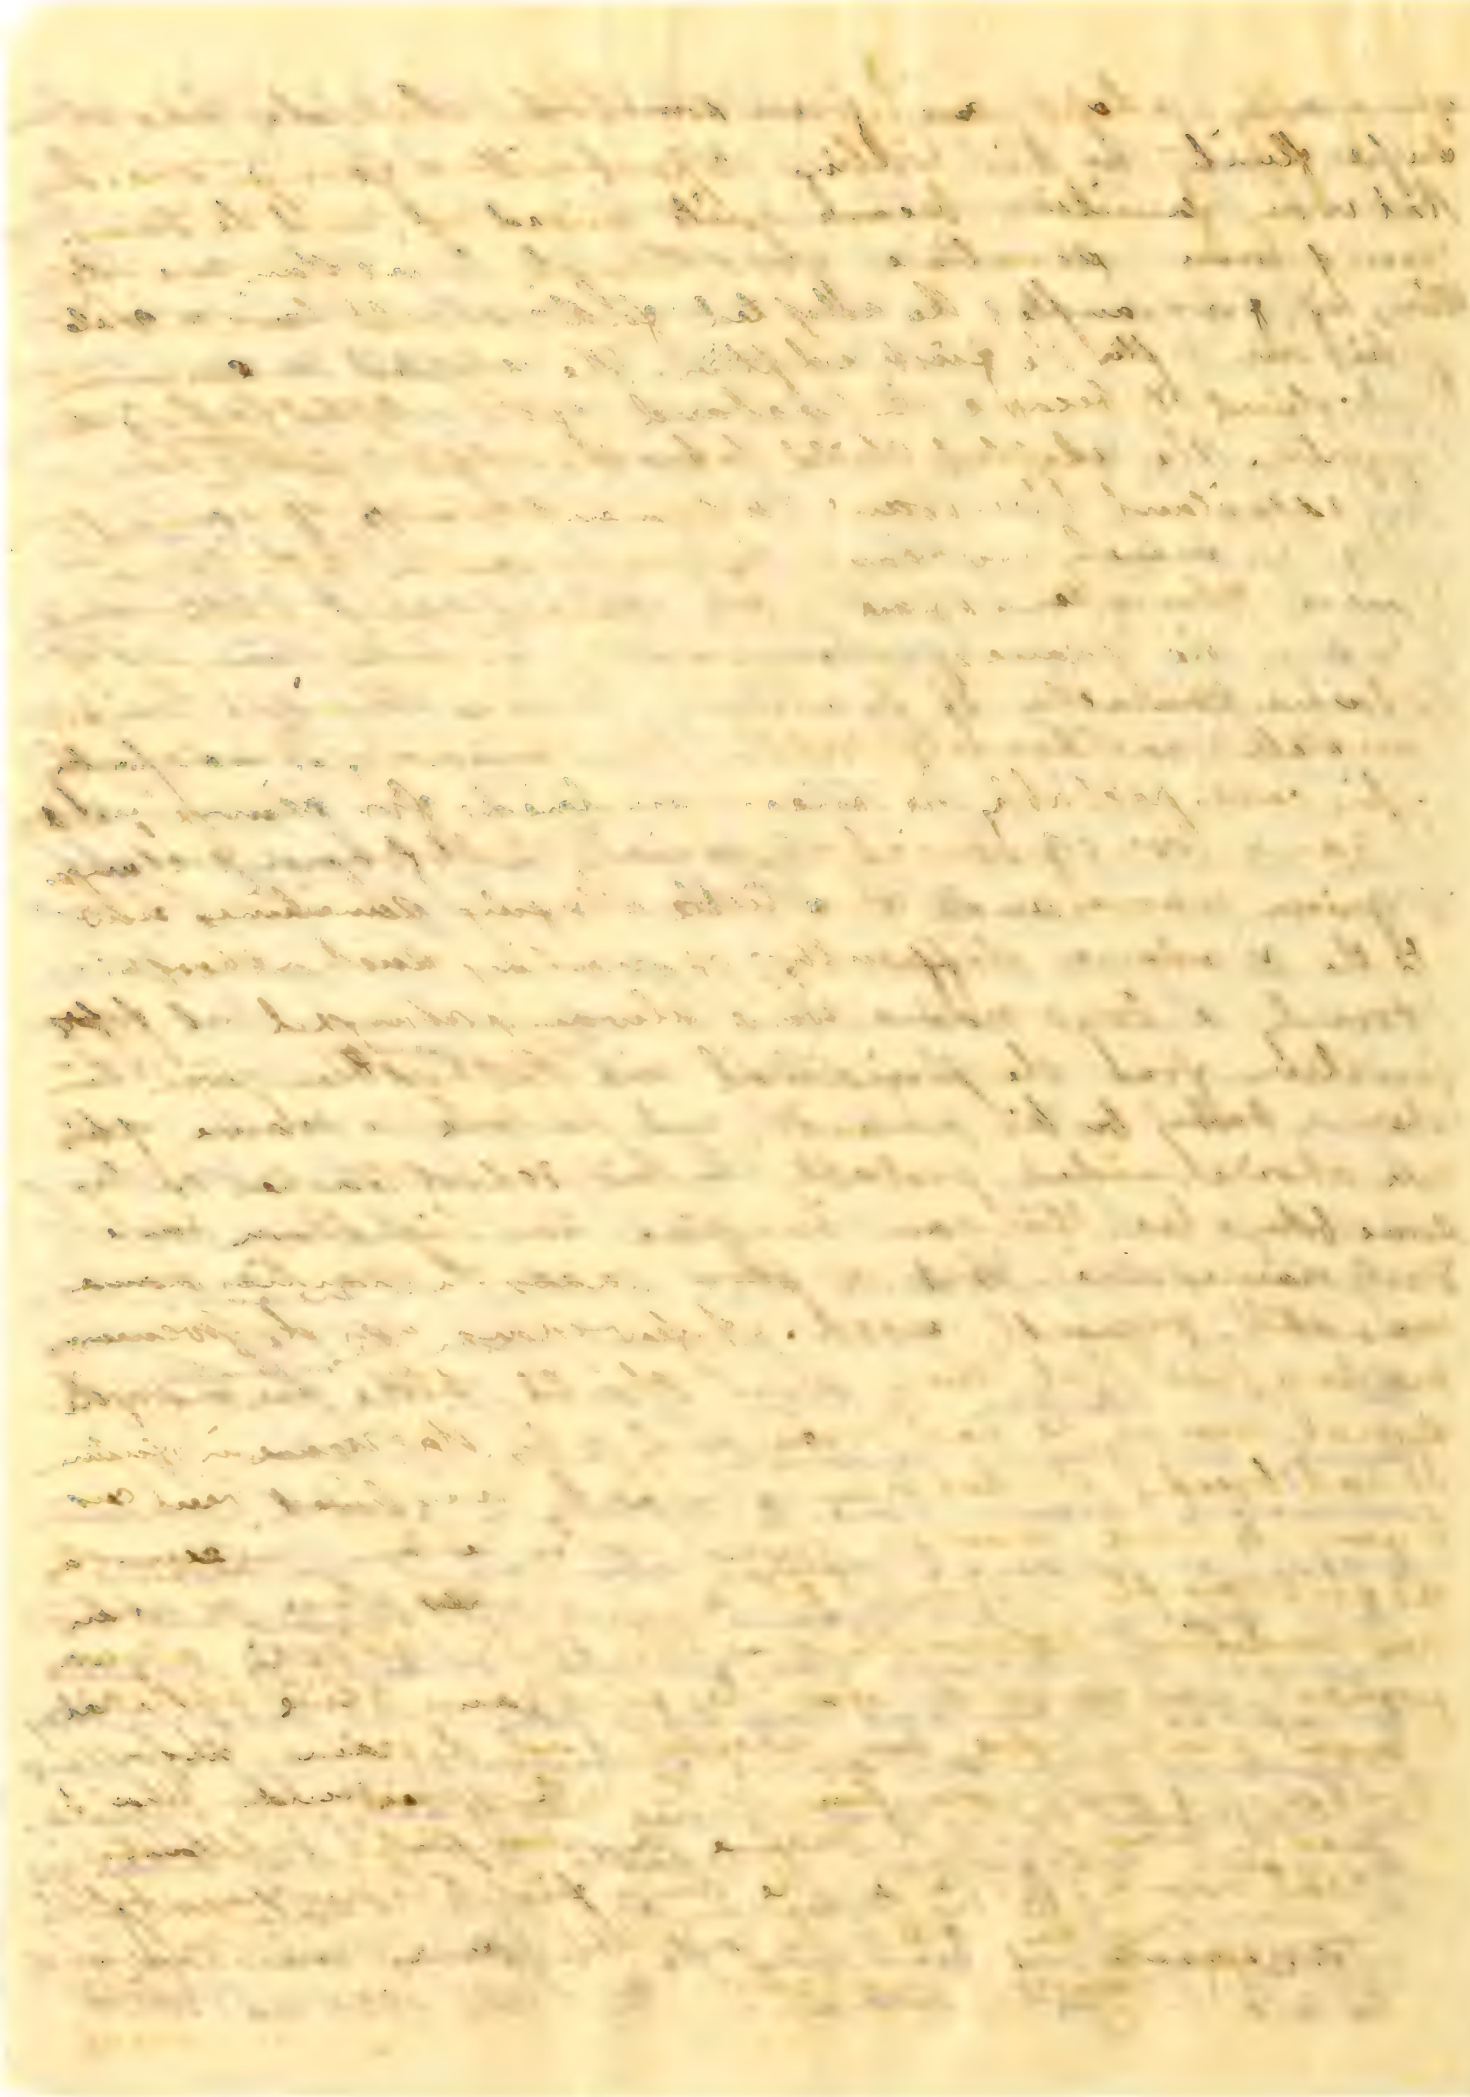
If he does, ask him to send me an extra copy or two, or one of Mrs. [illegible]

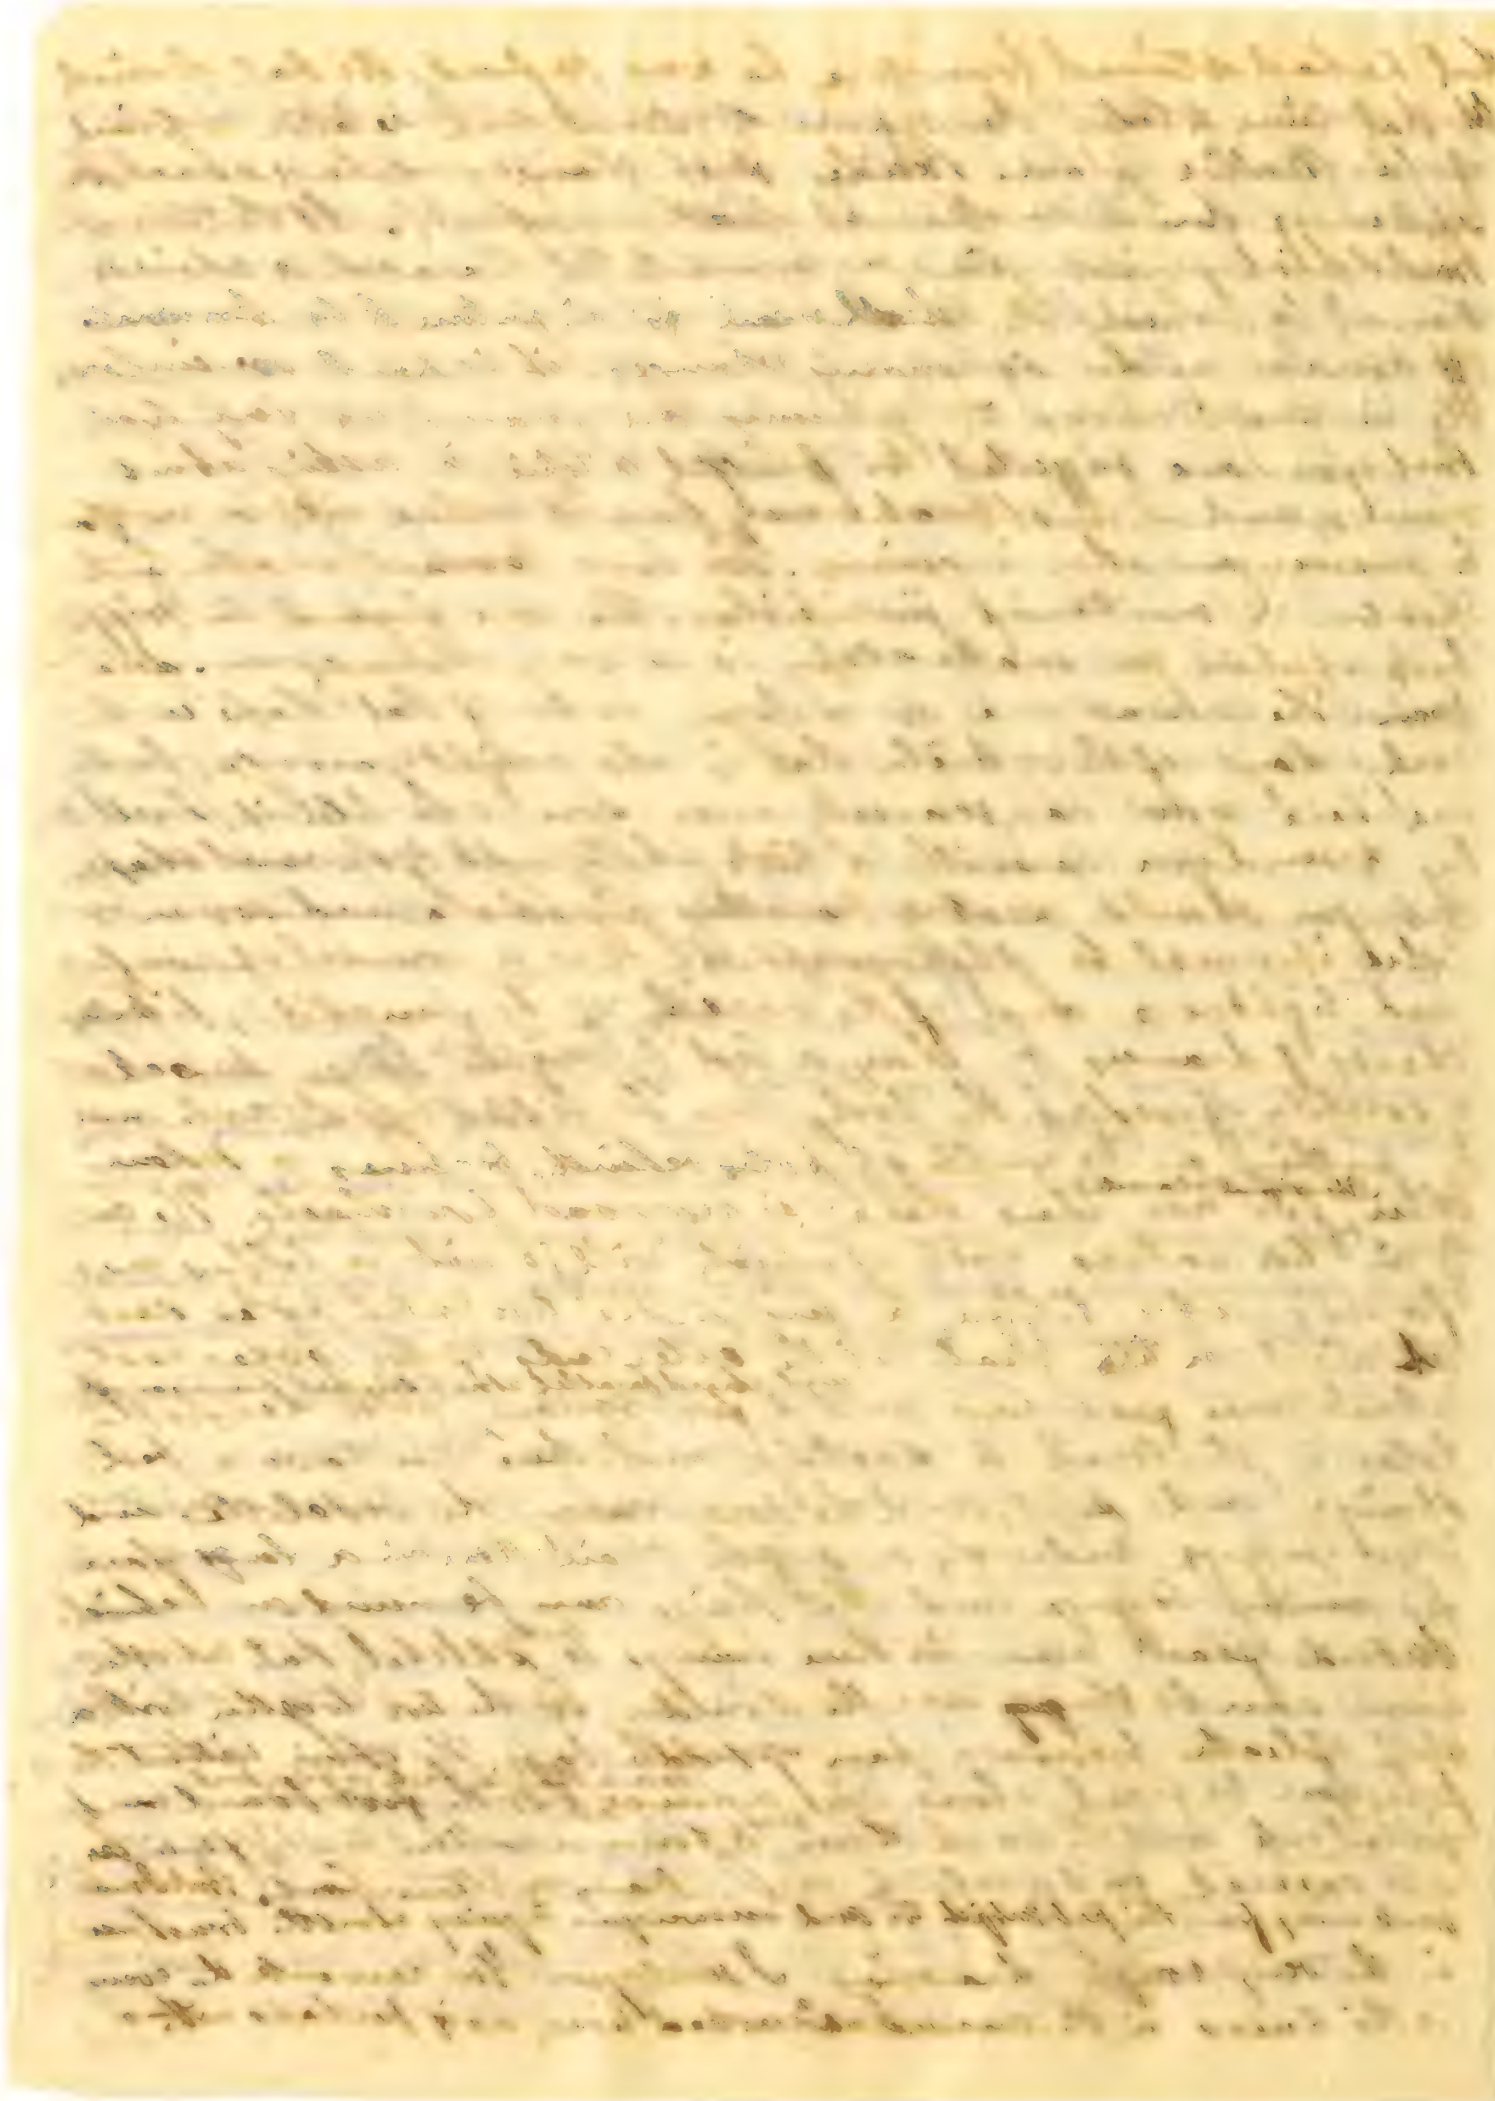


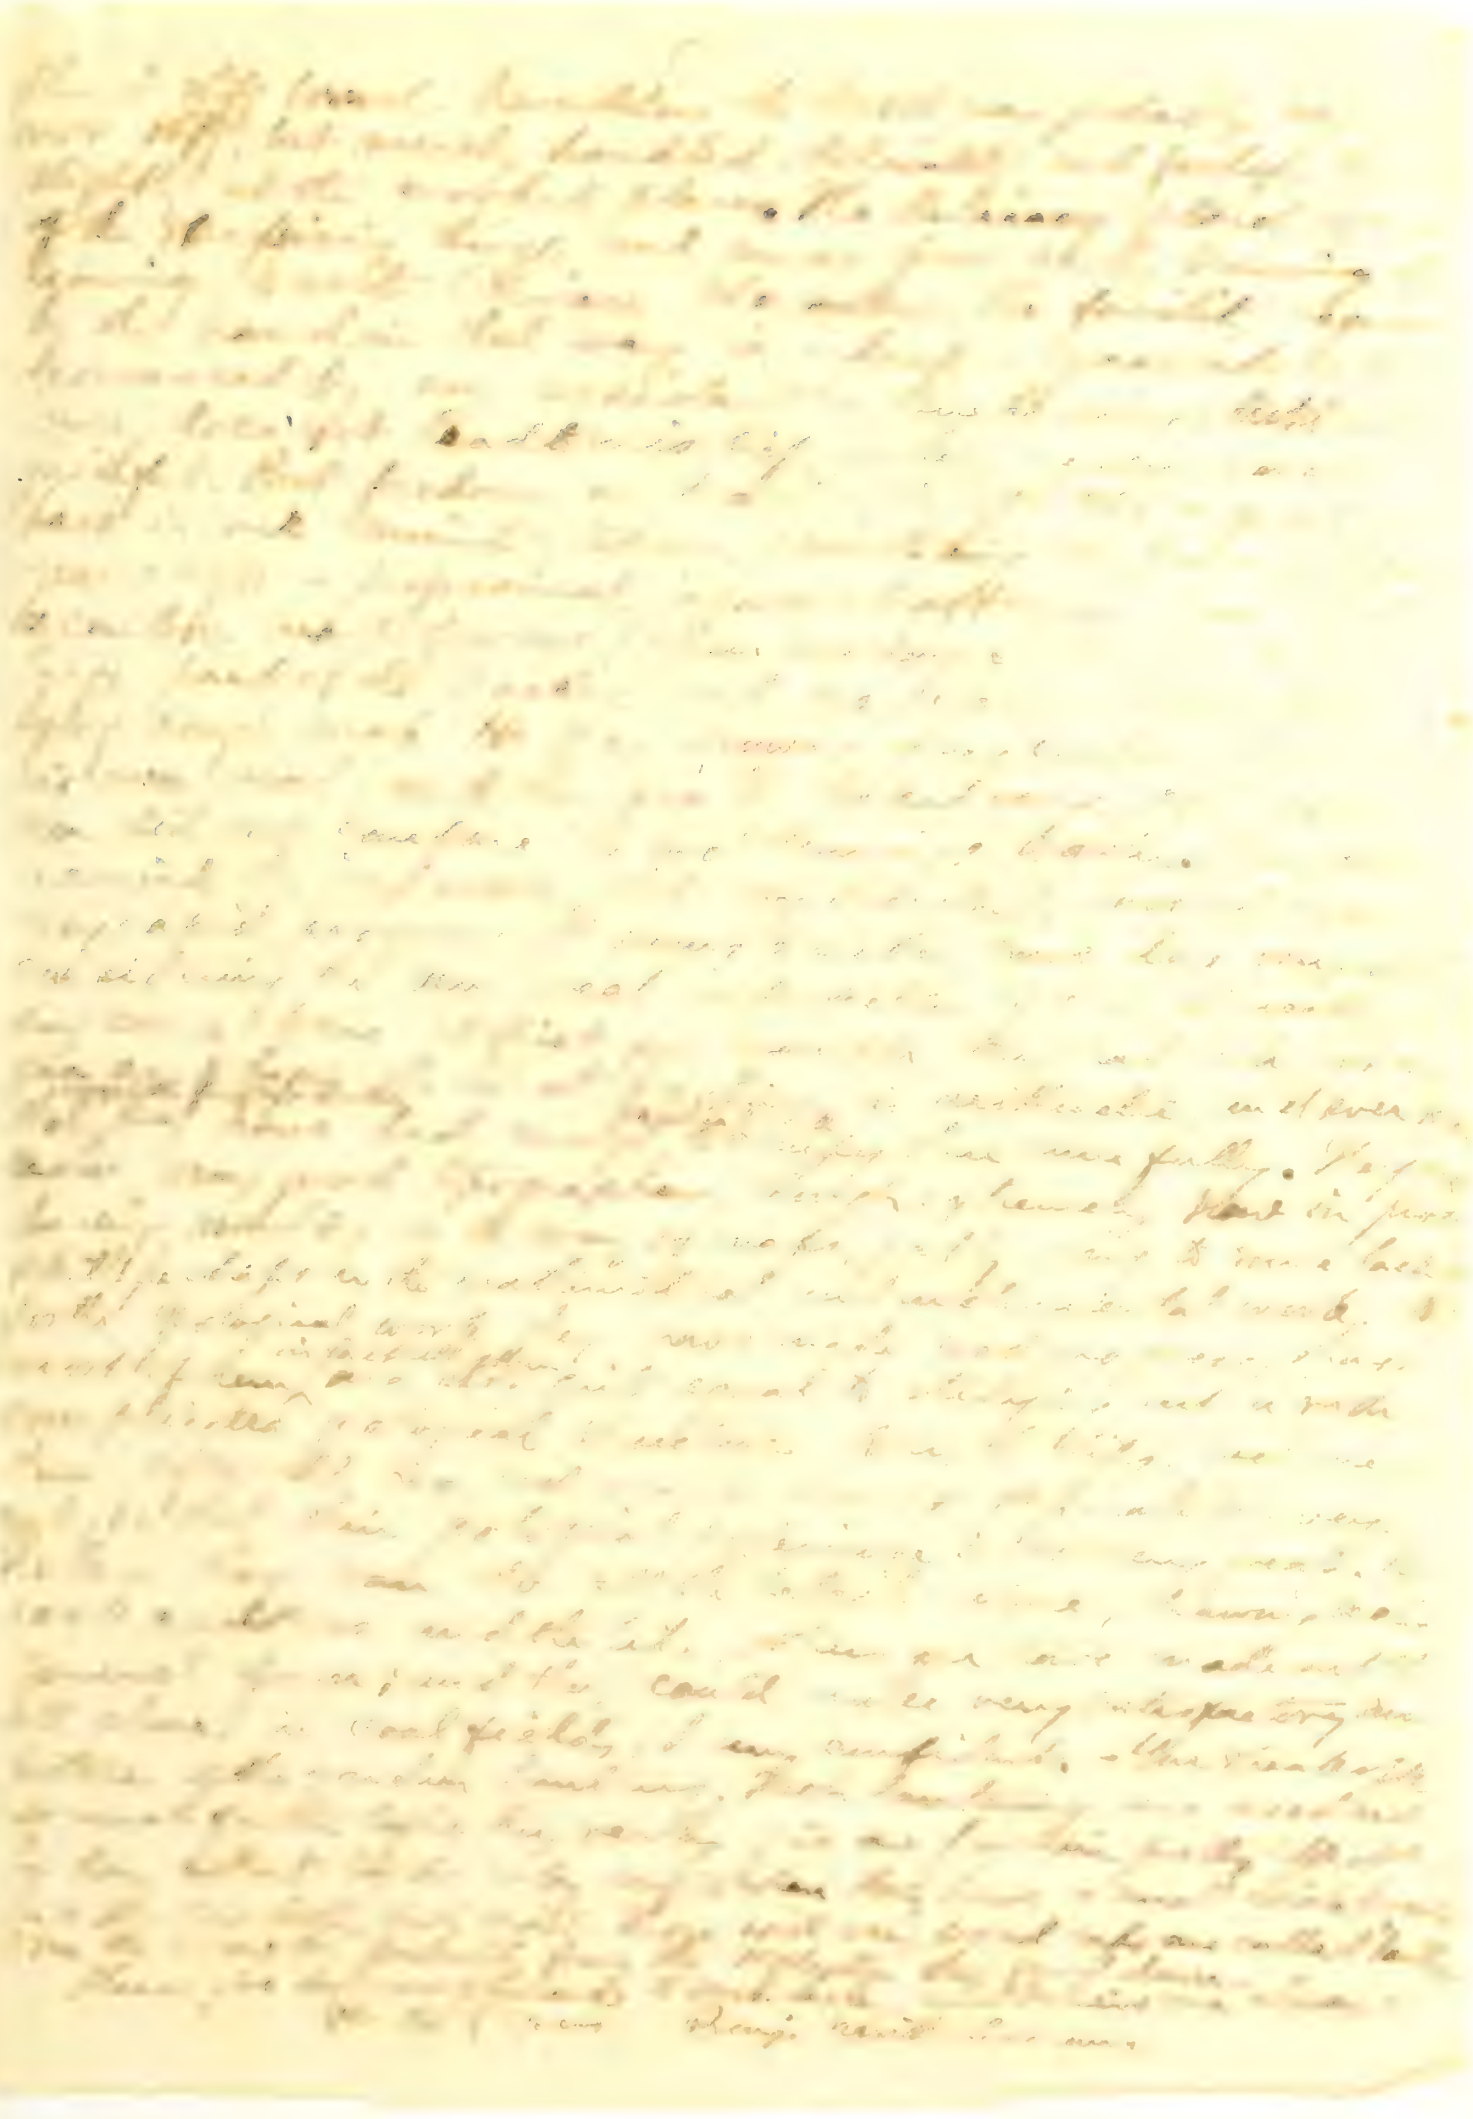


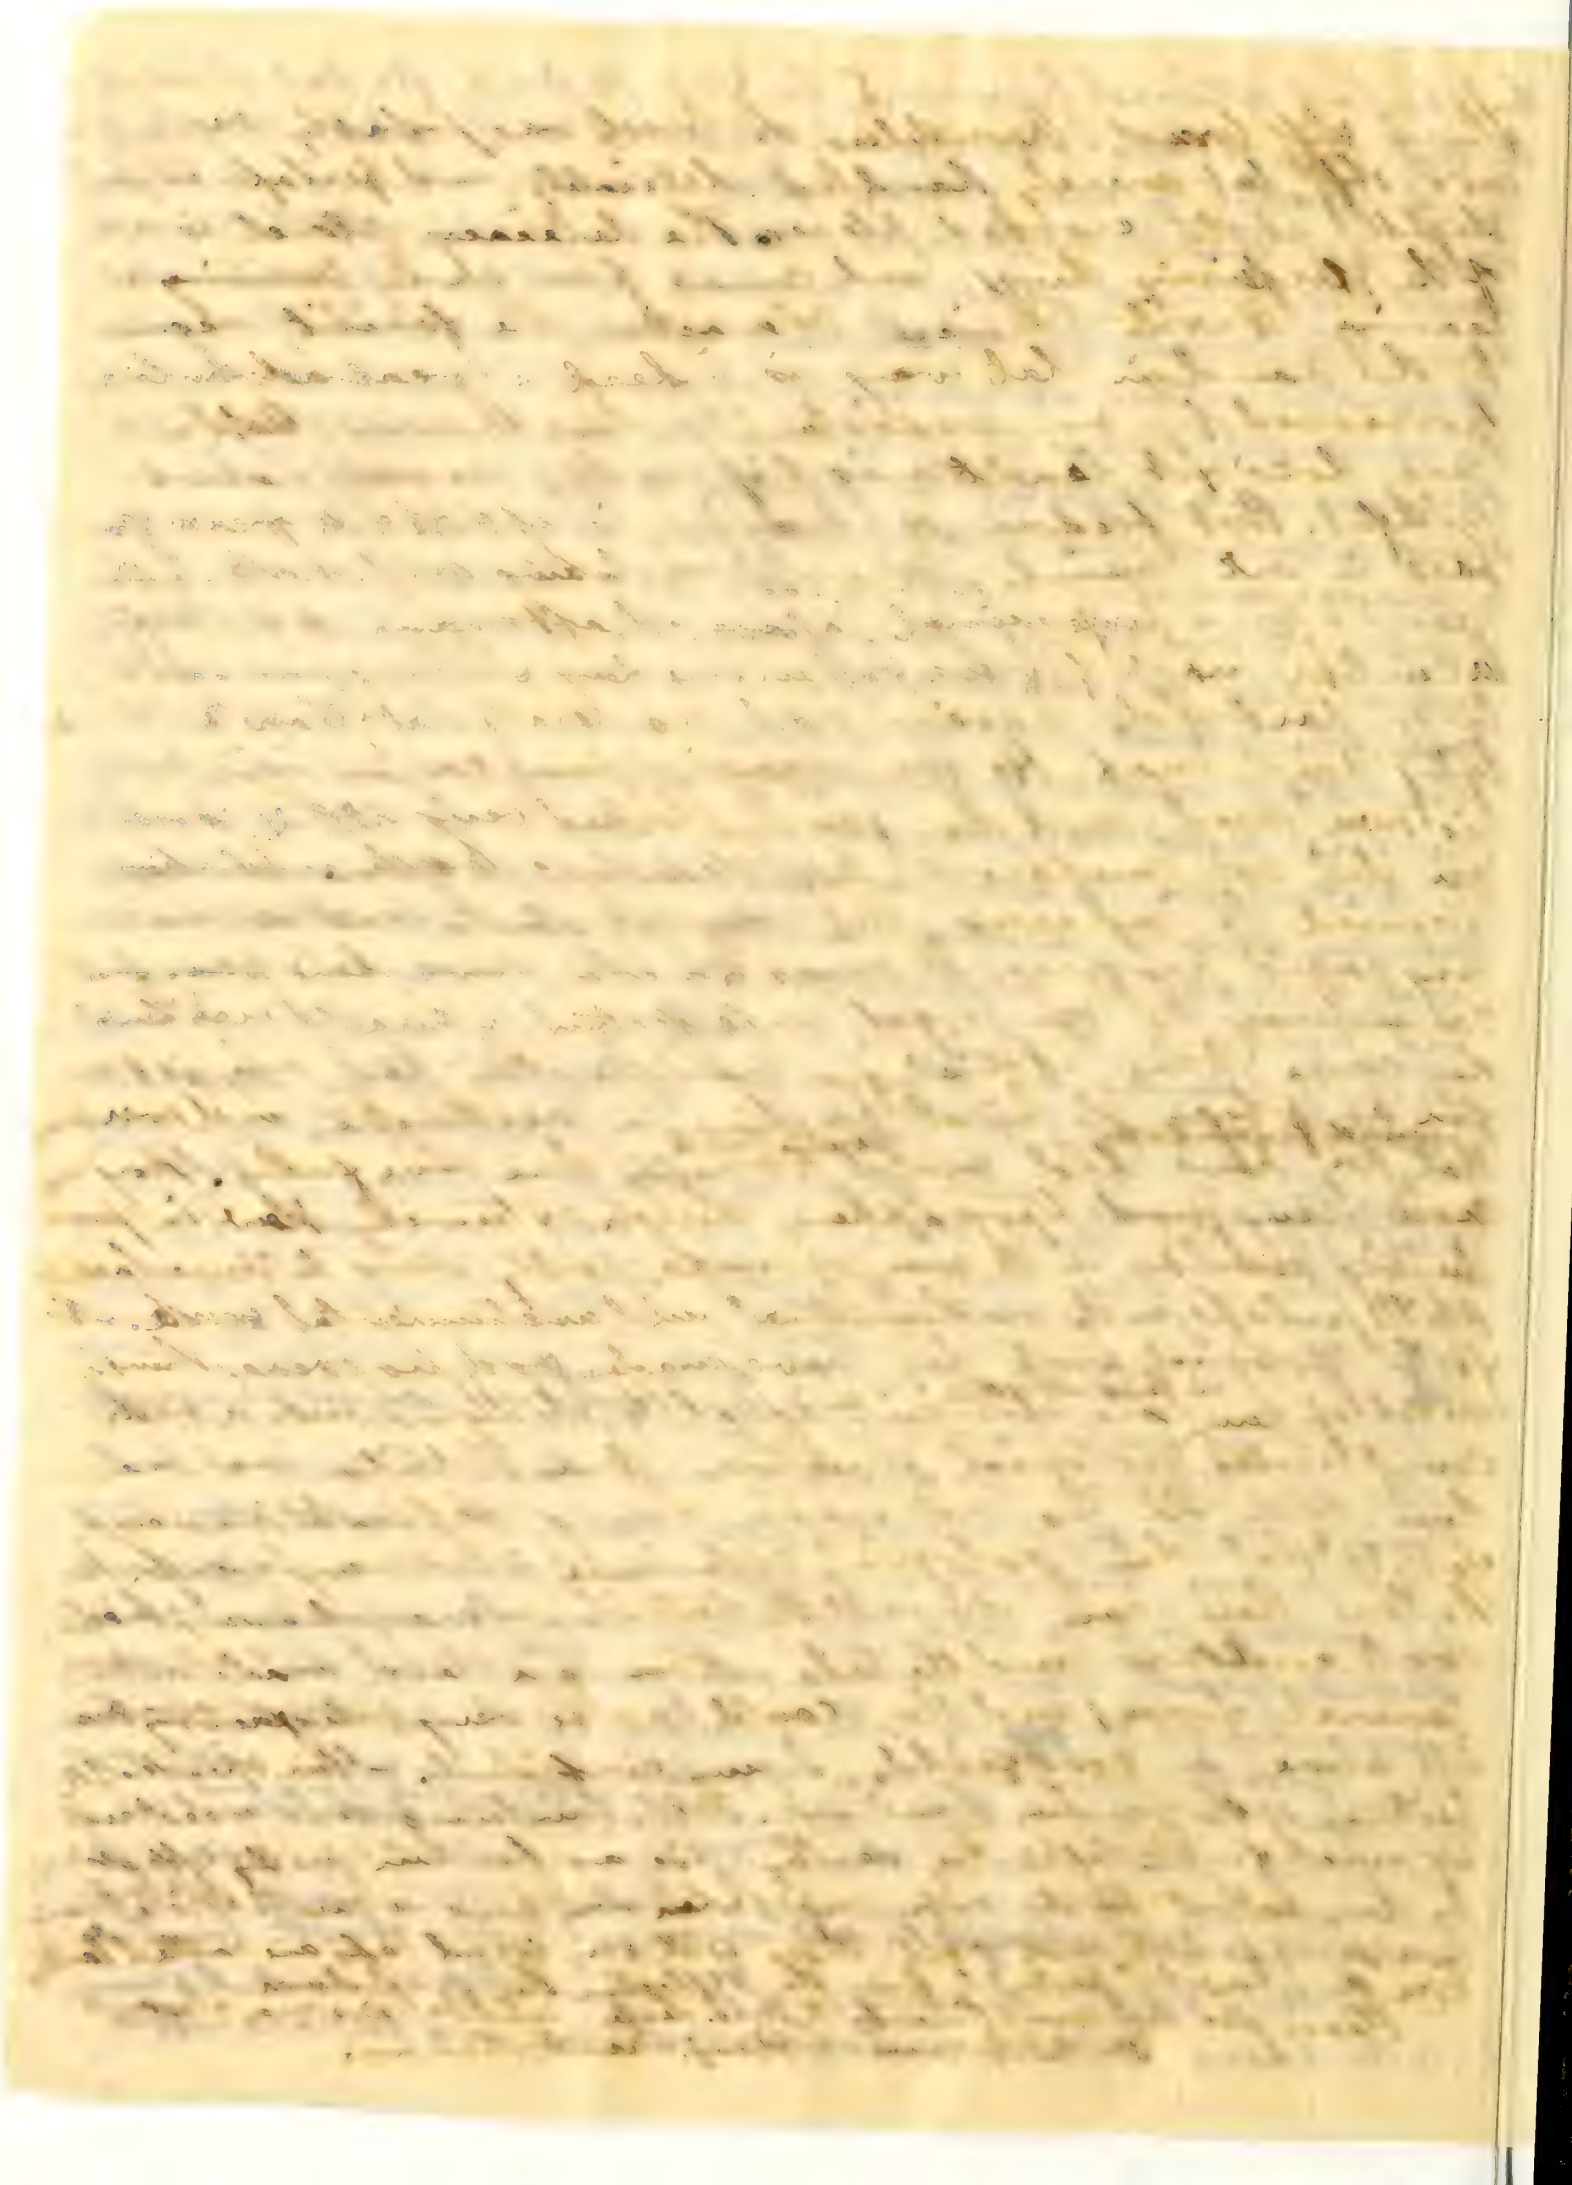


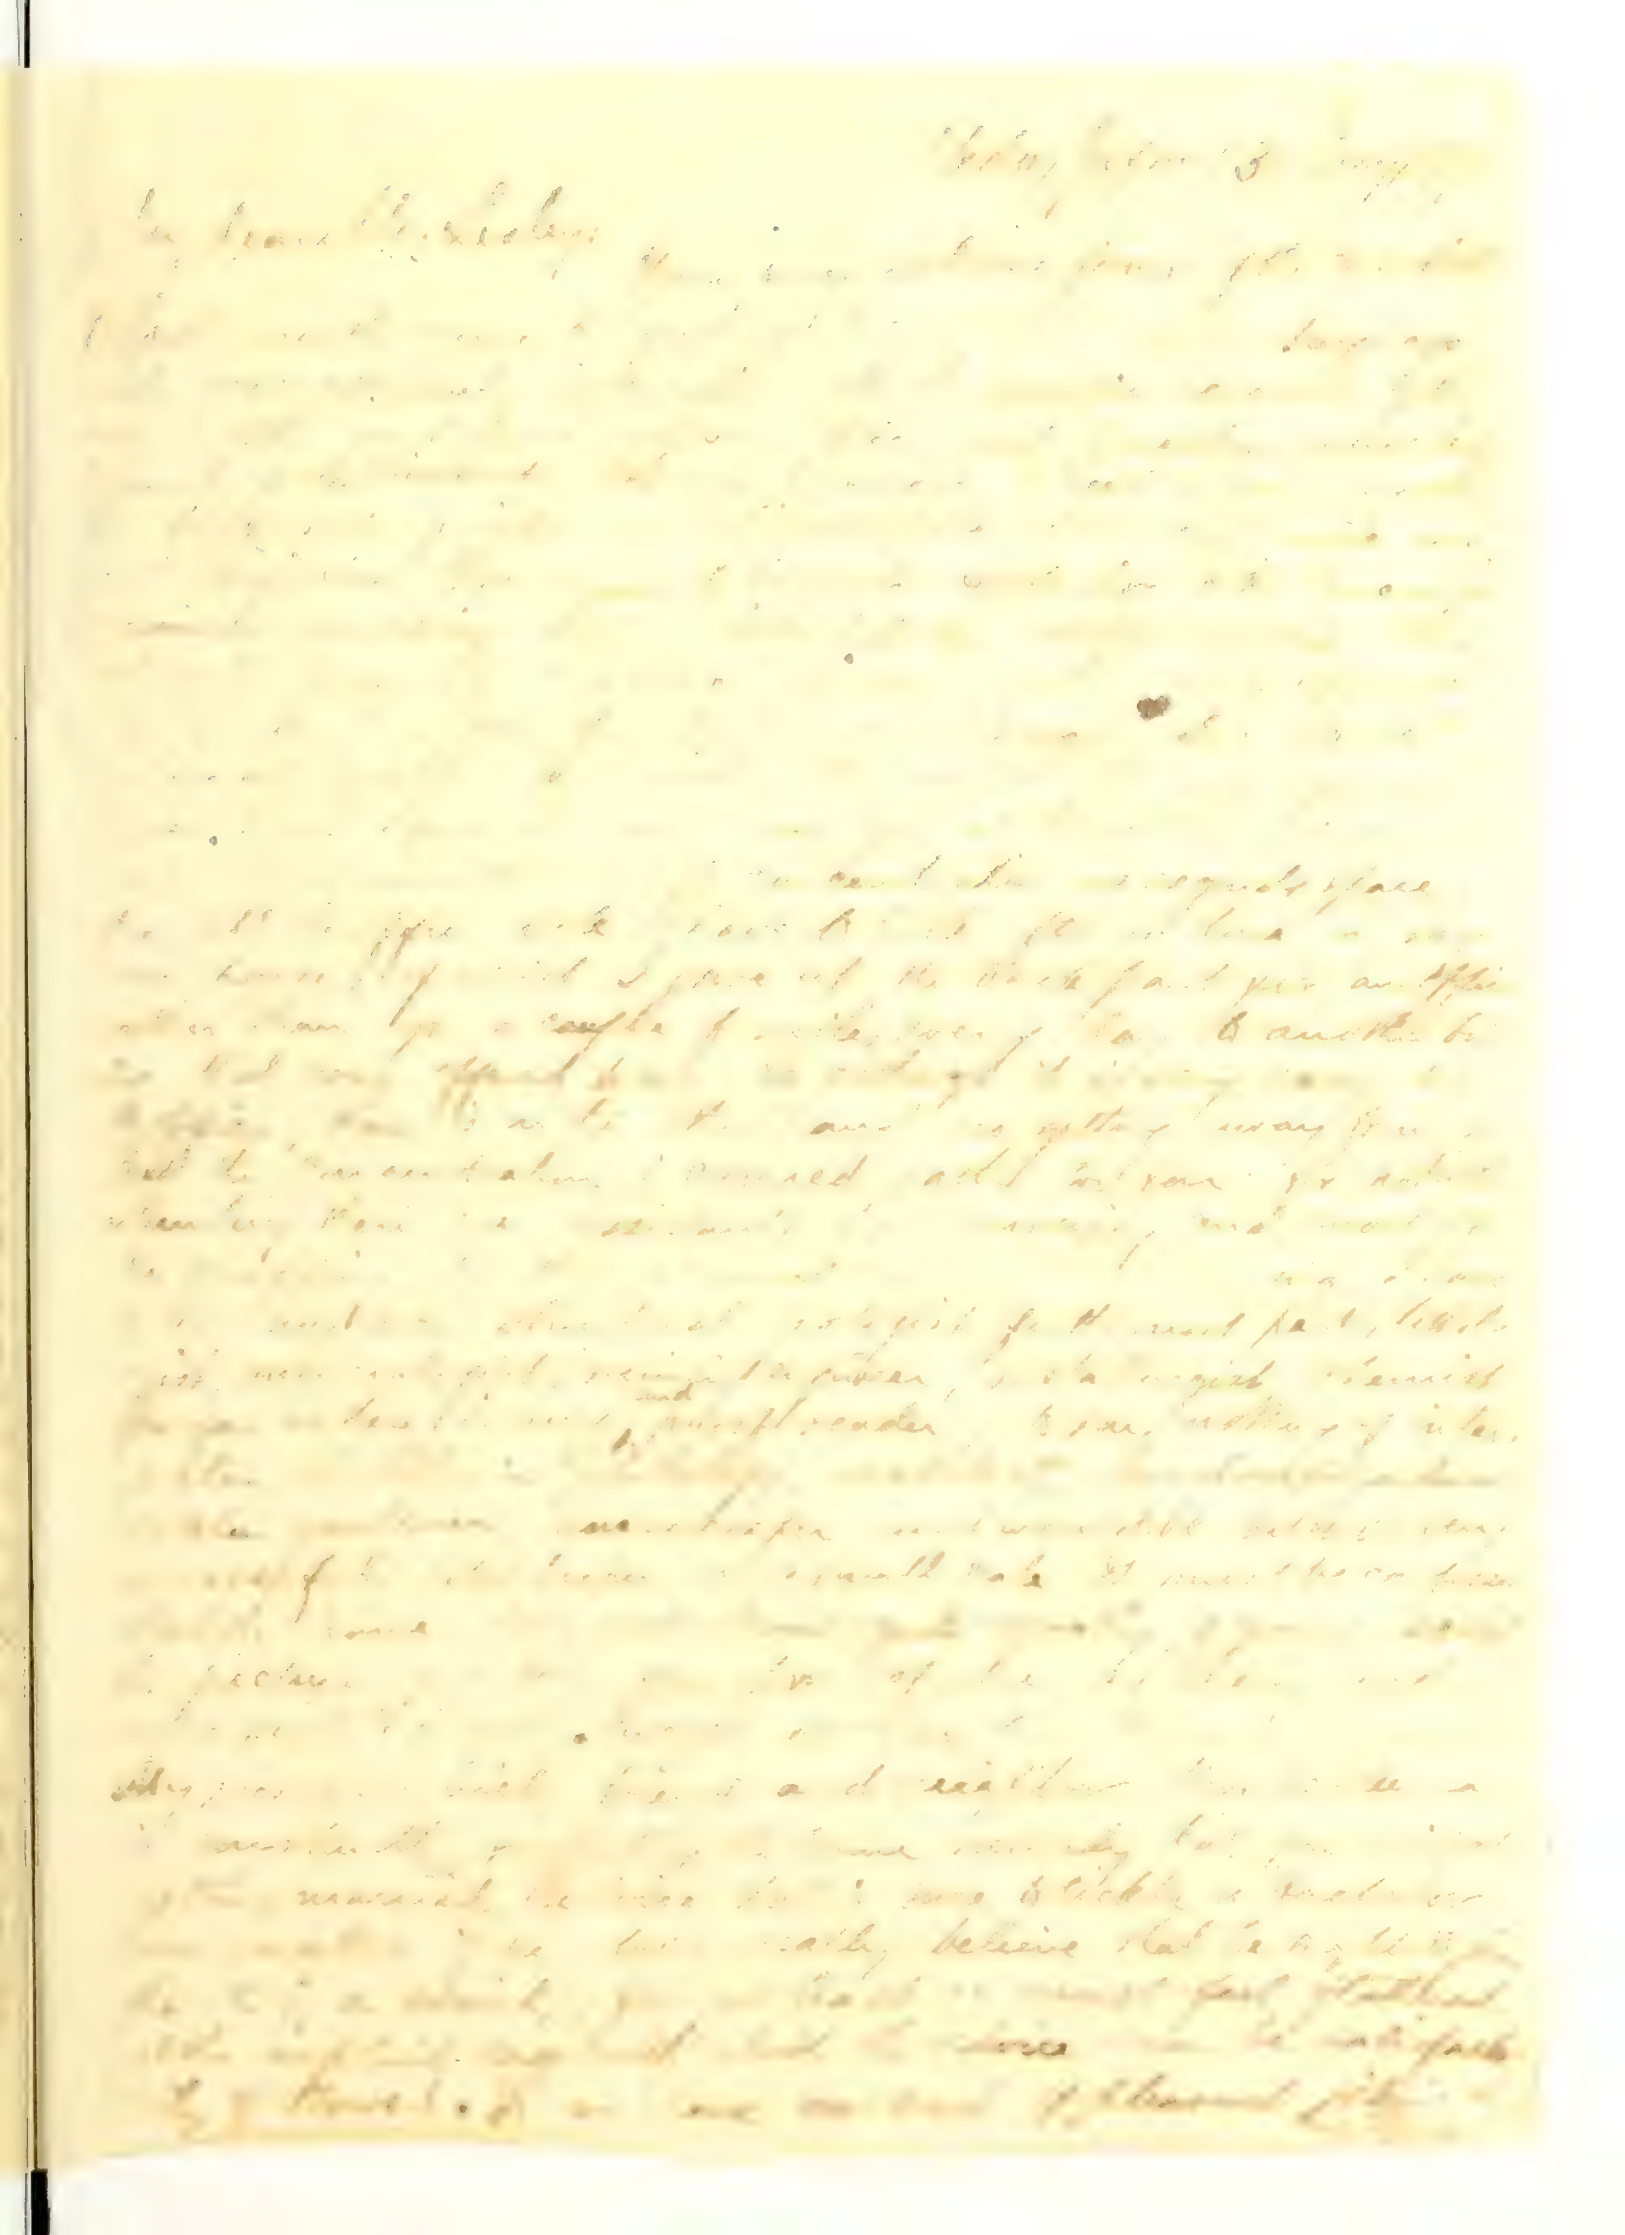


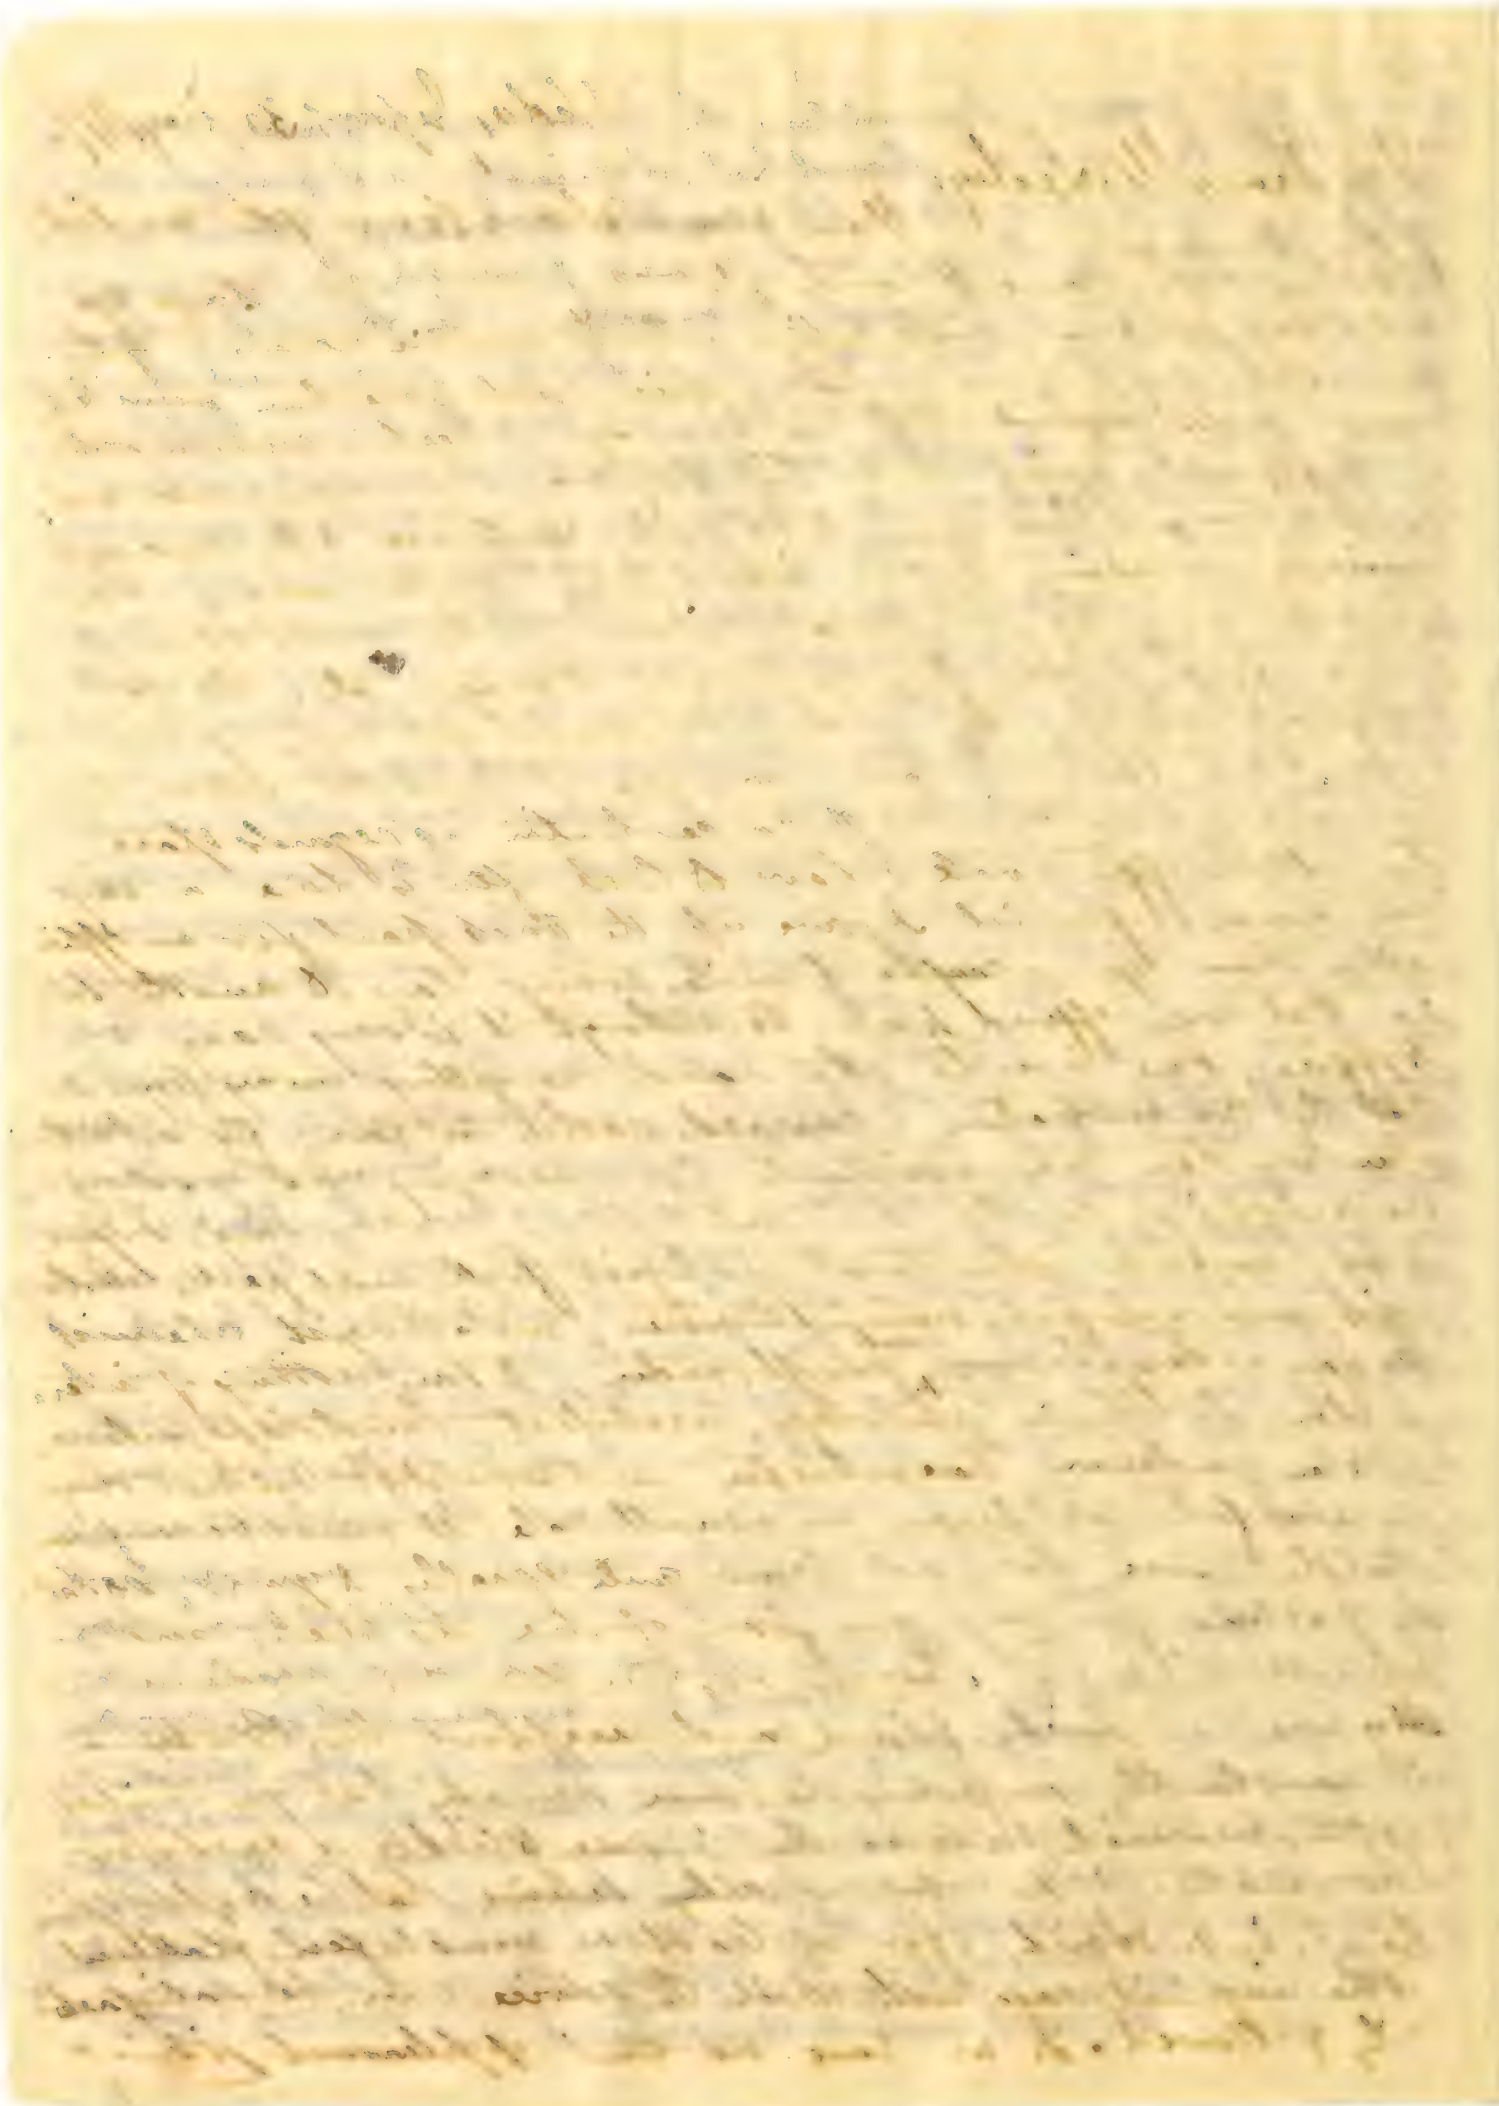


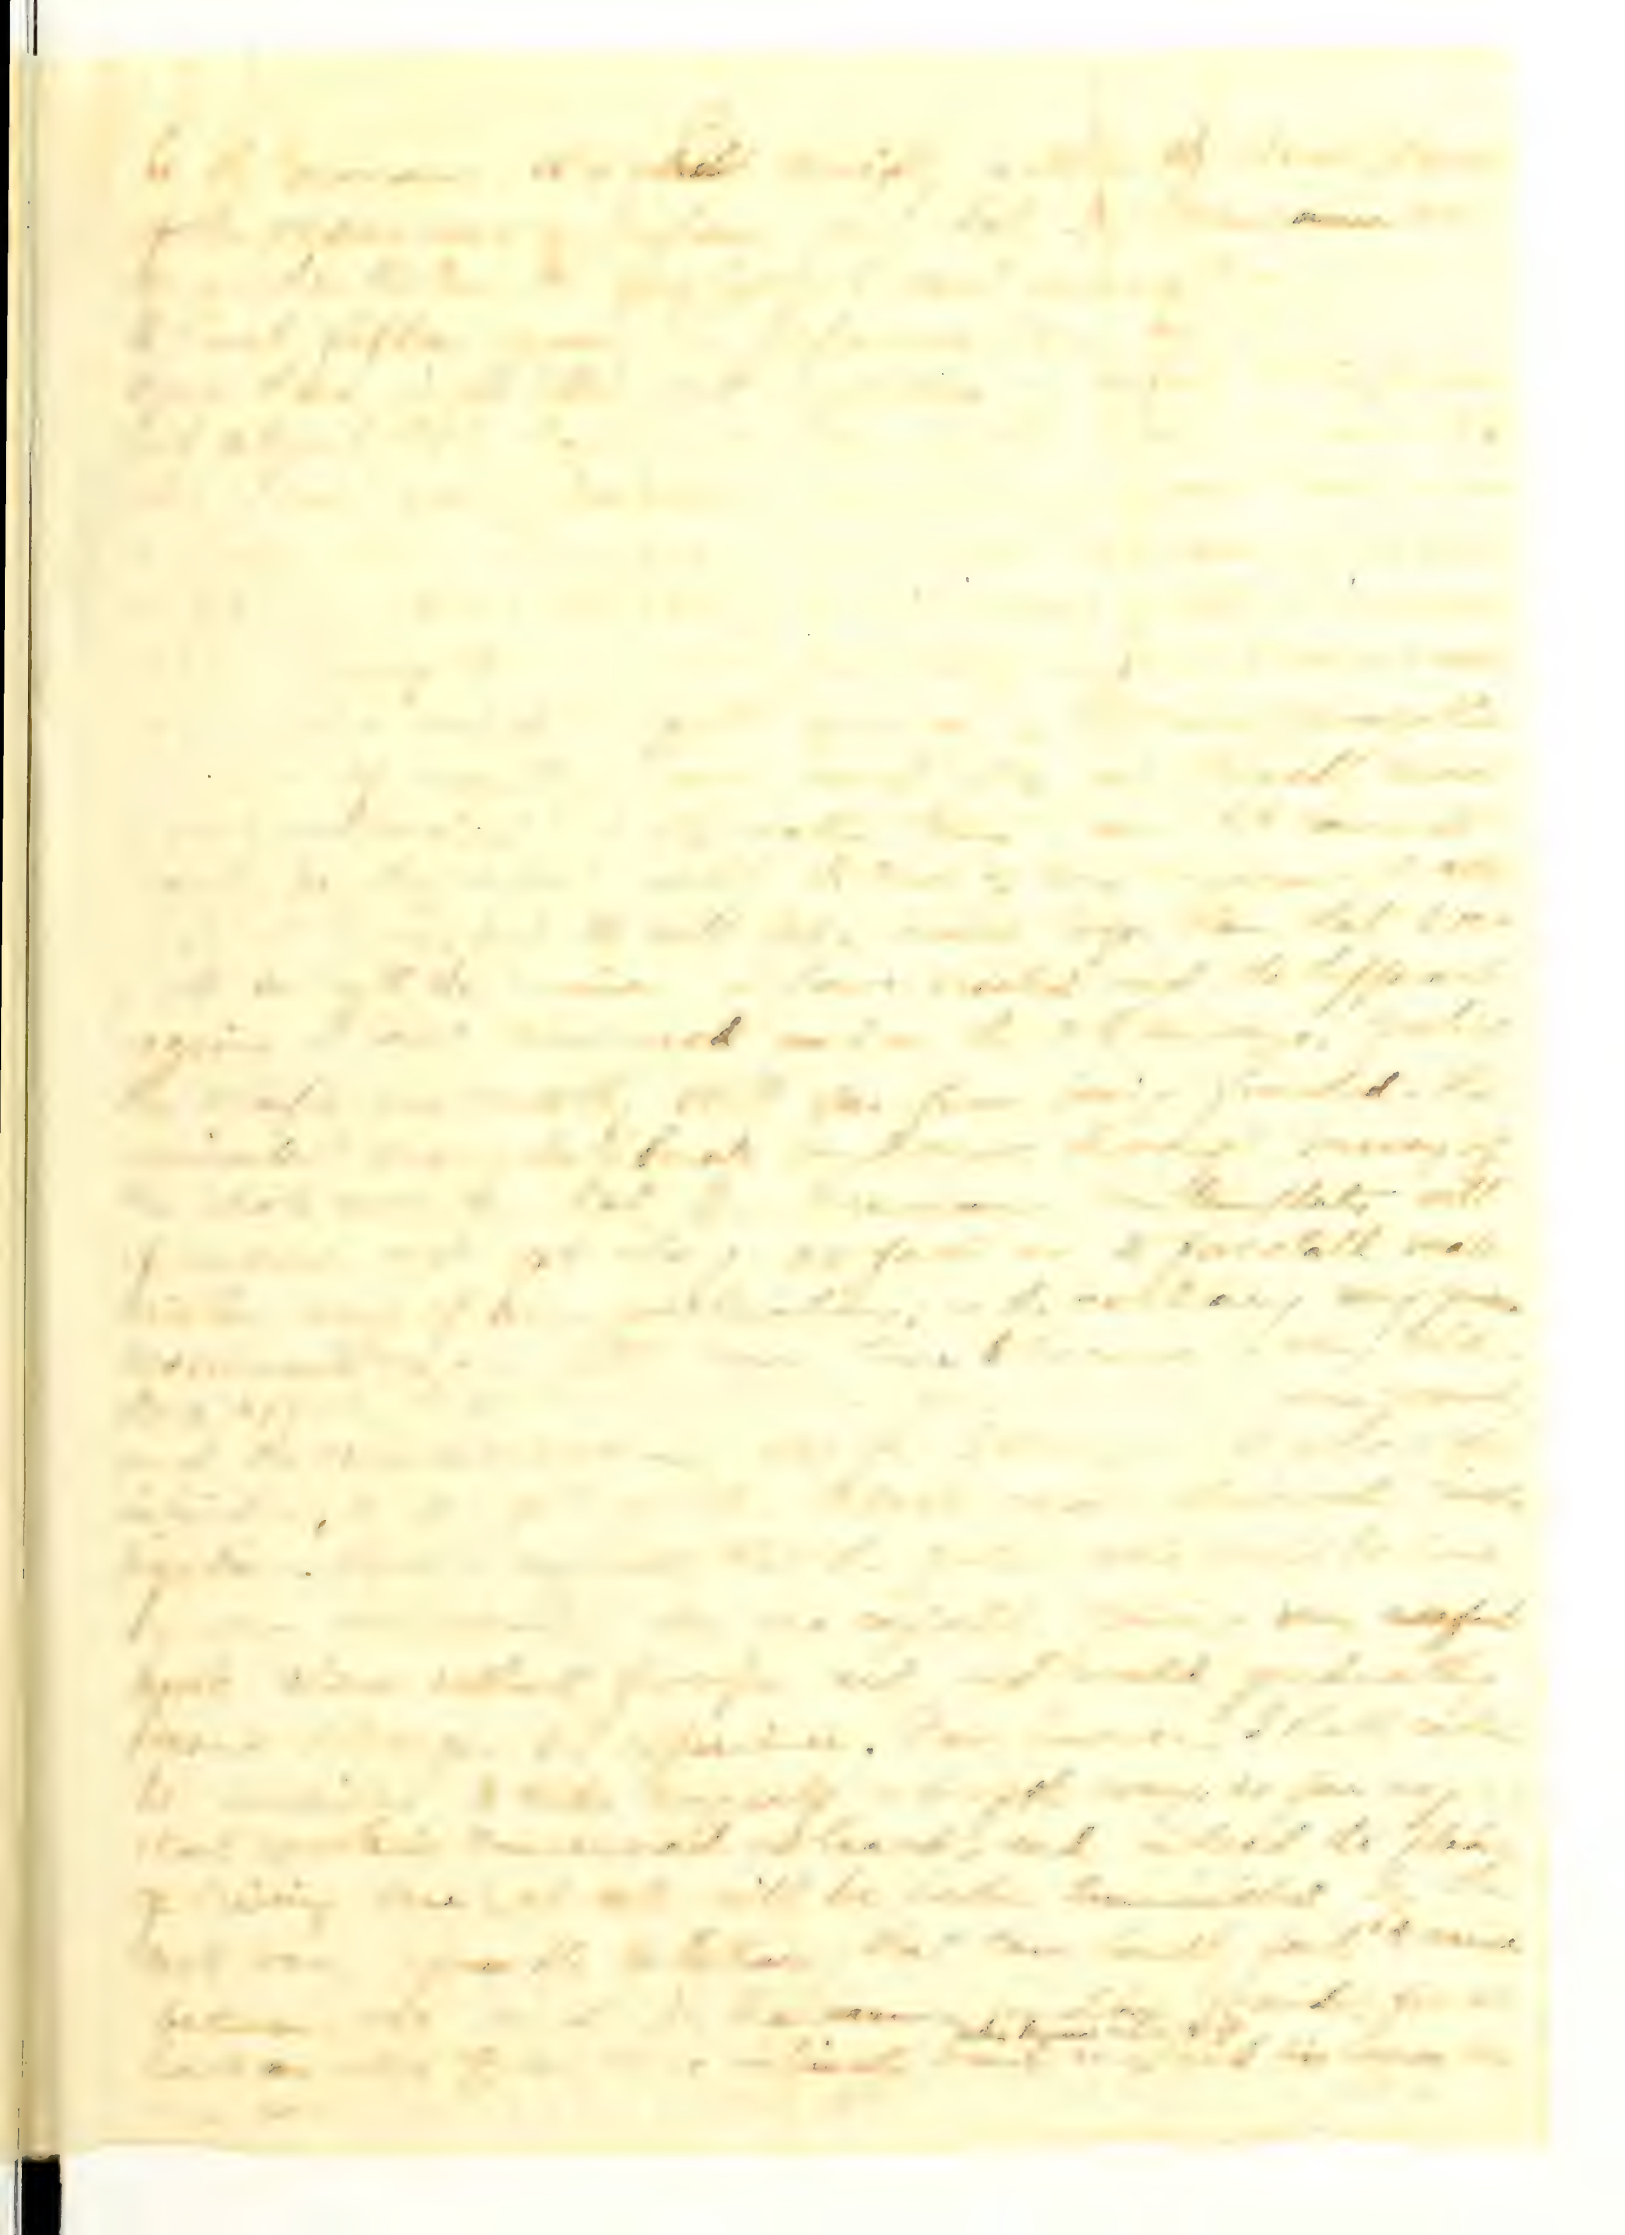


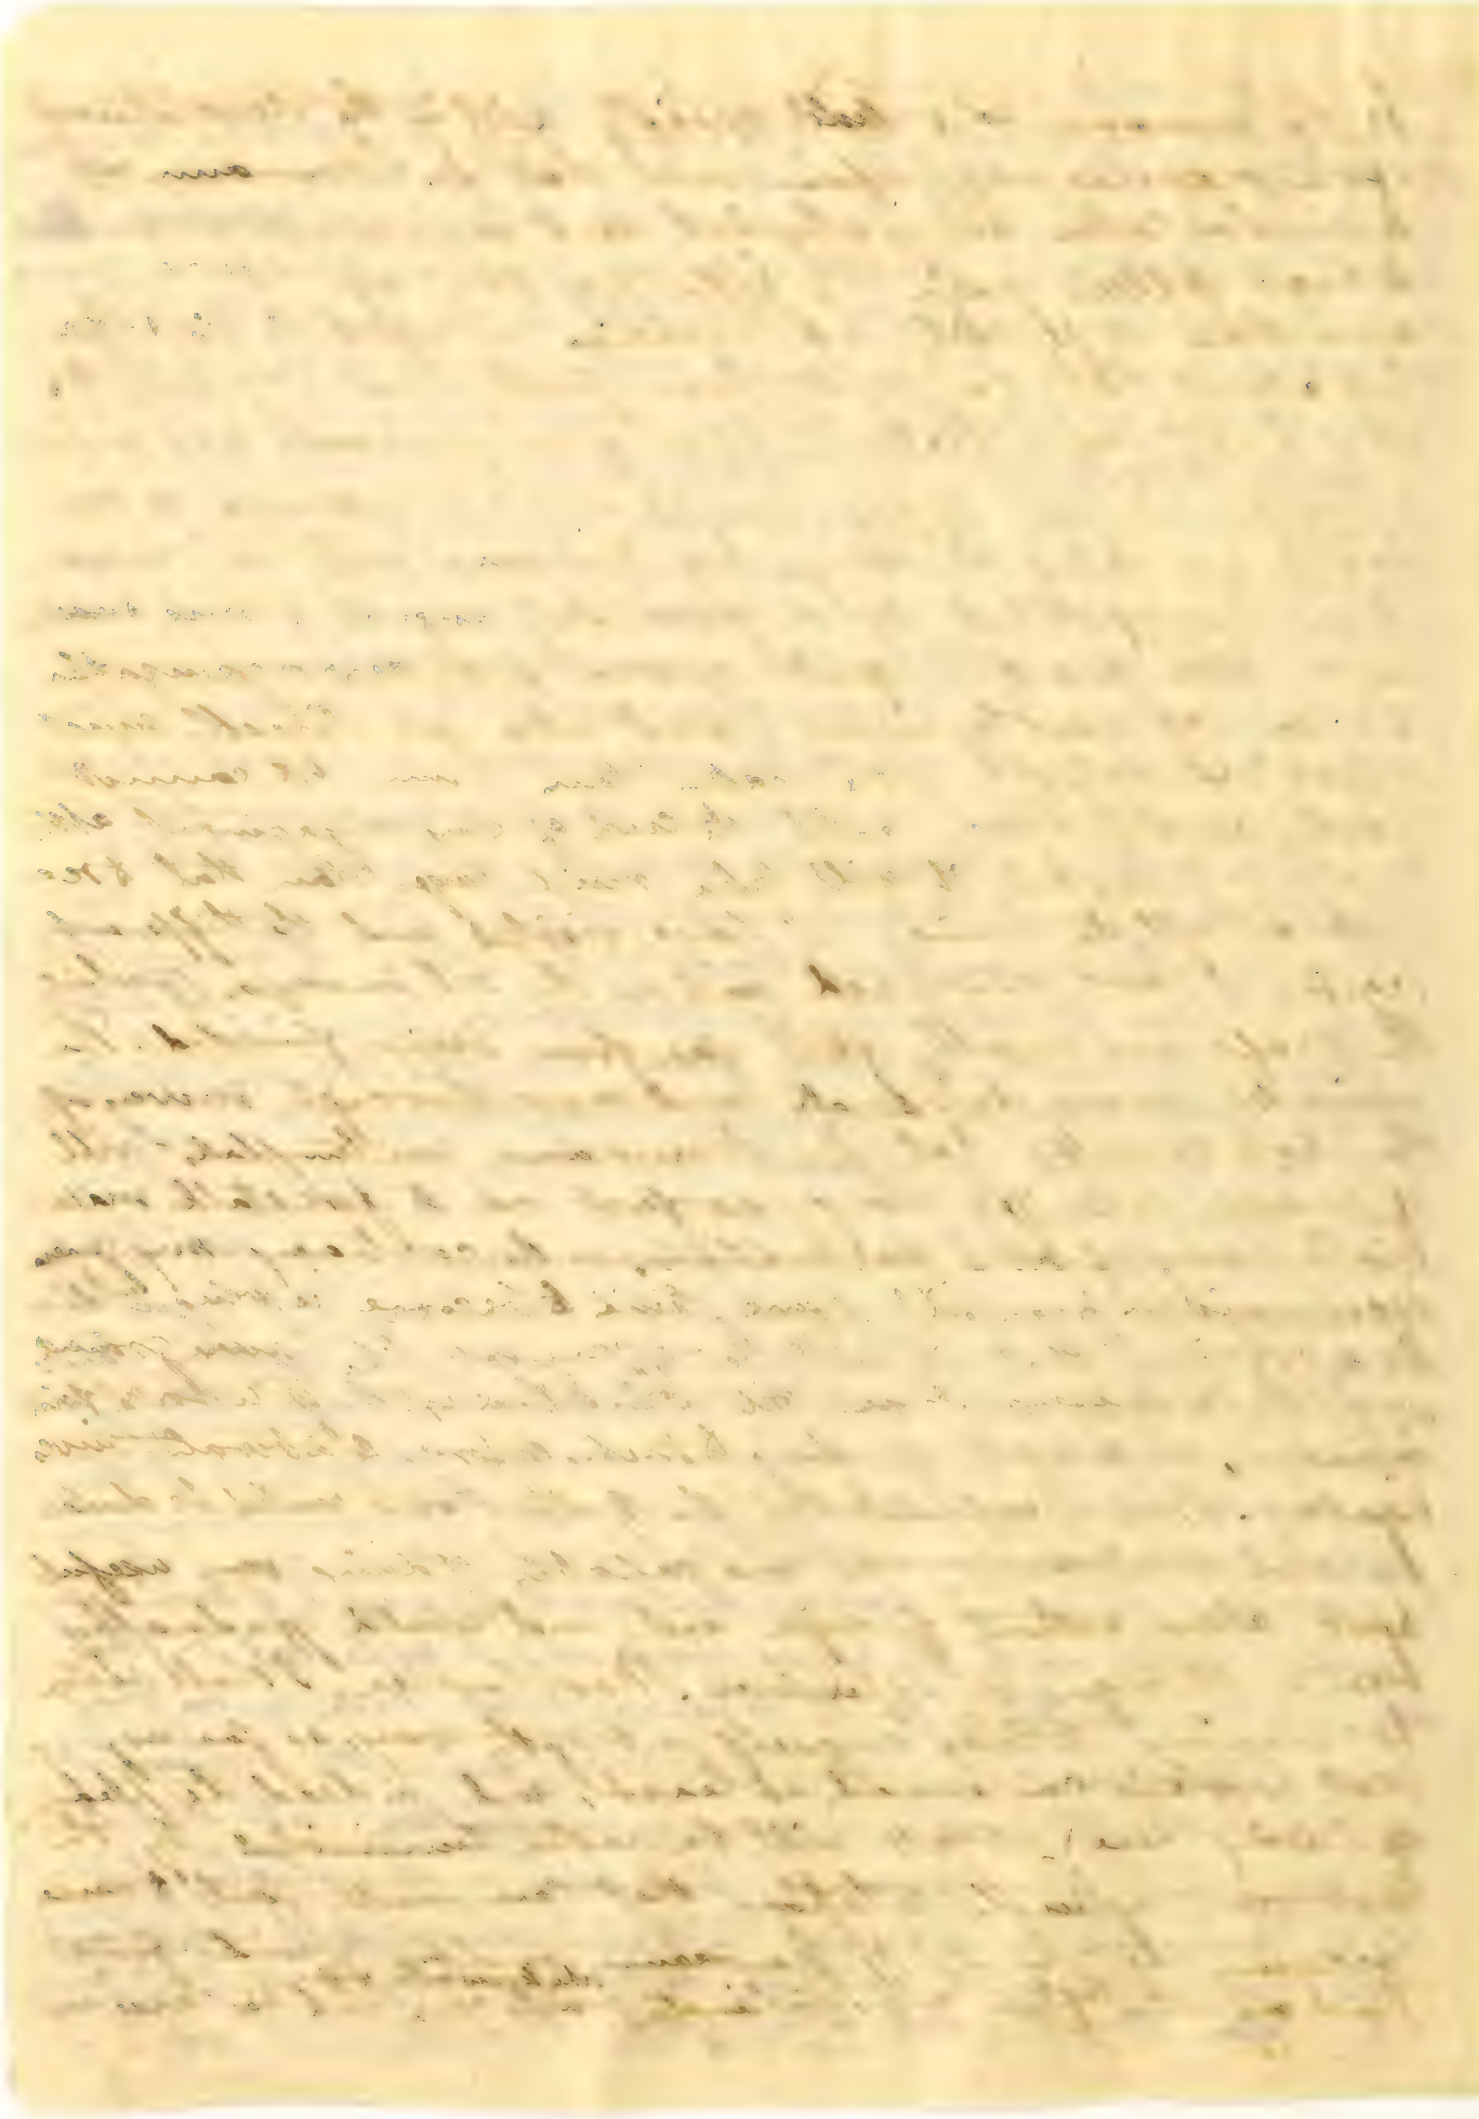


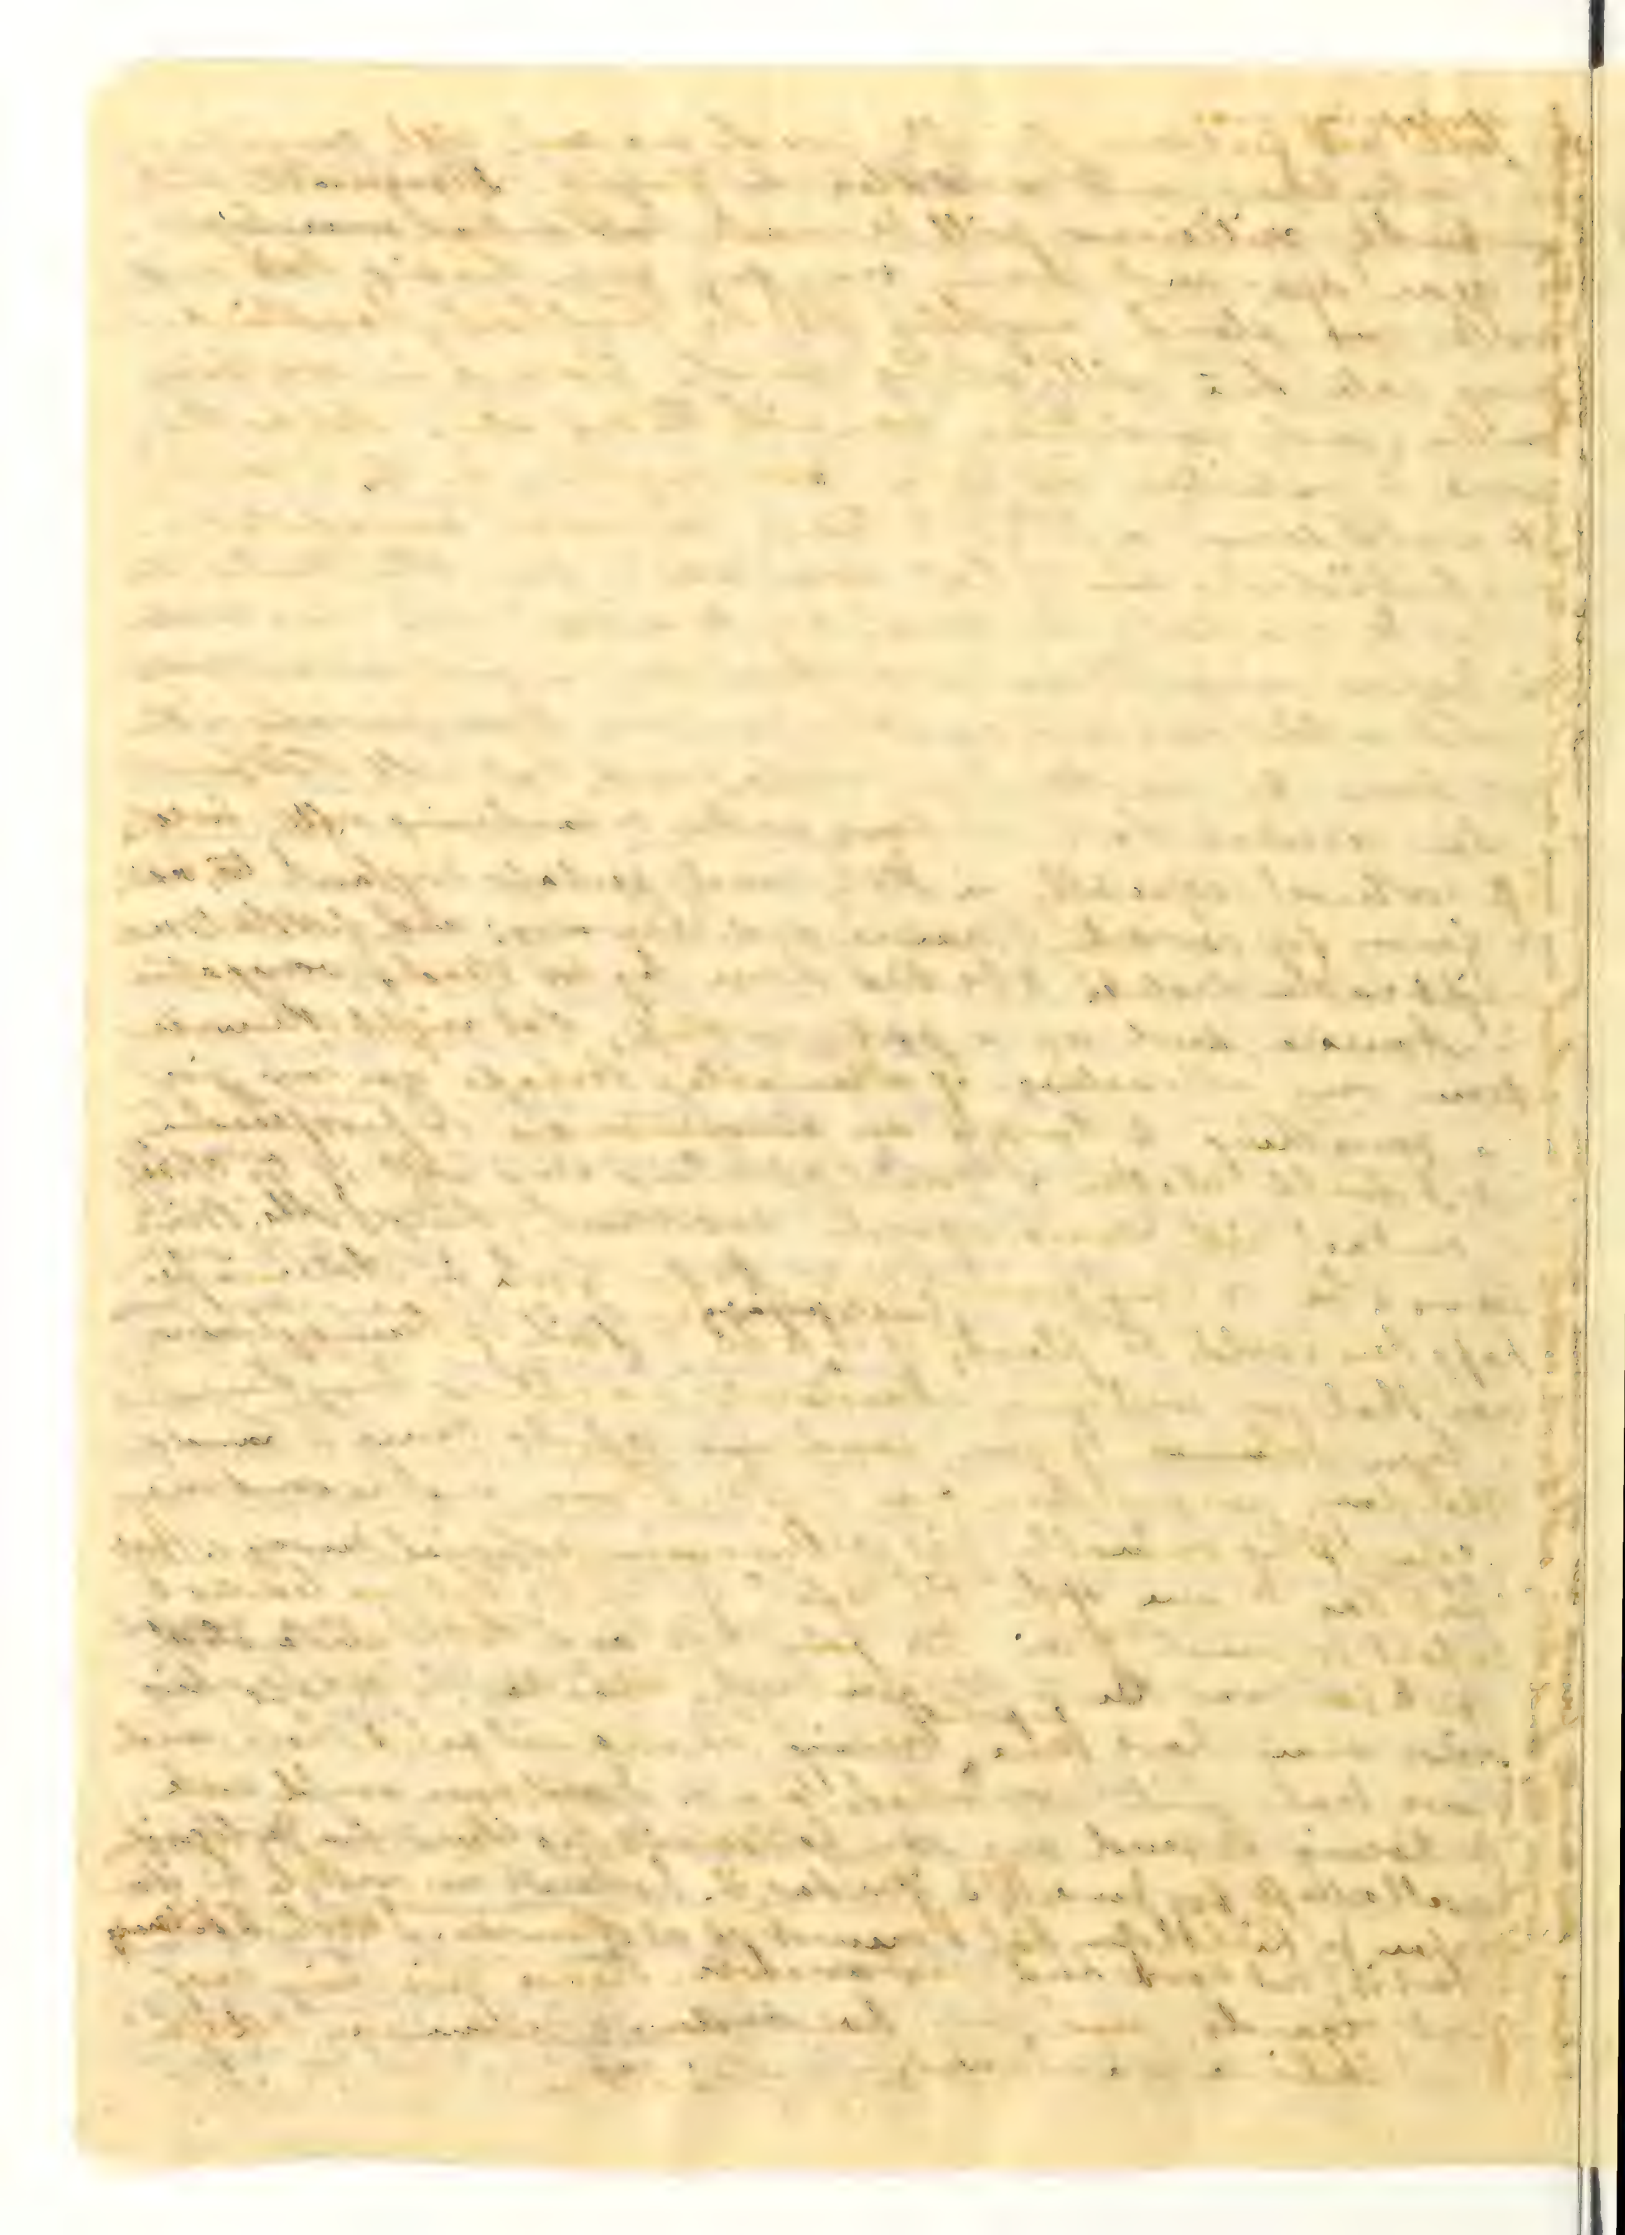


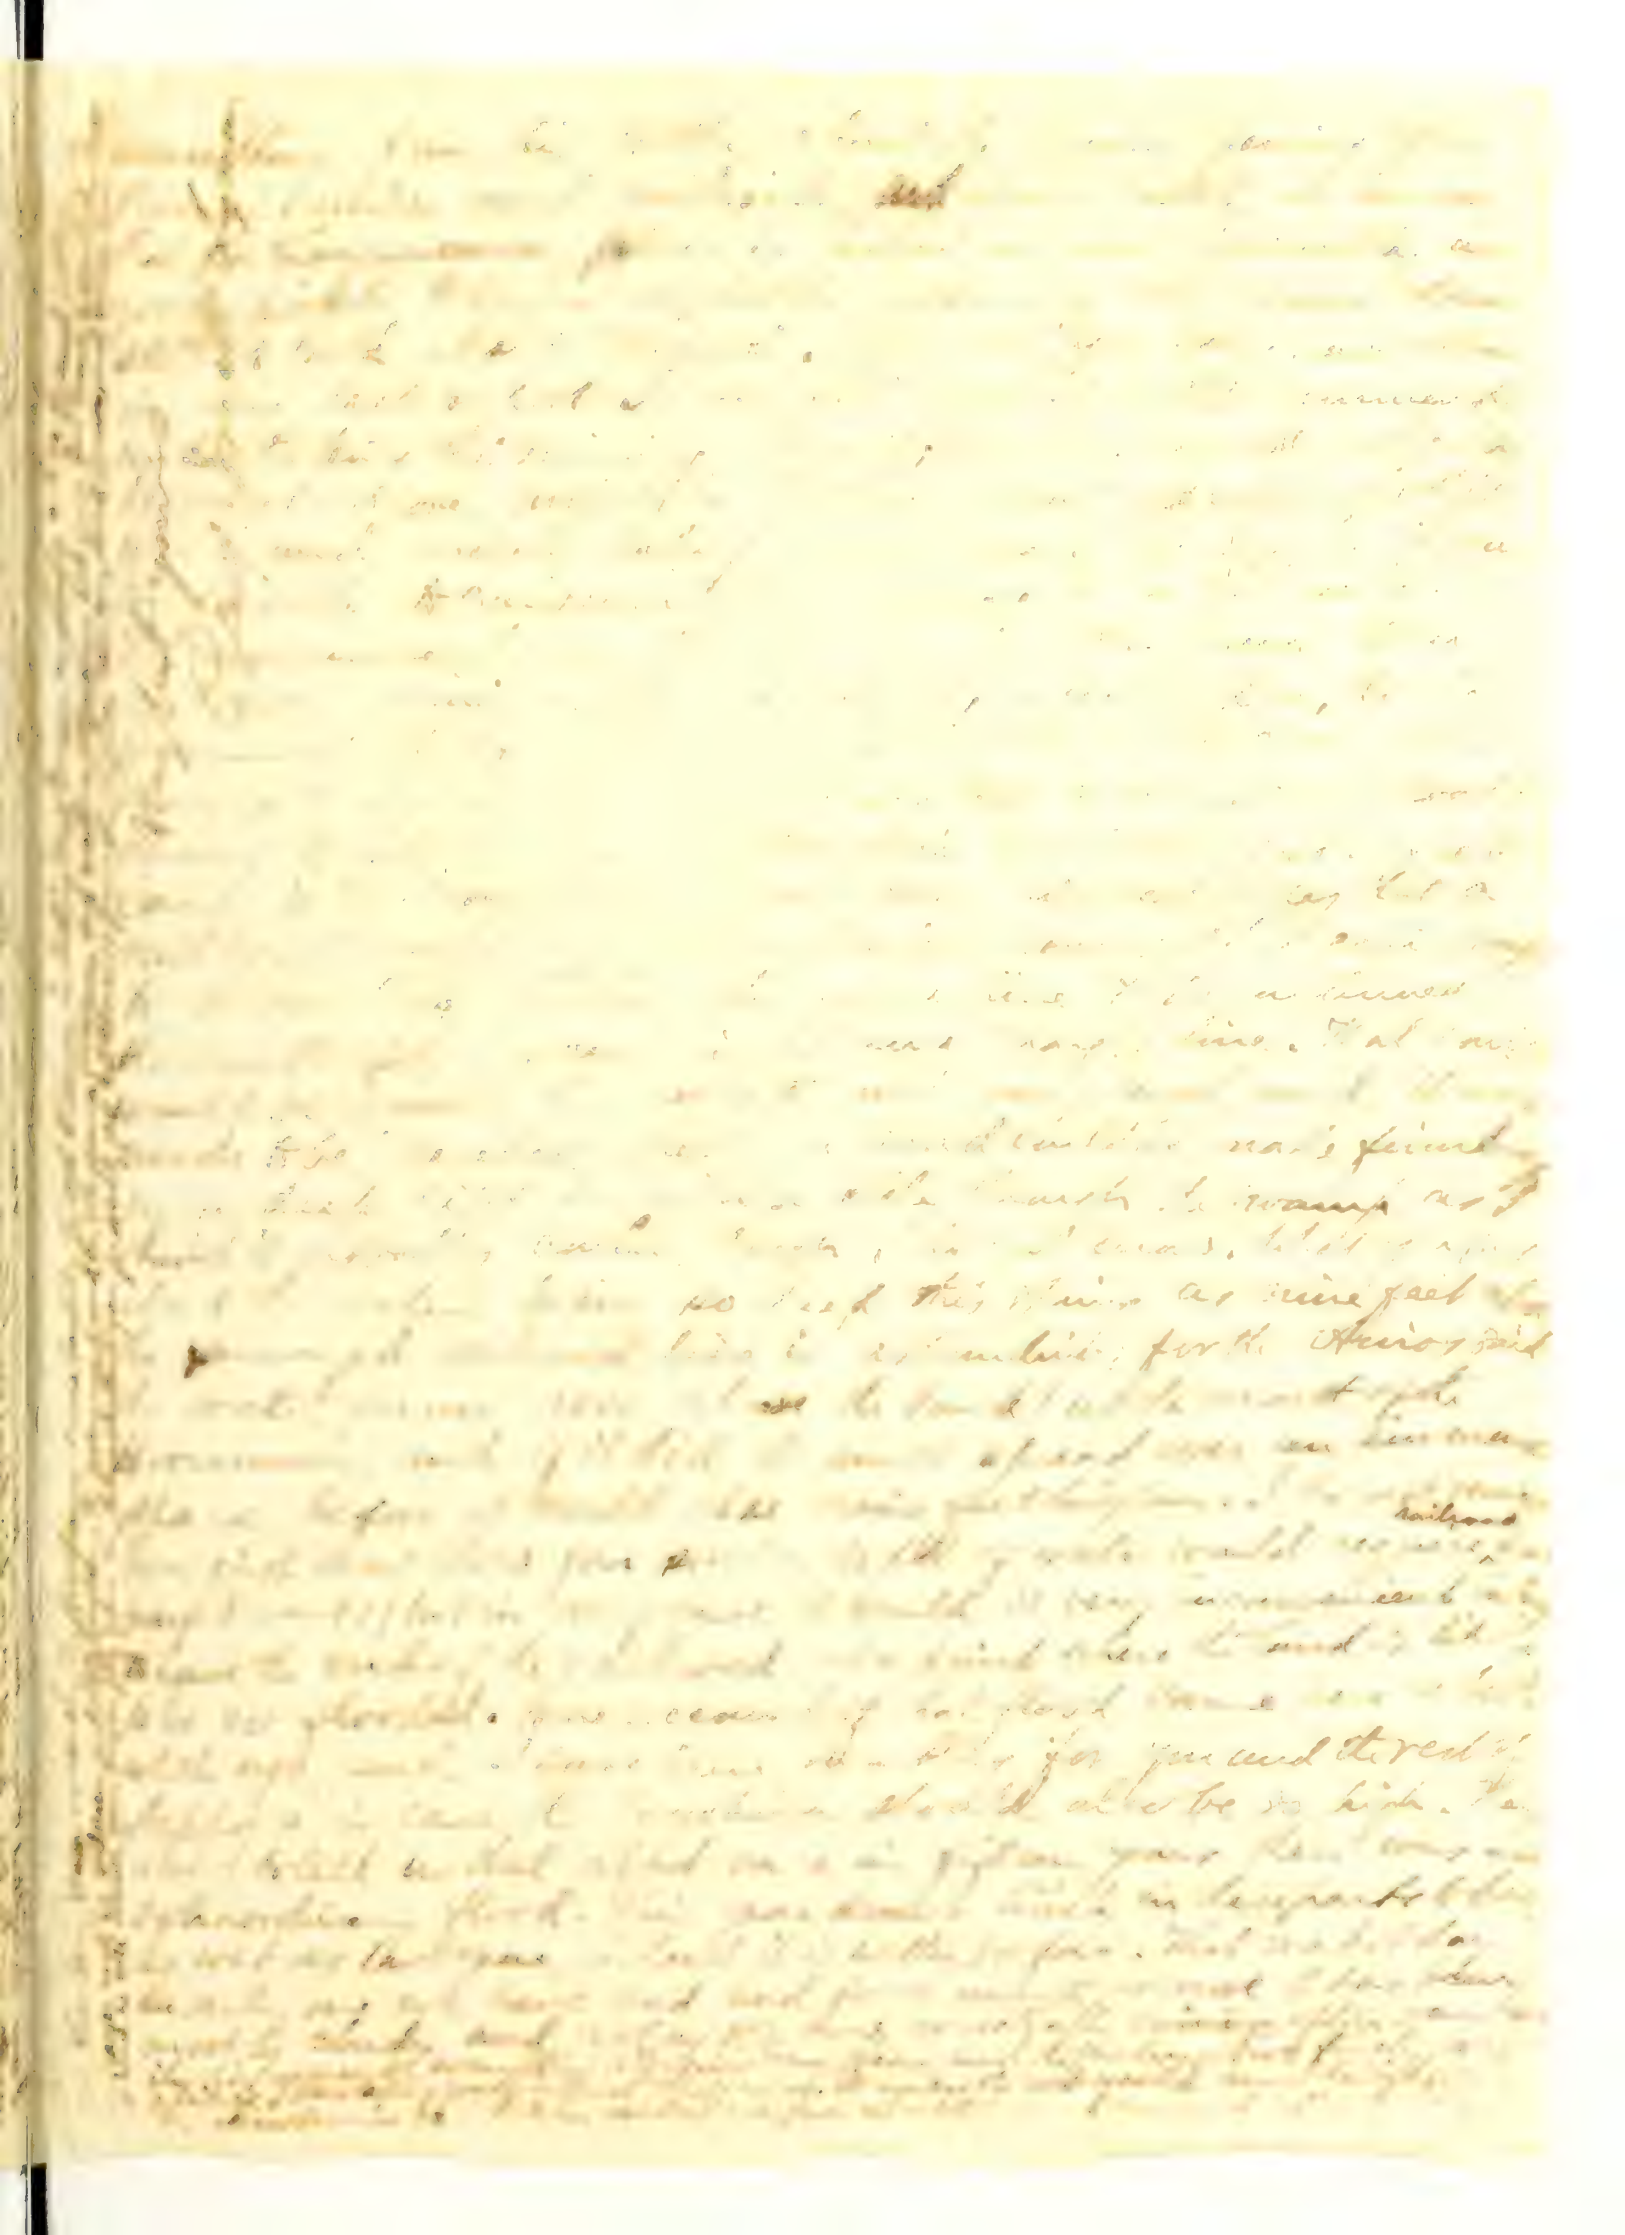


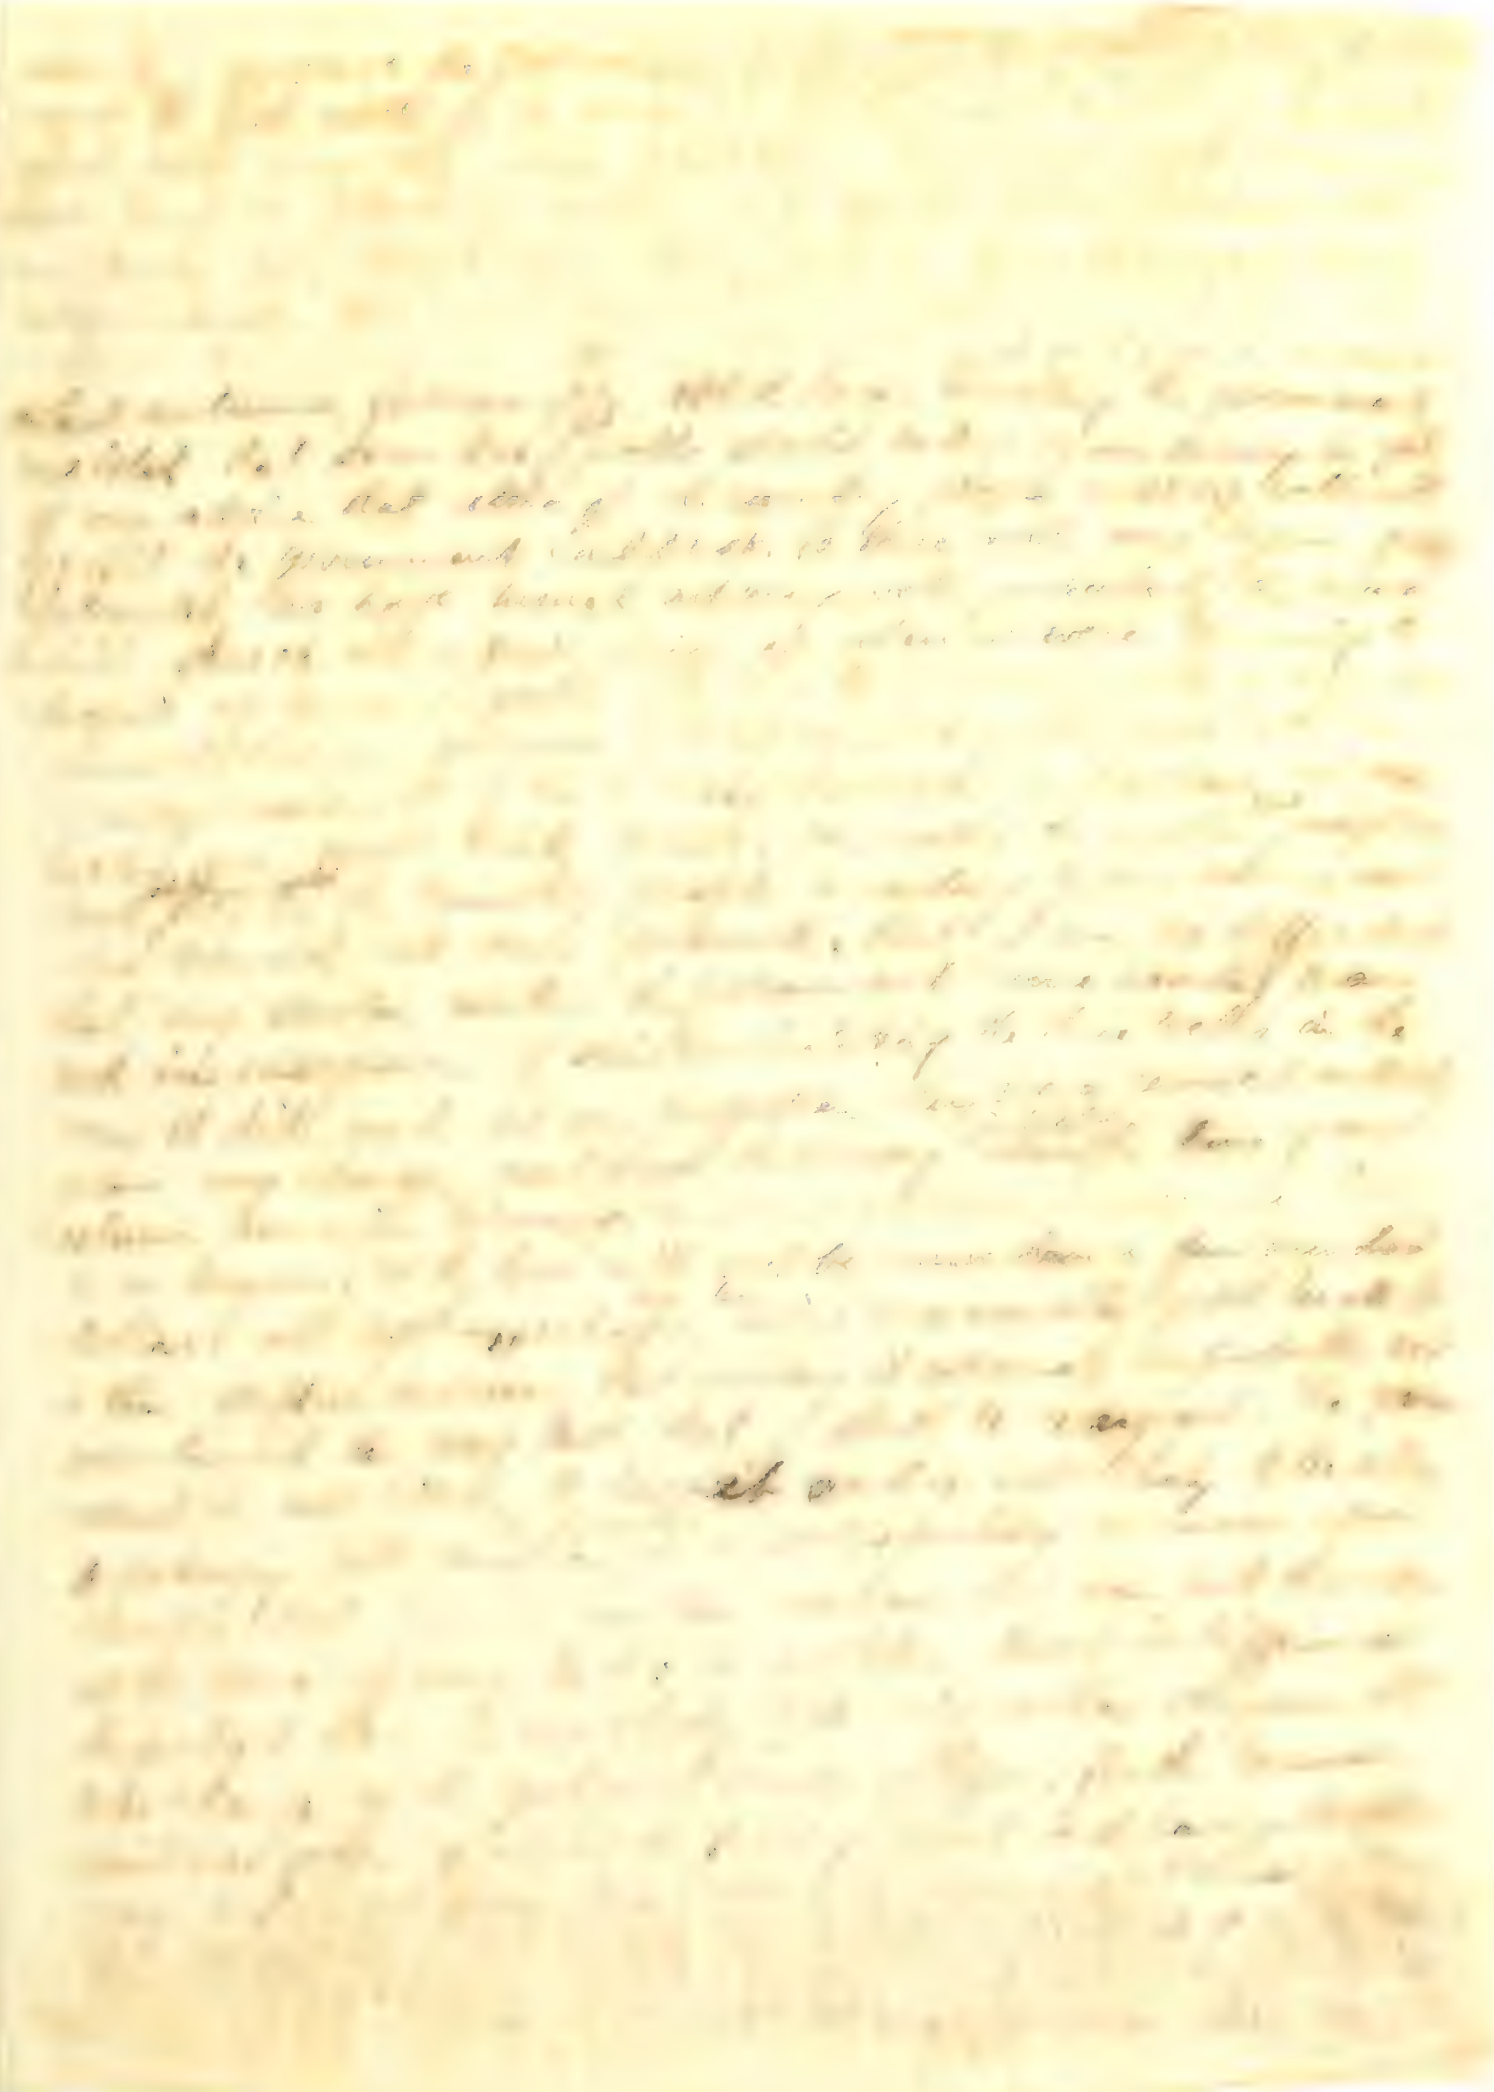


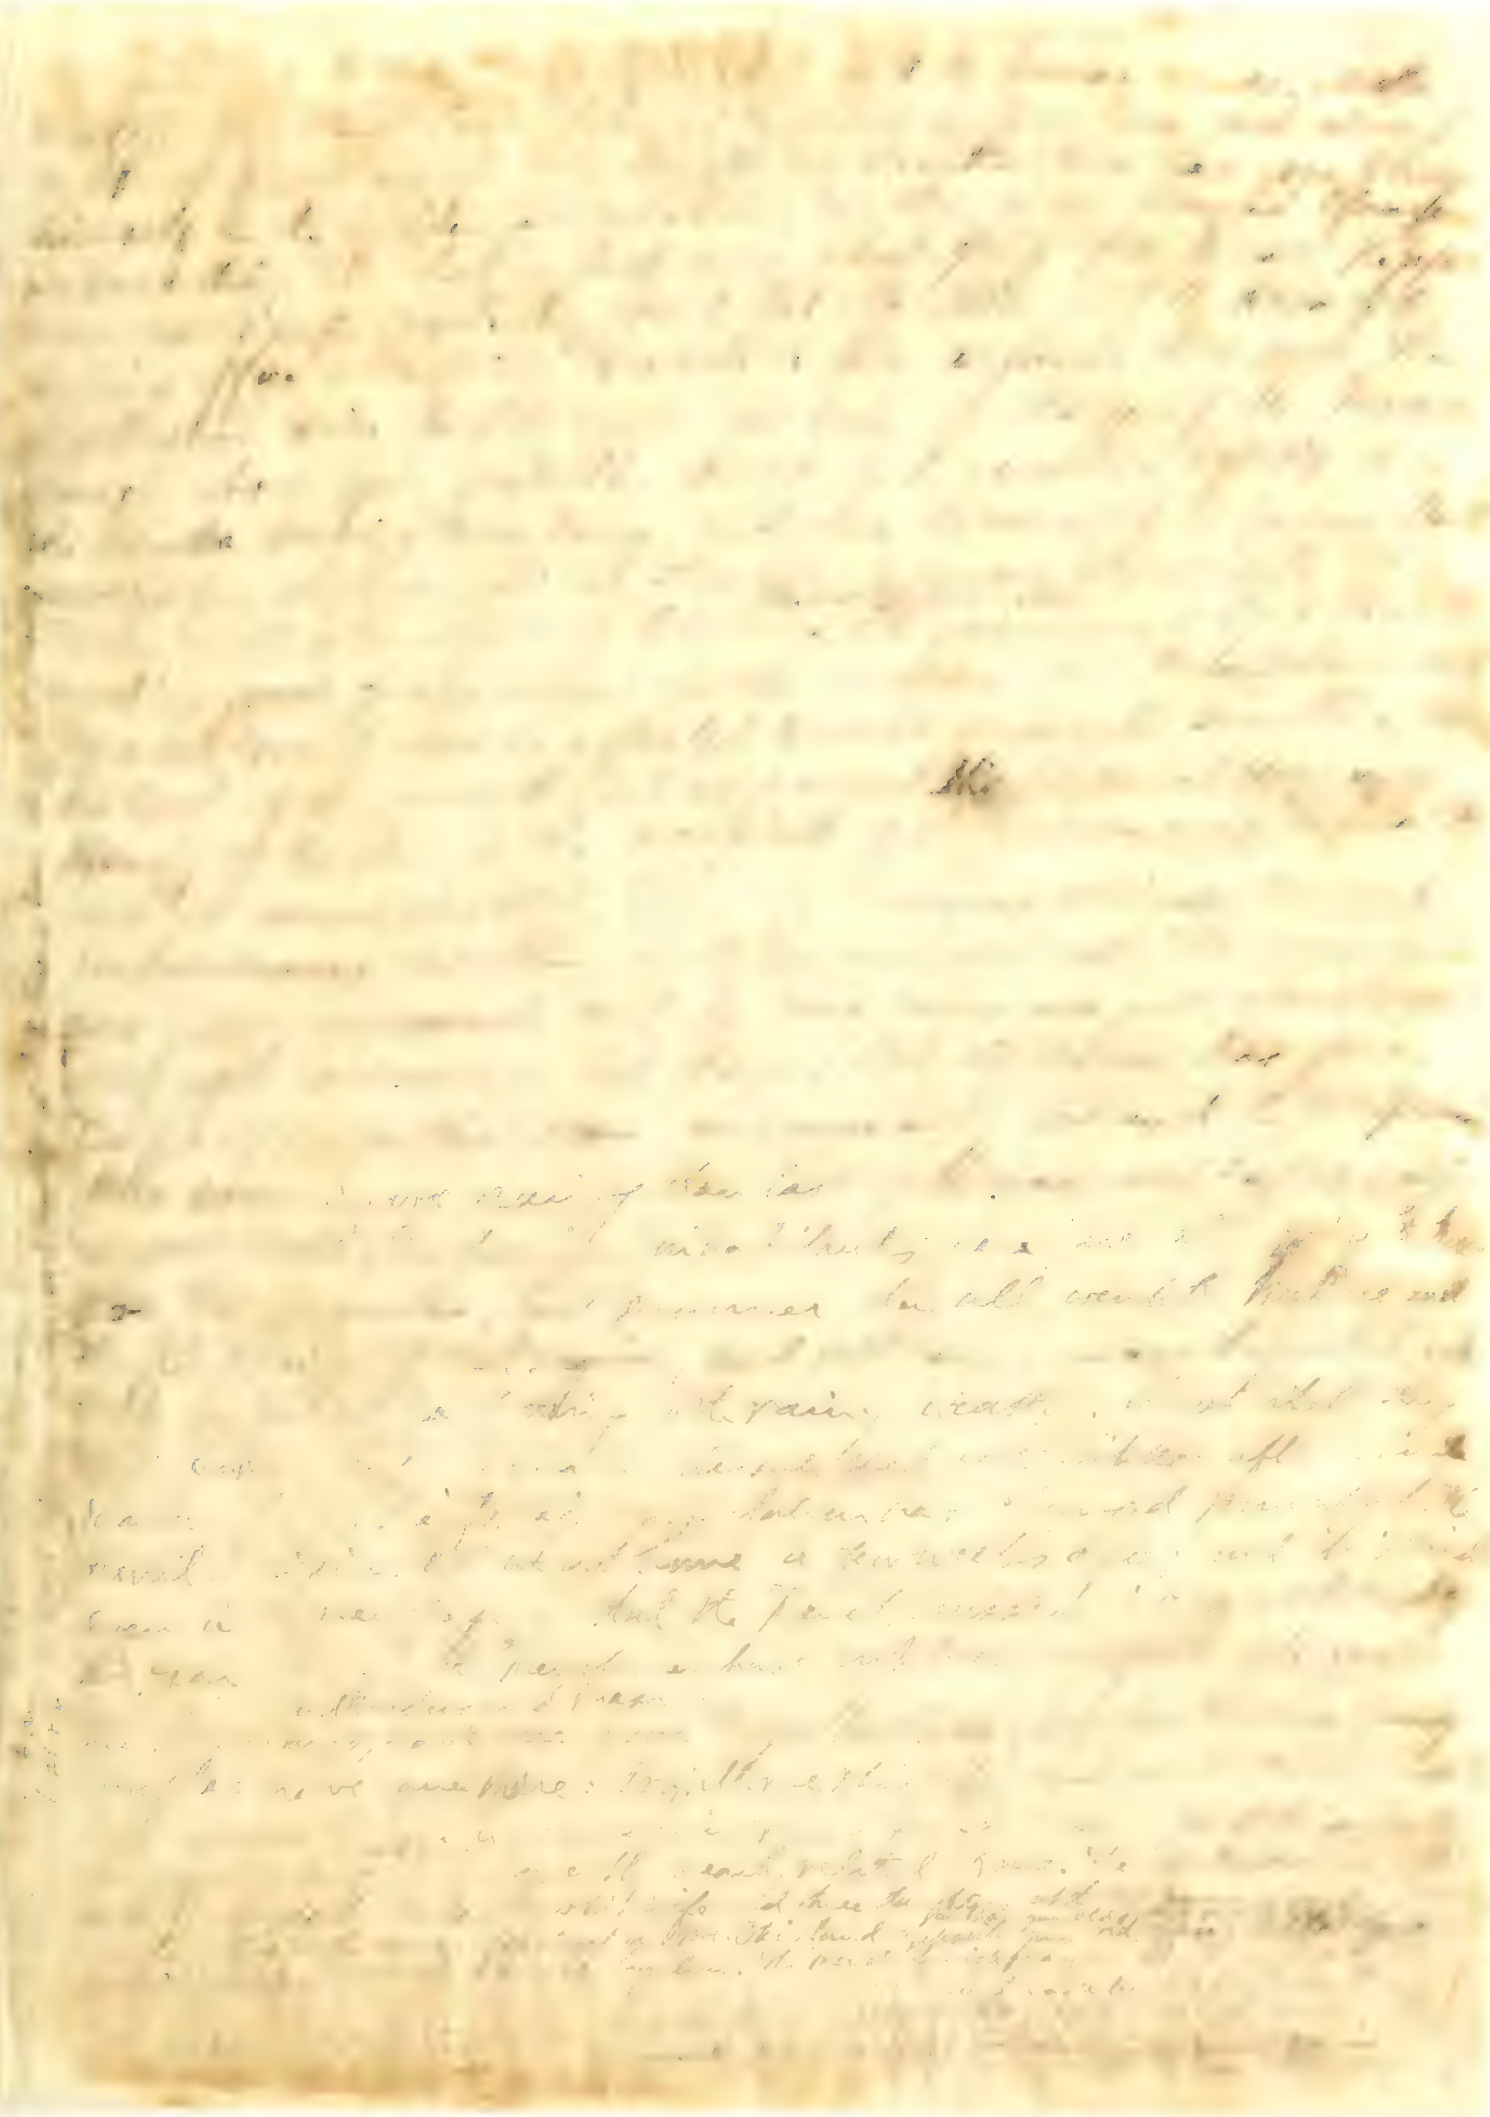


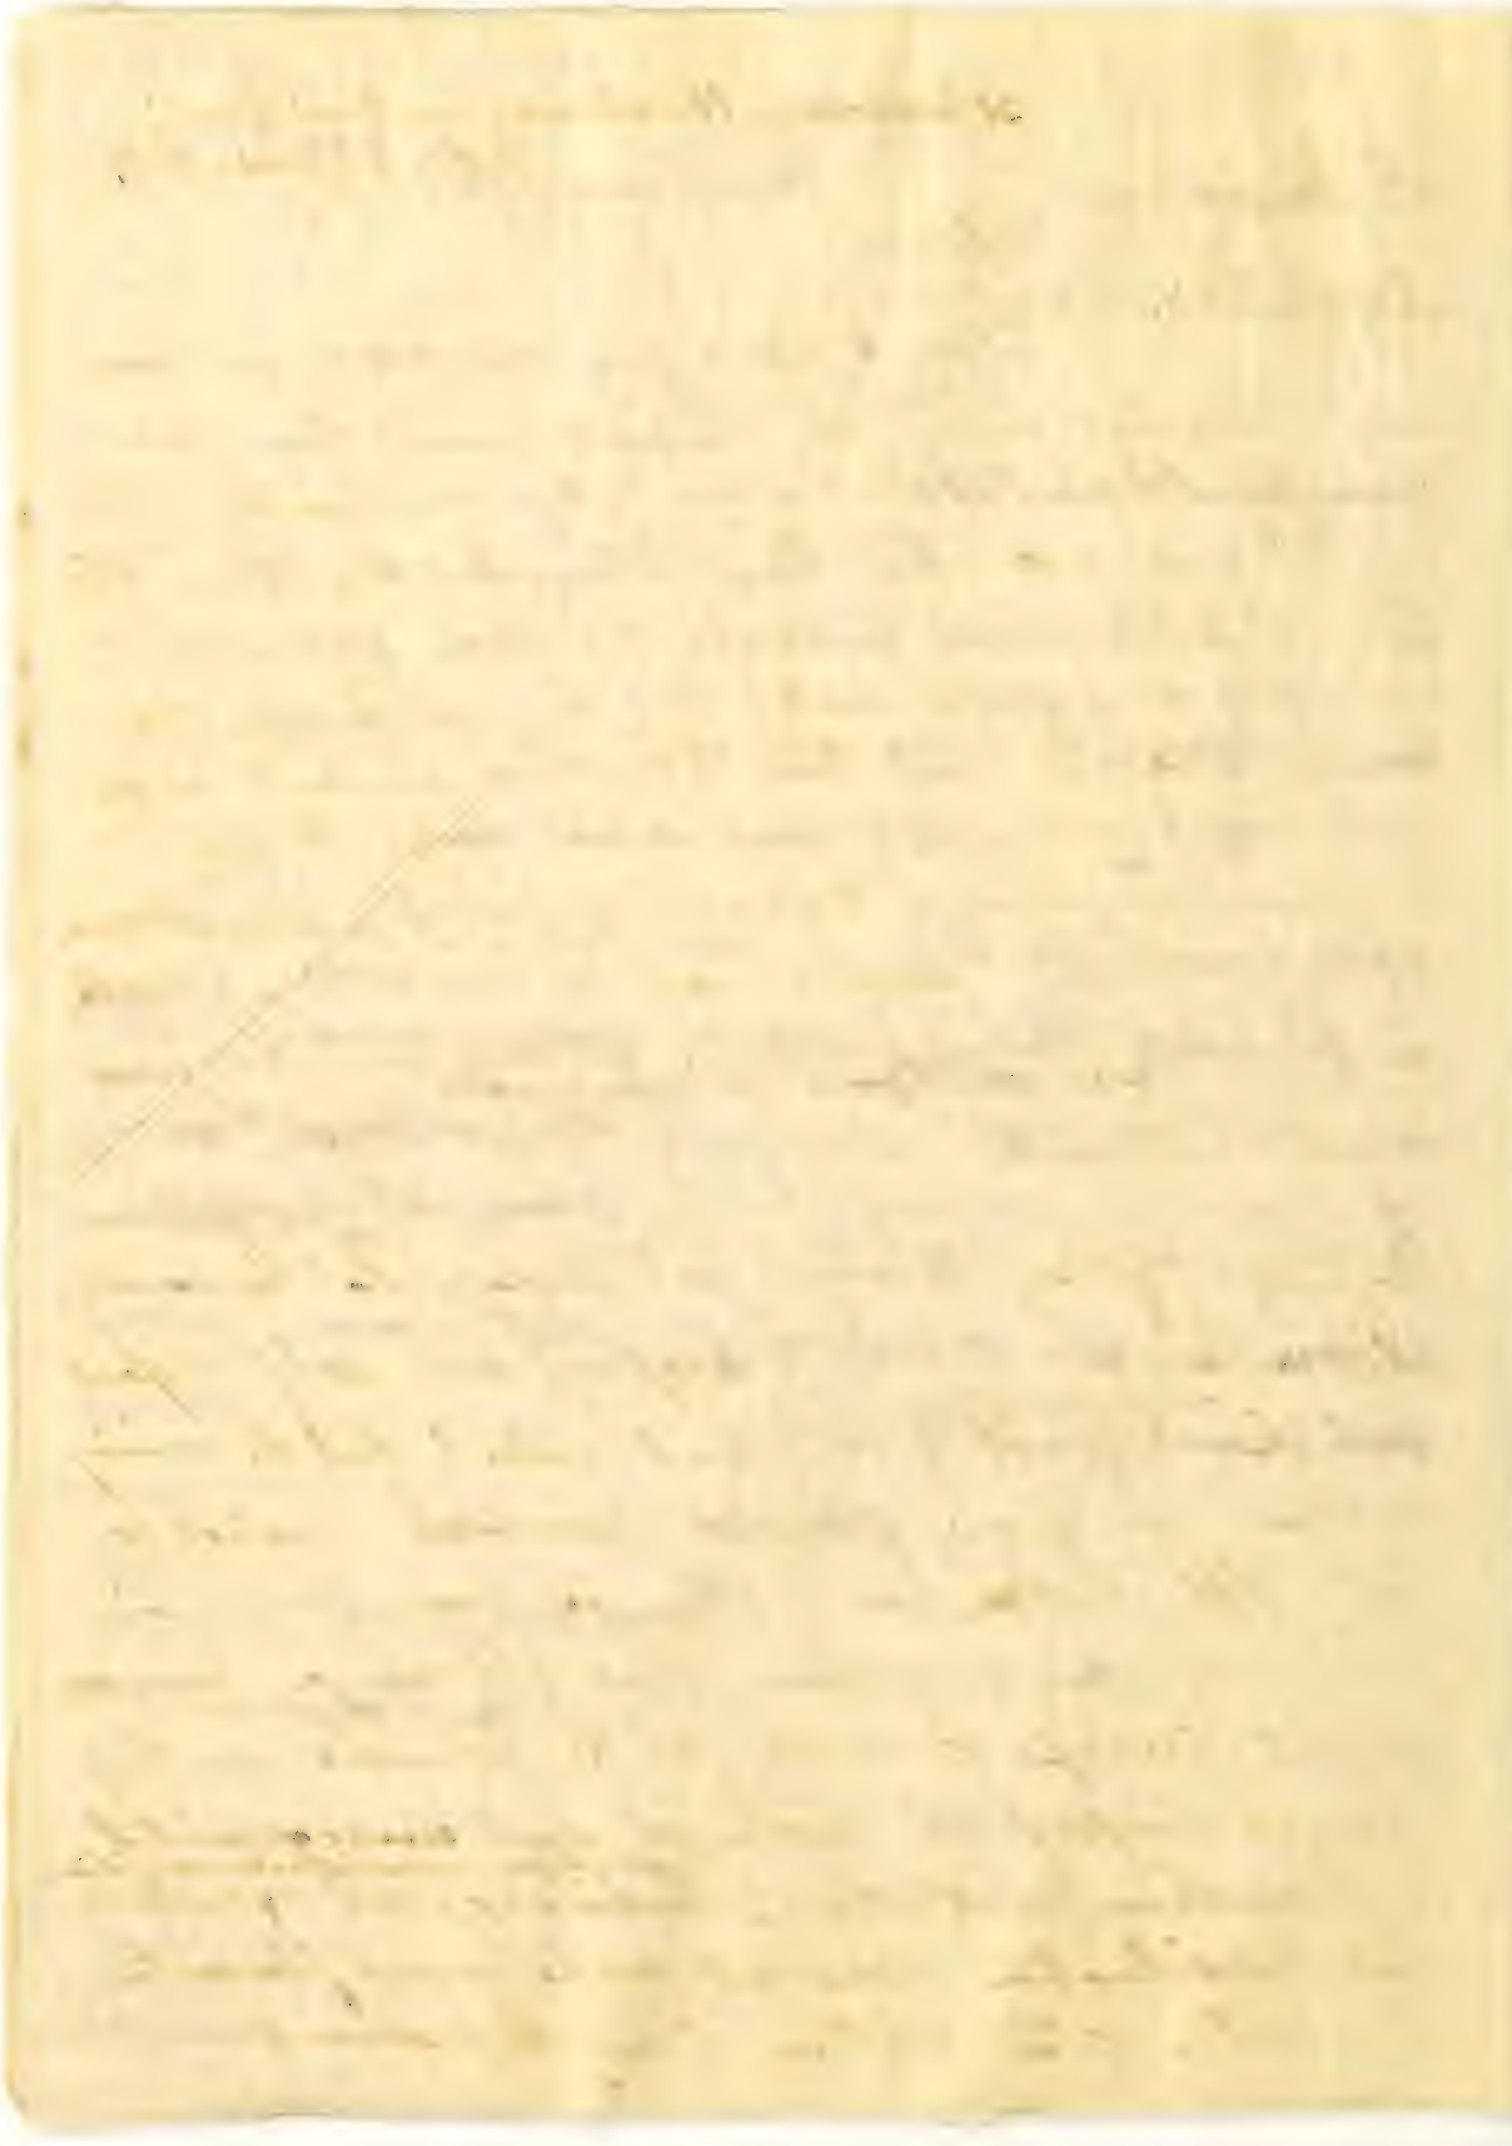


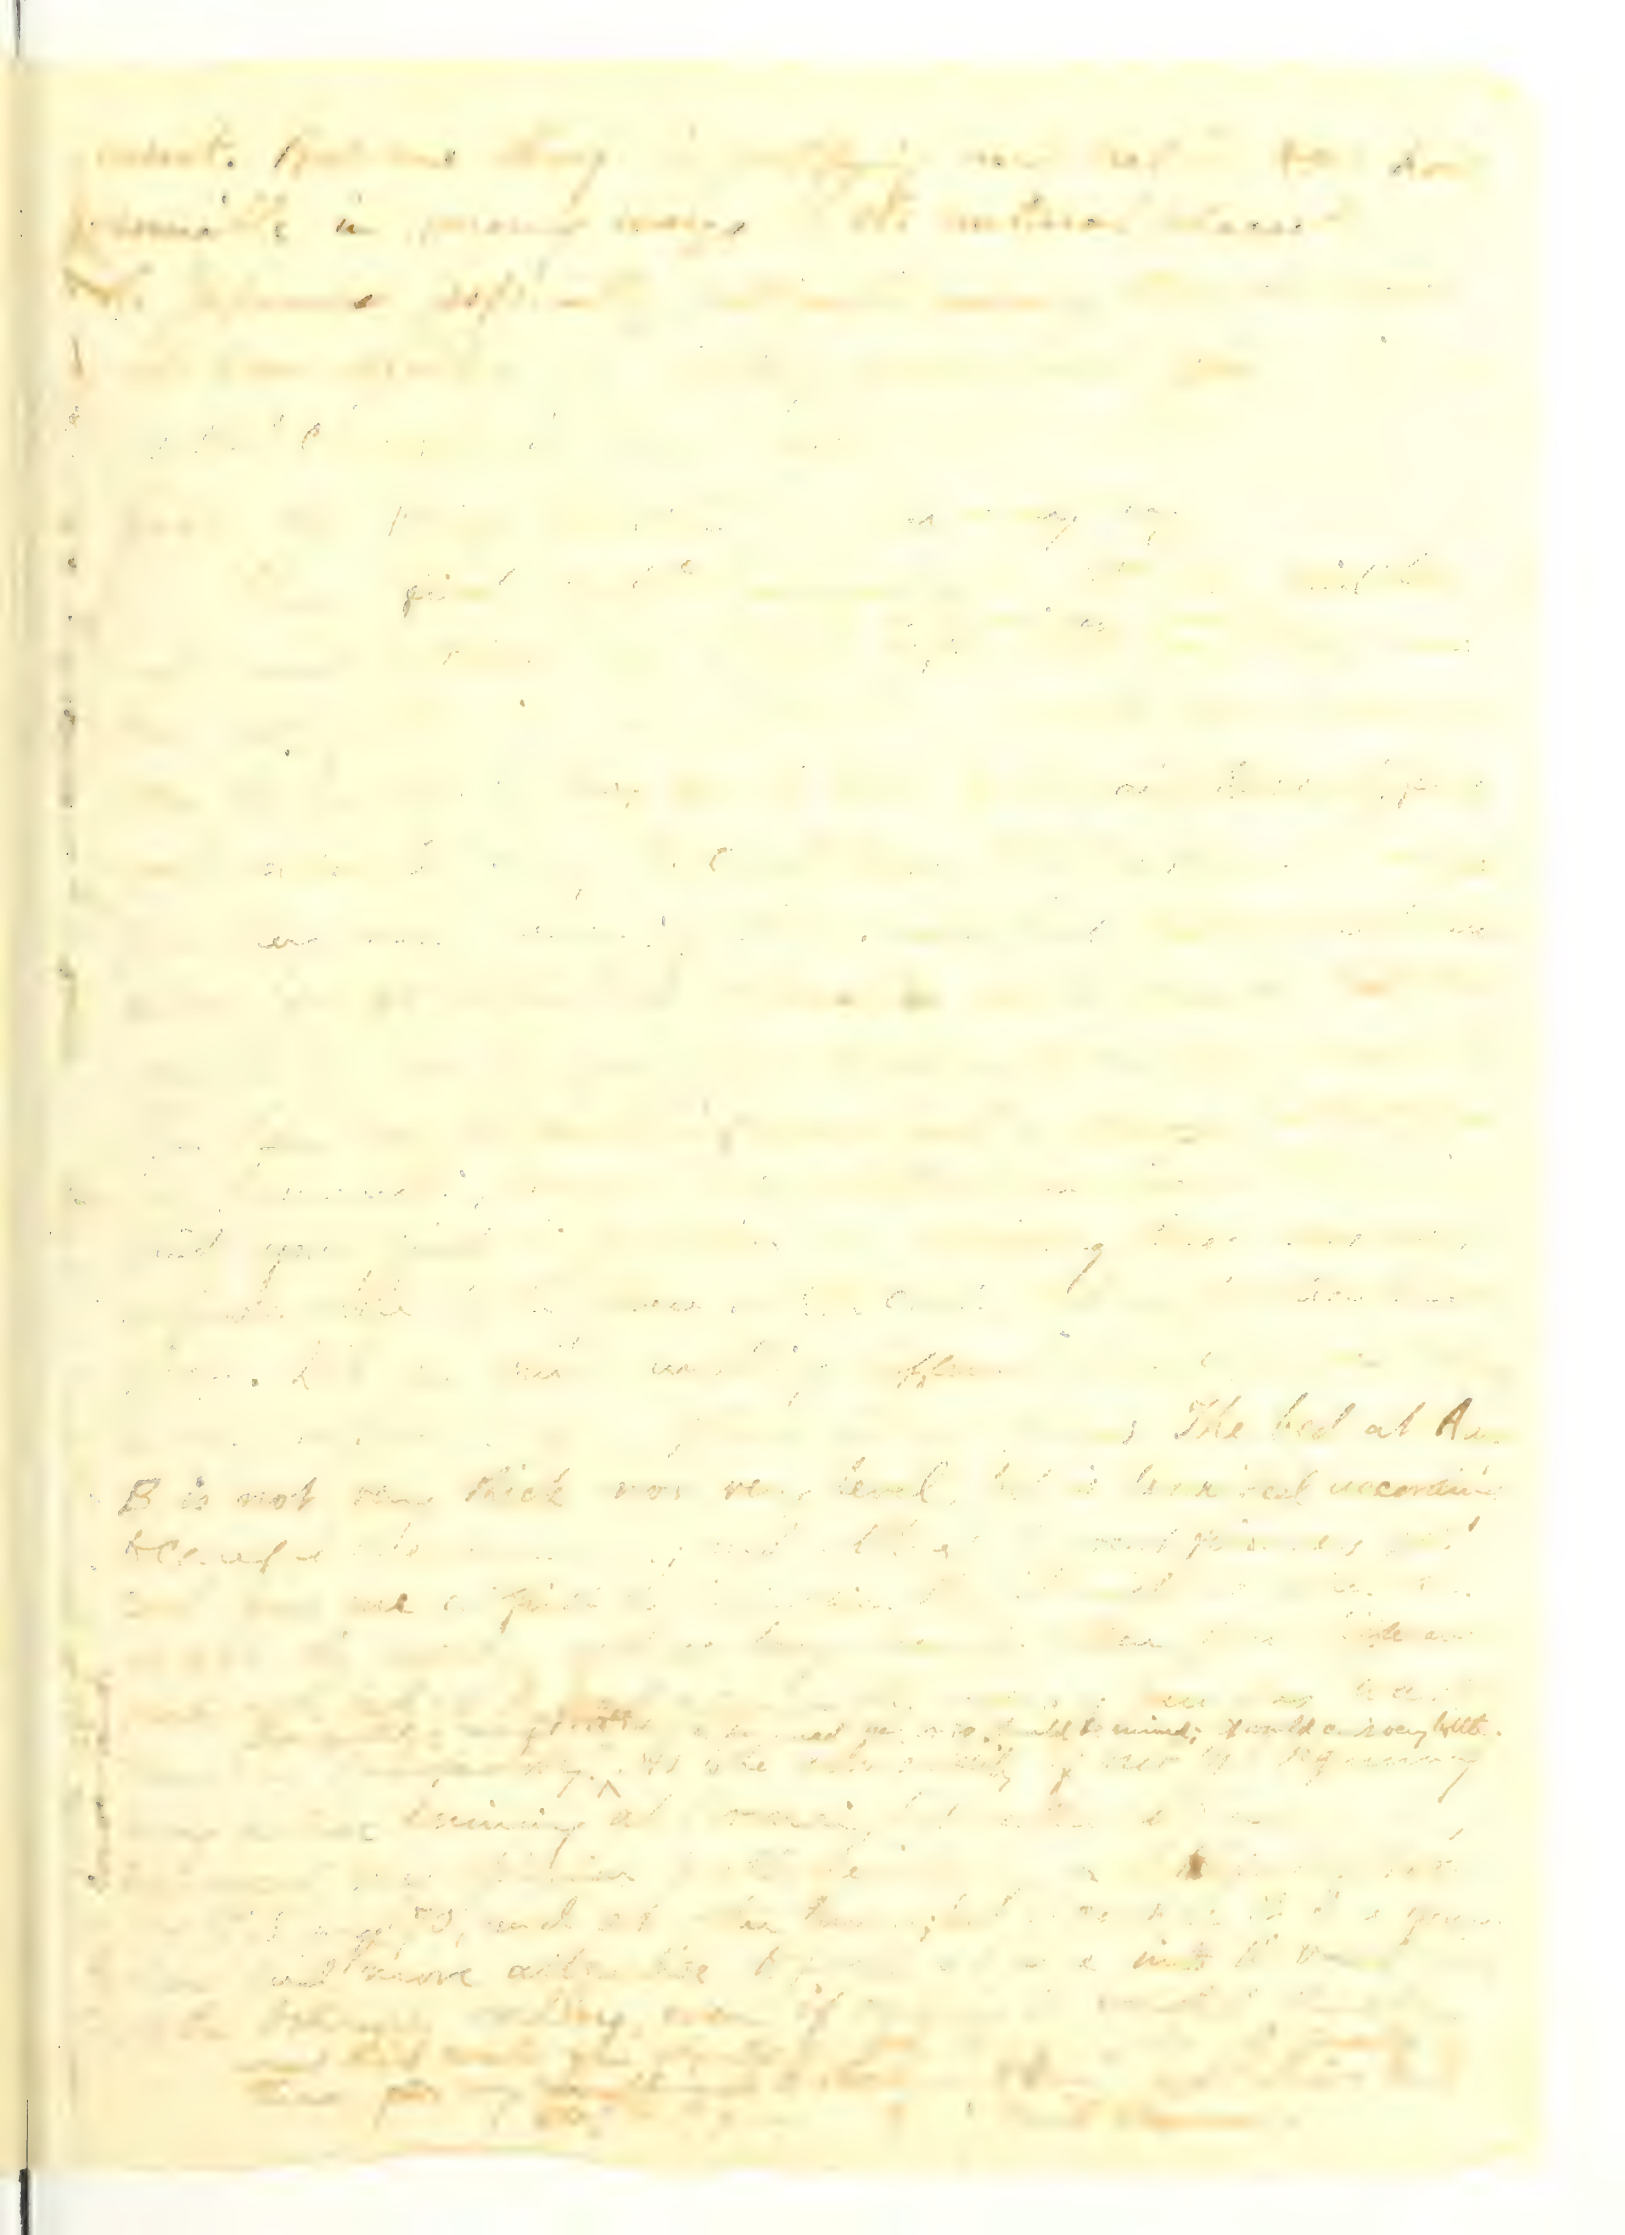


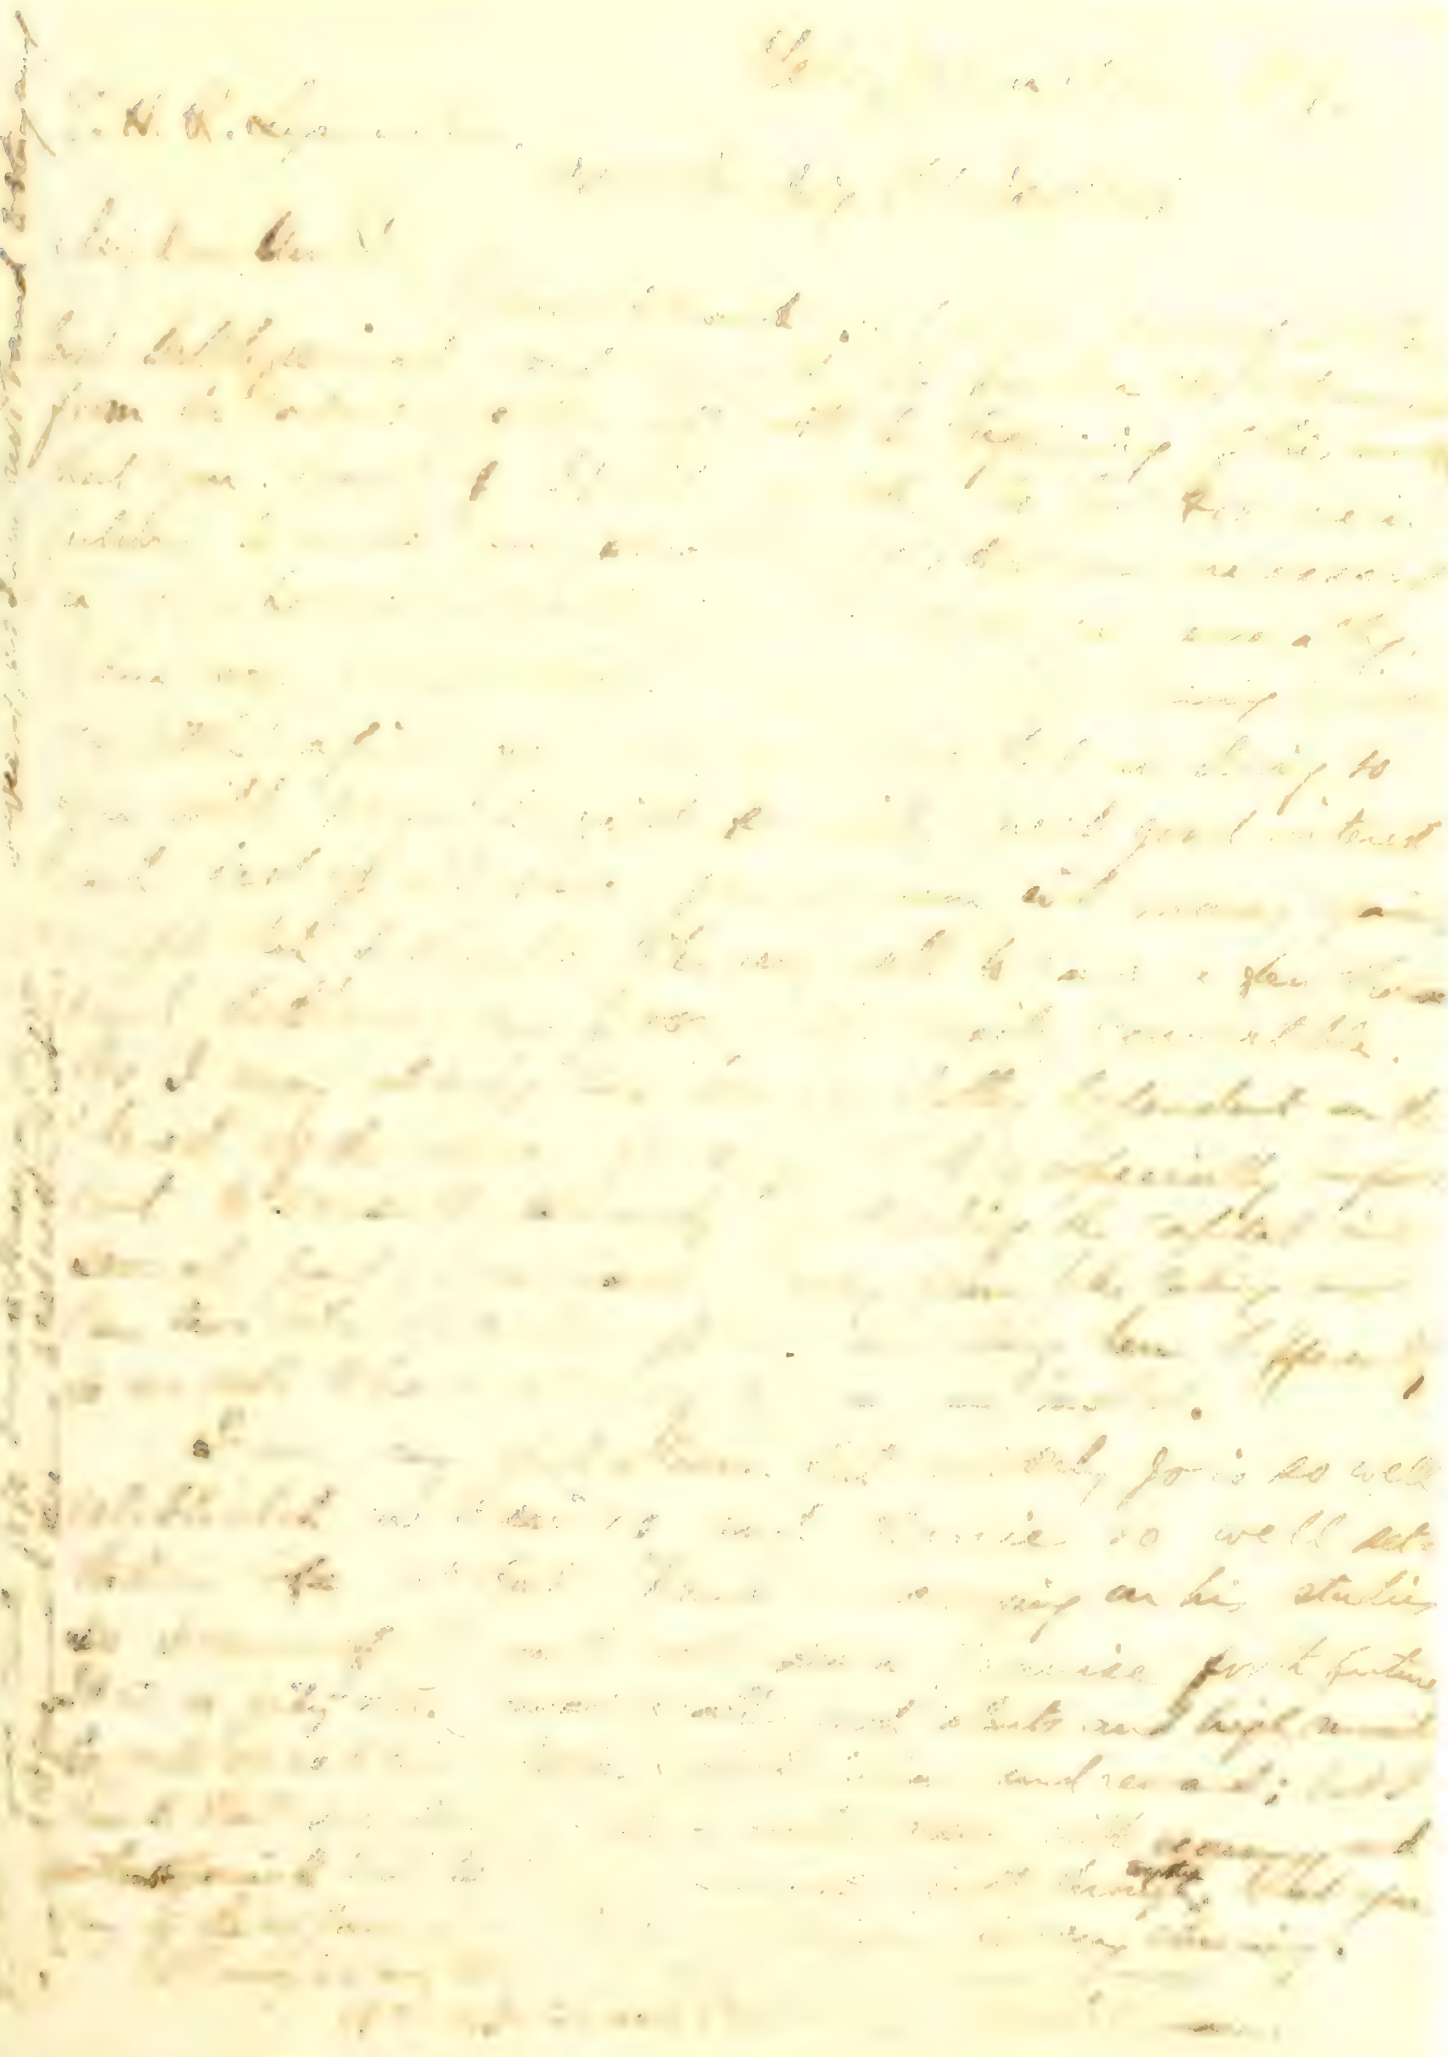


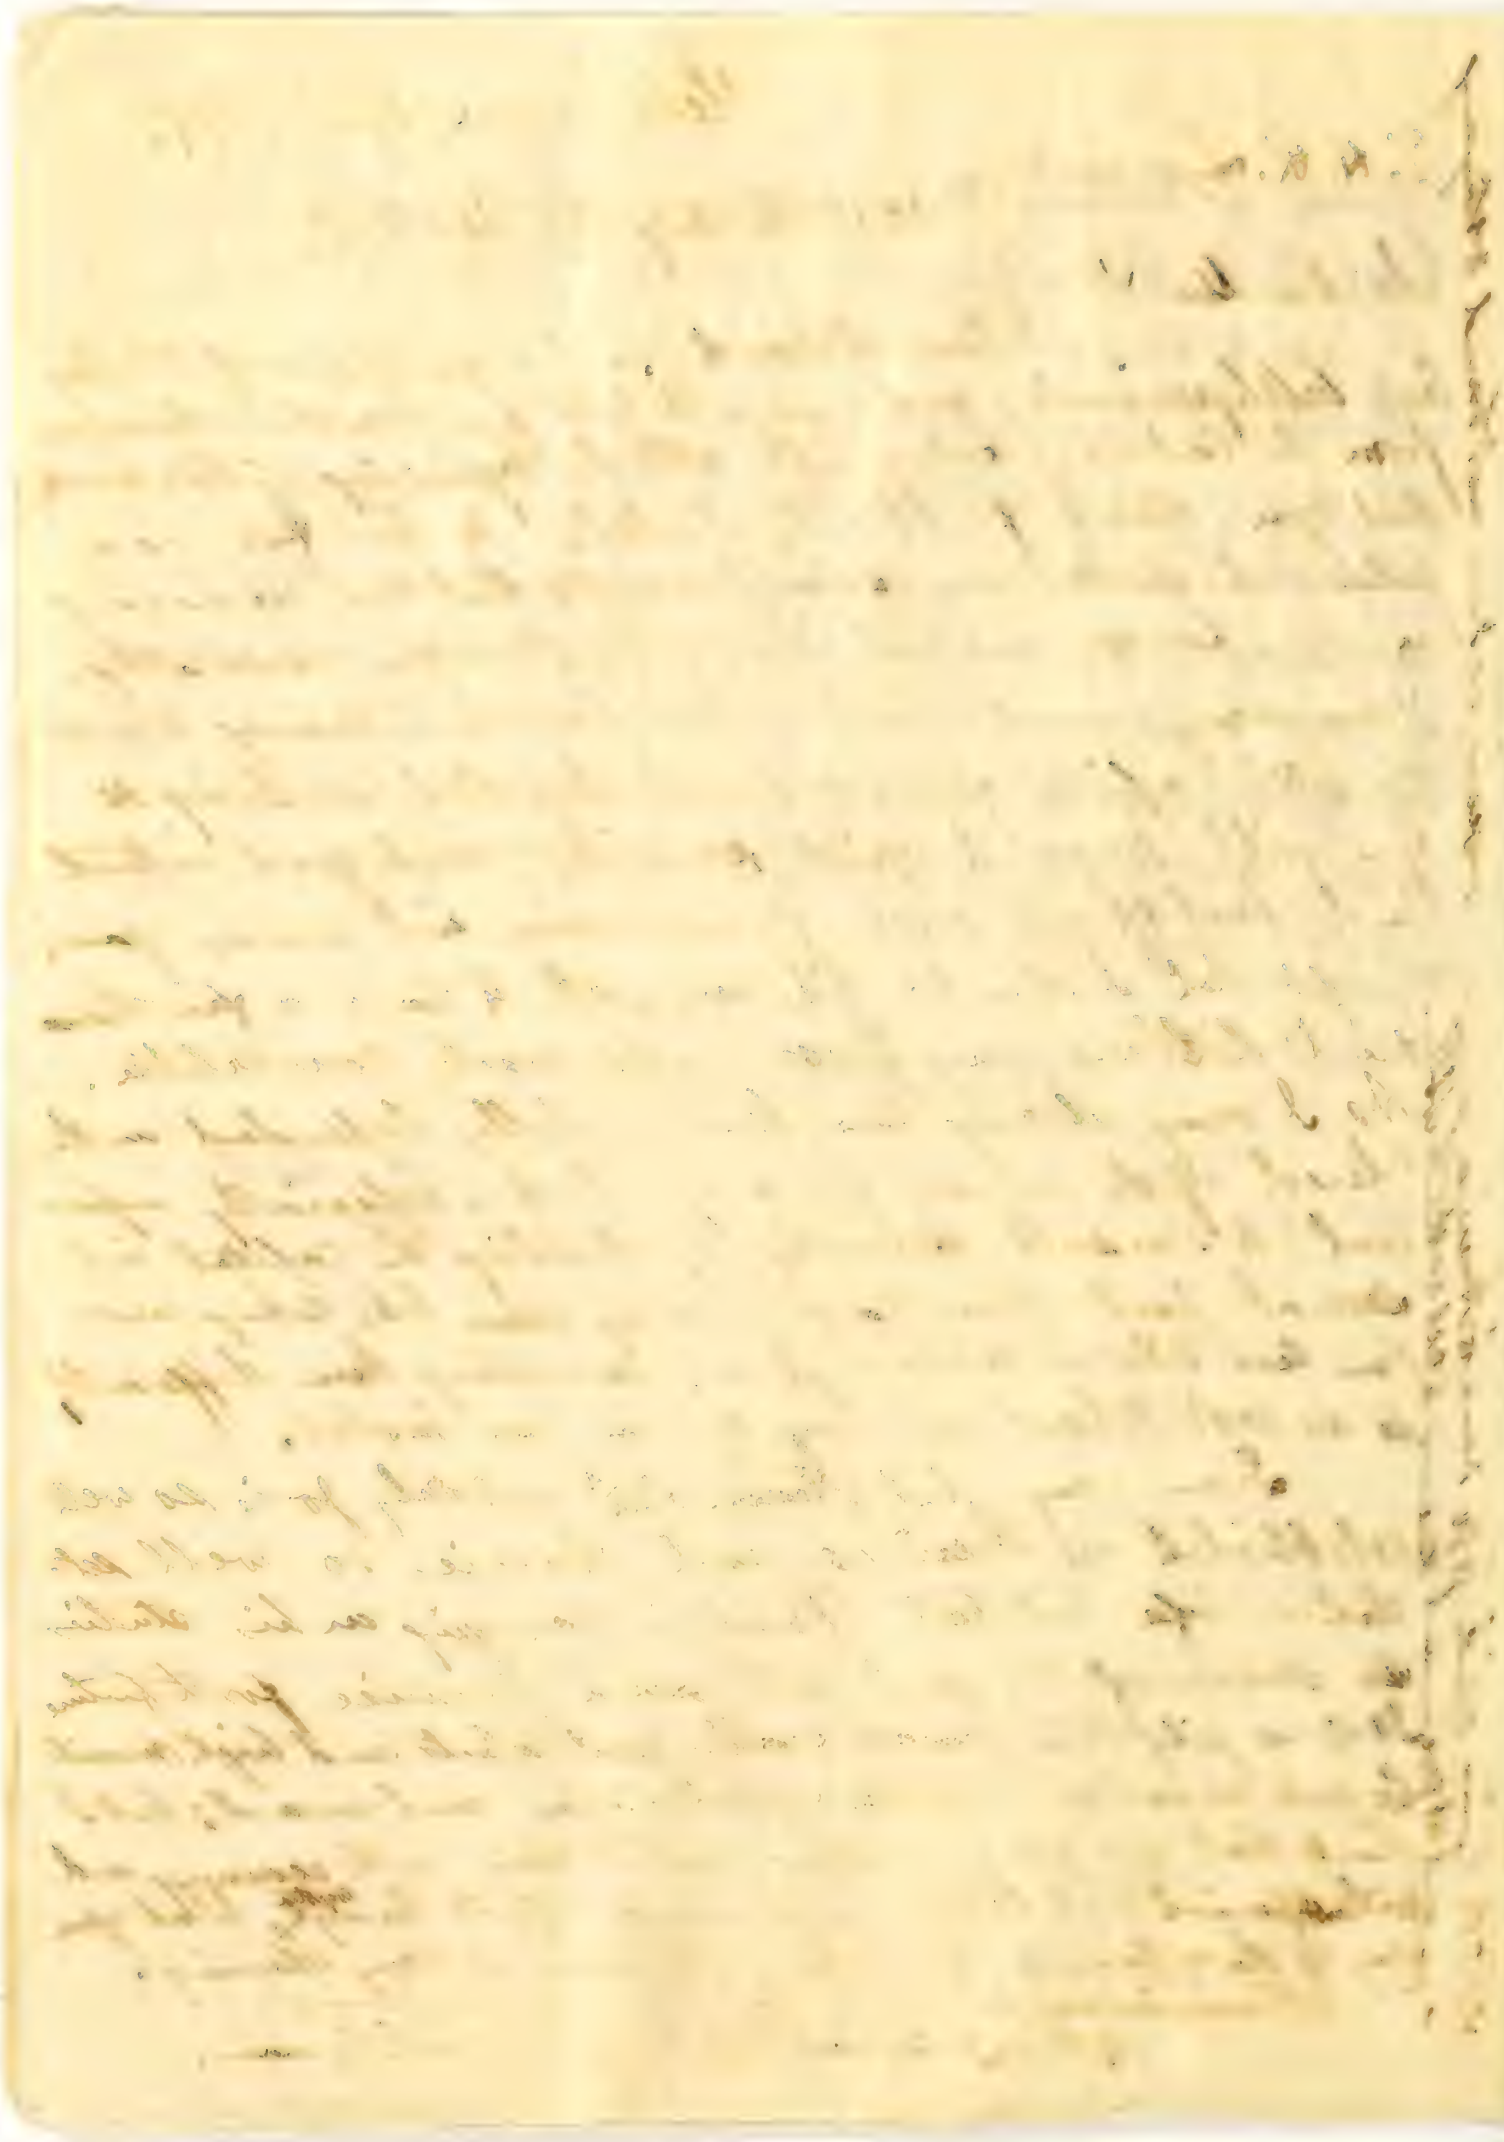


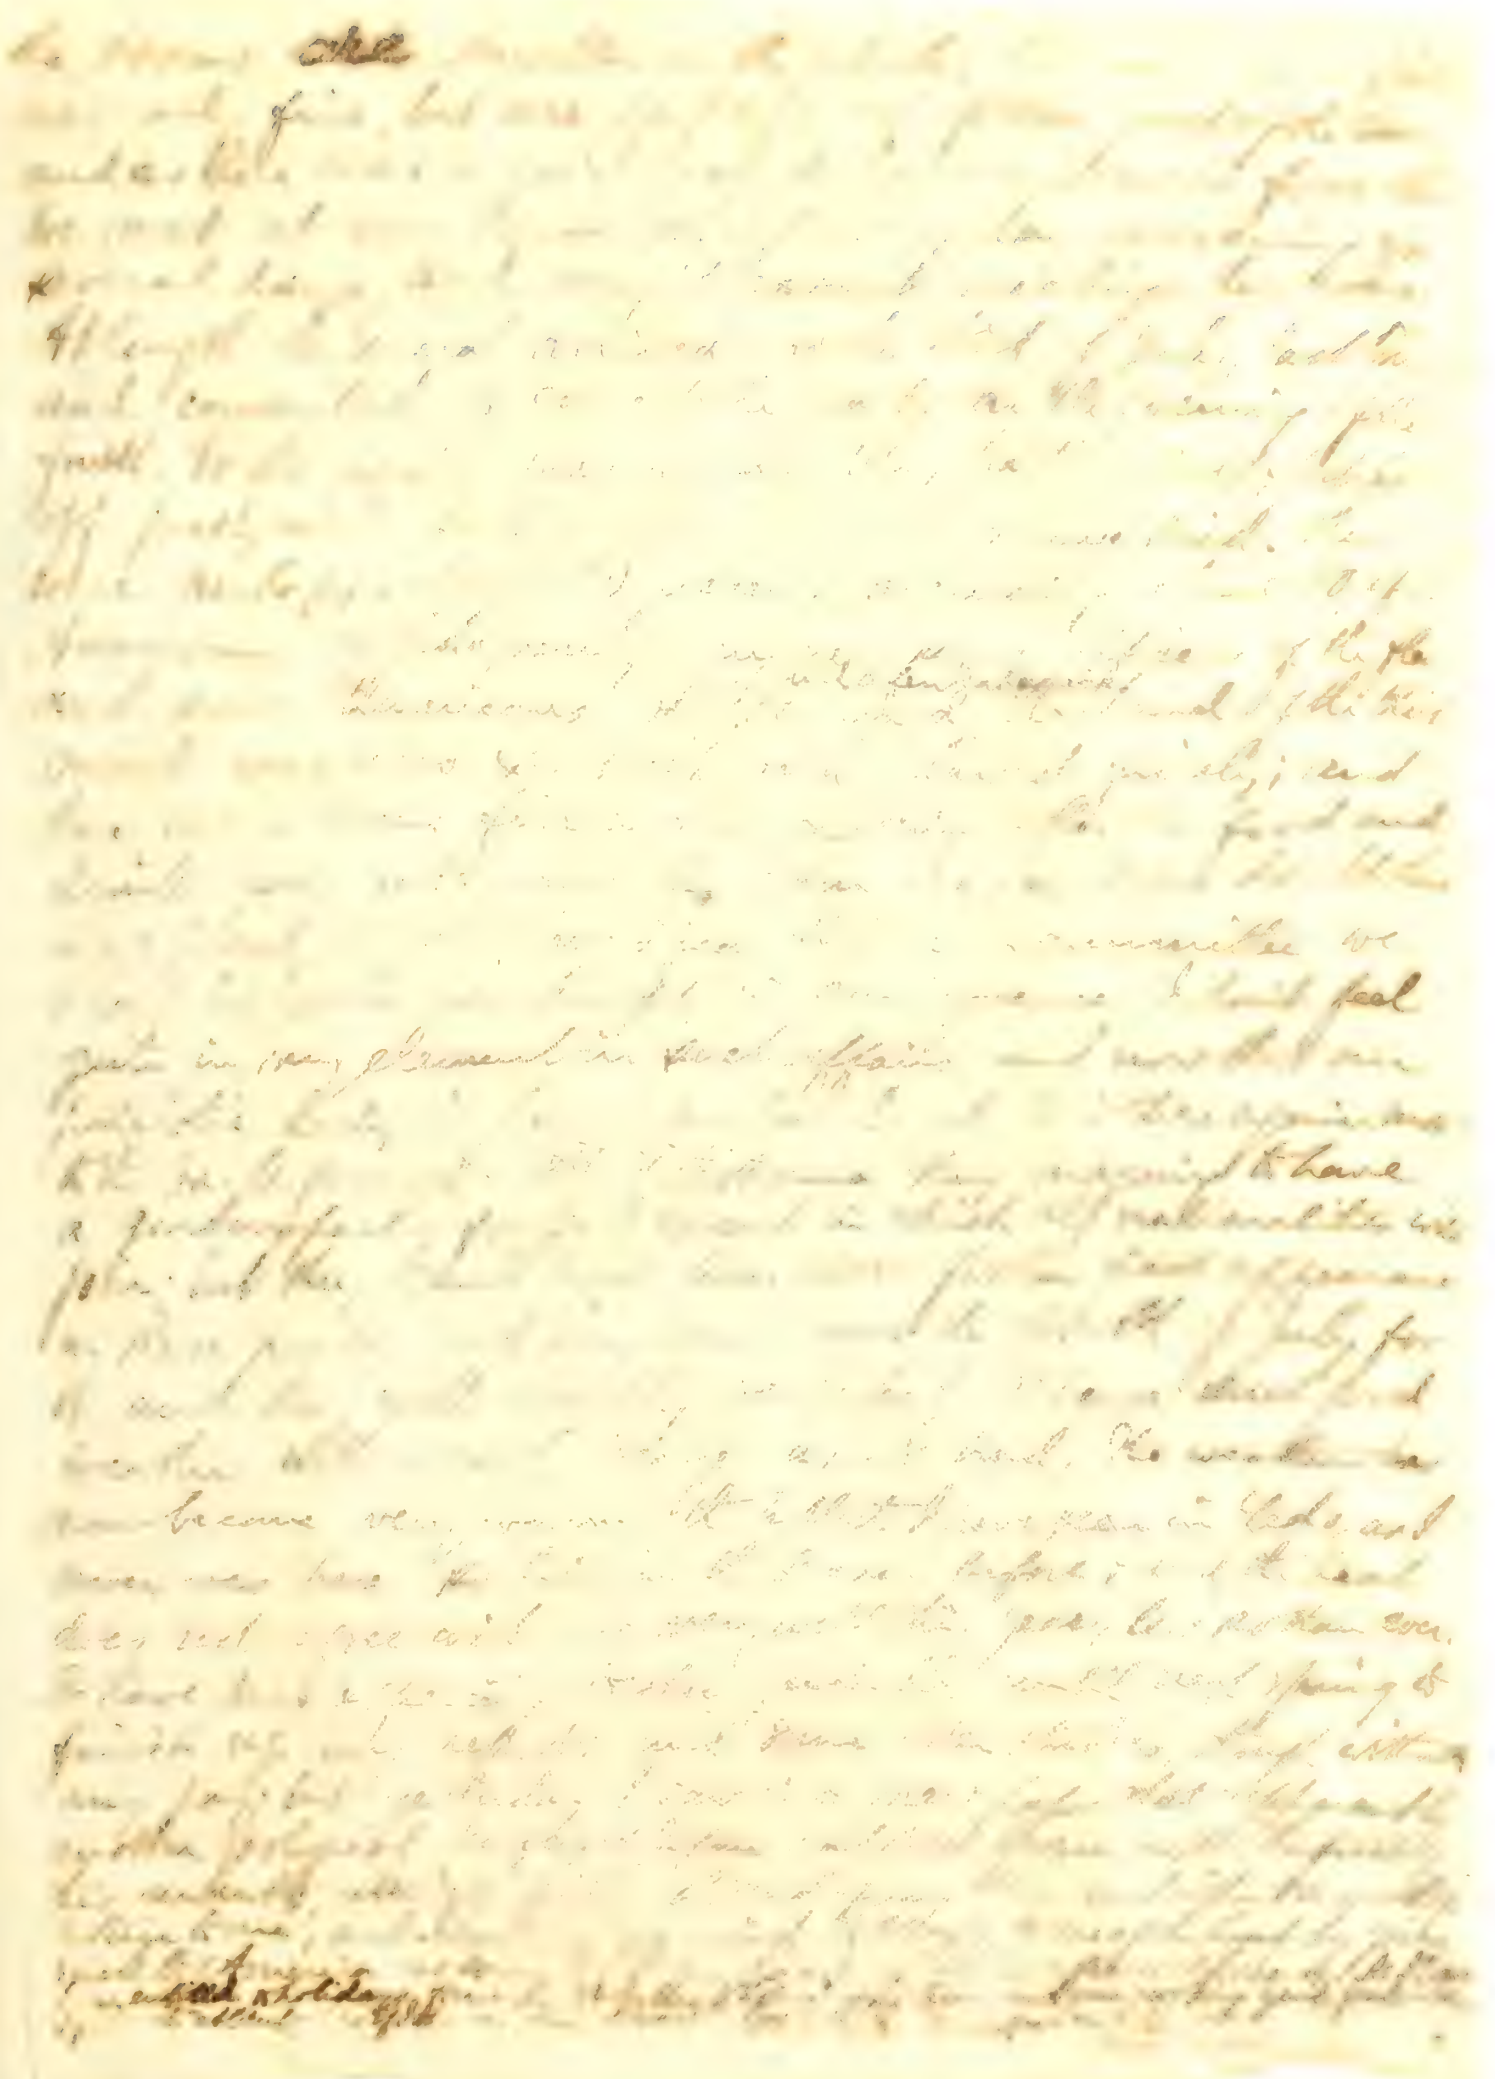


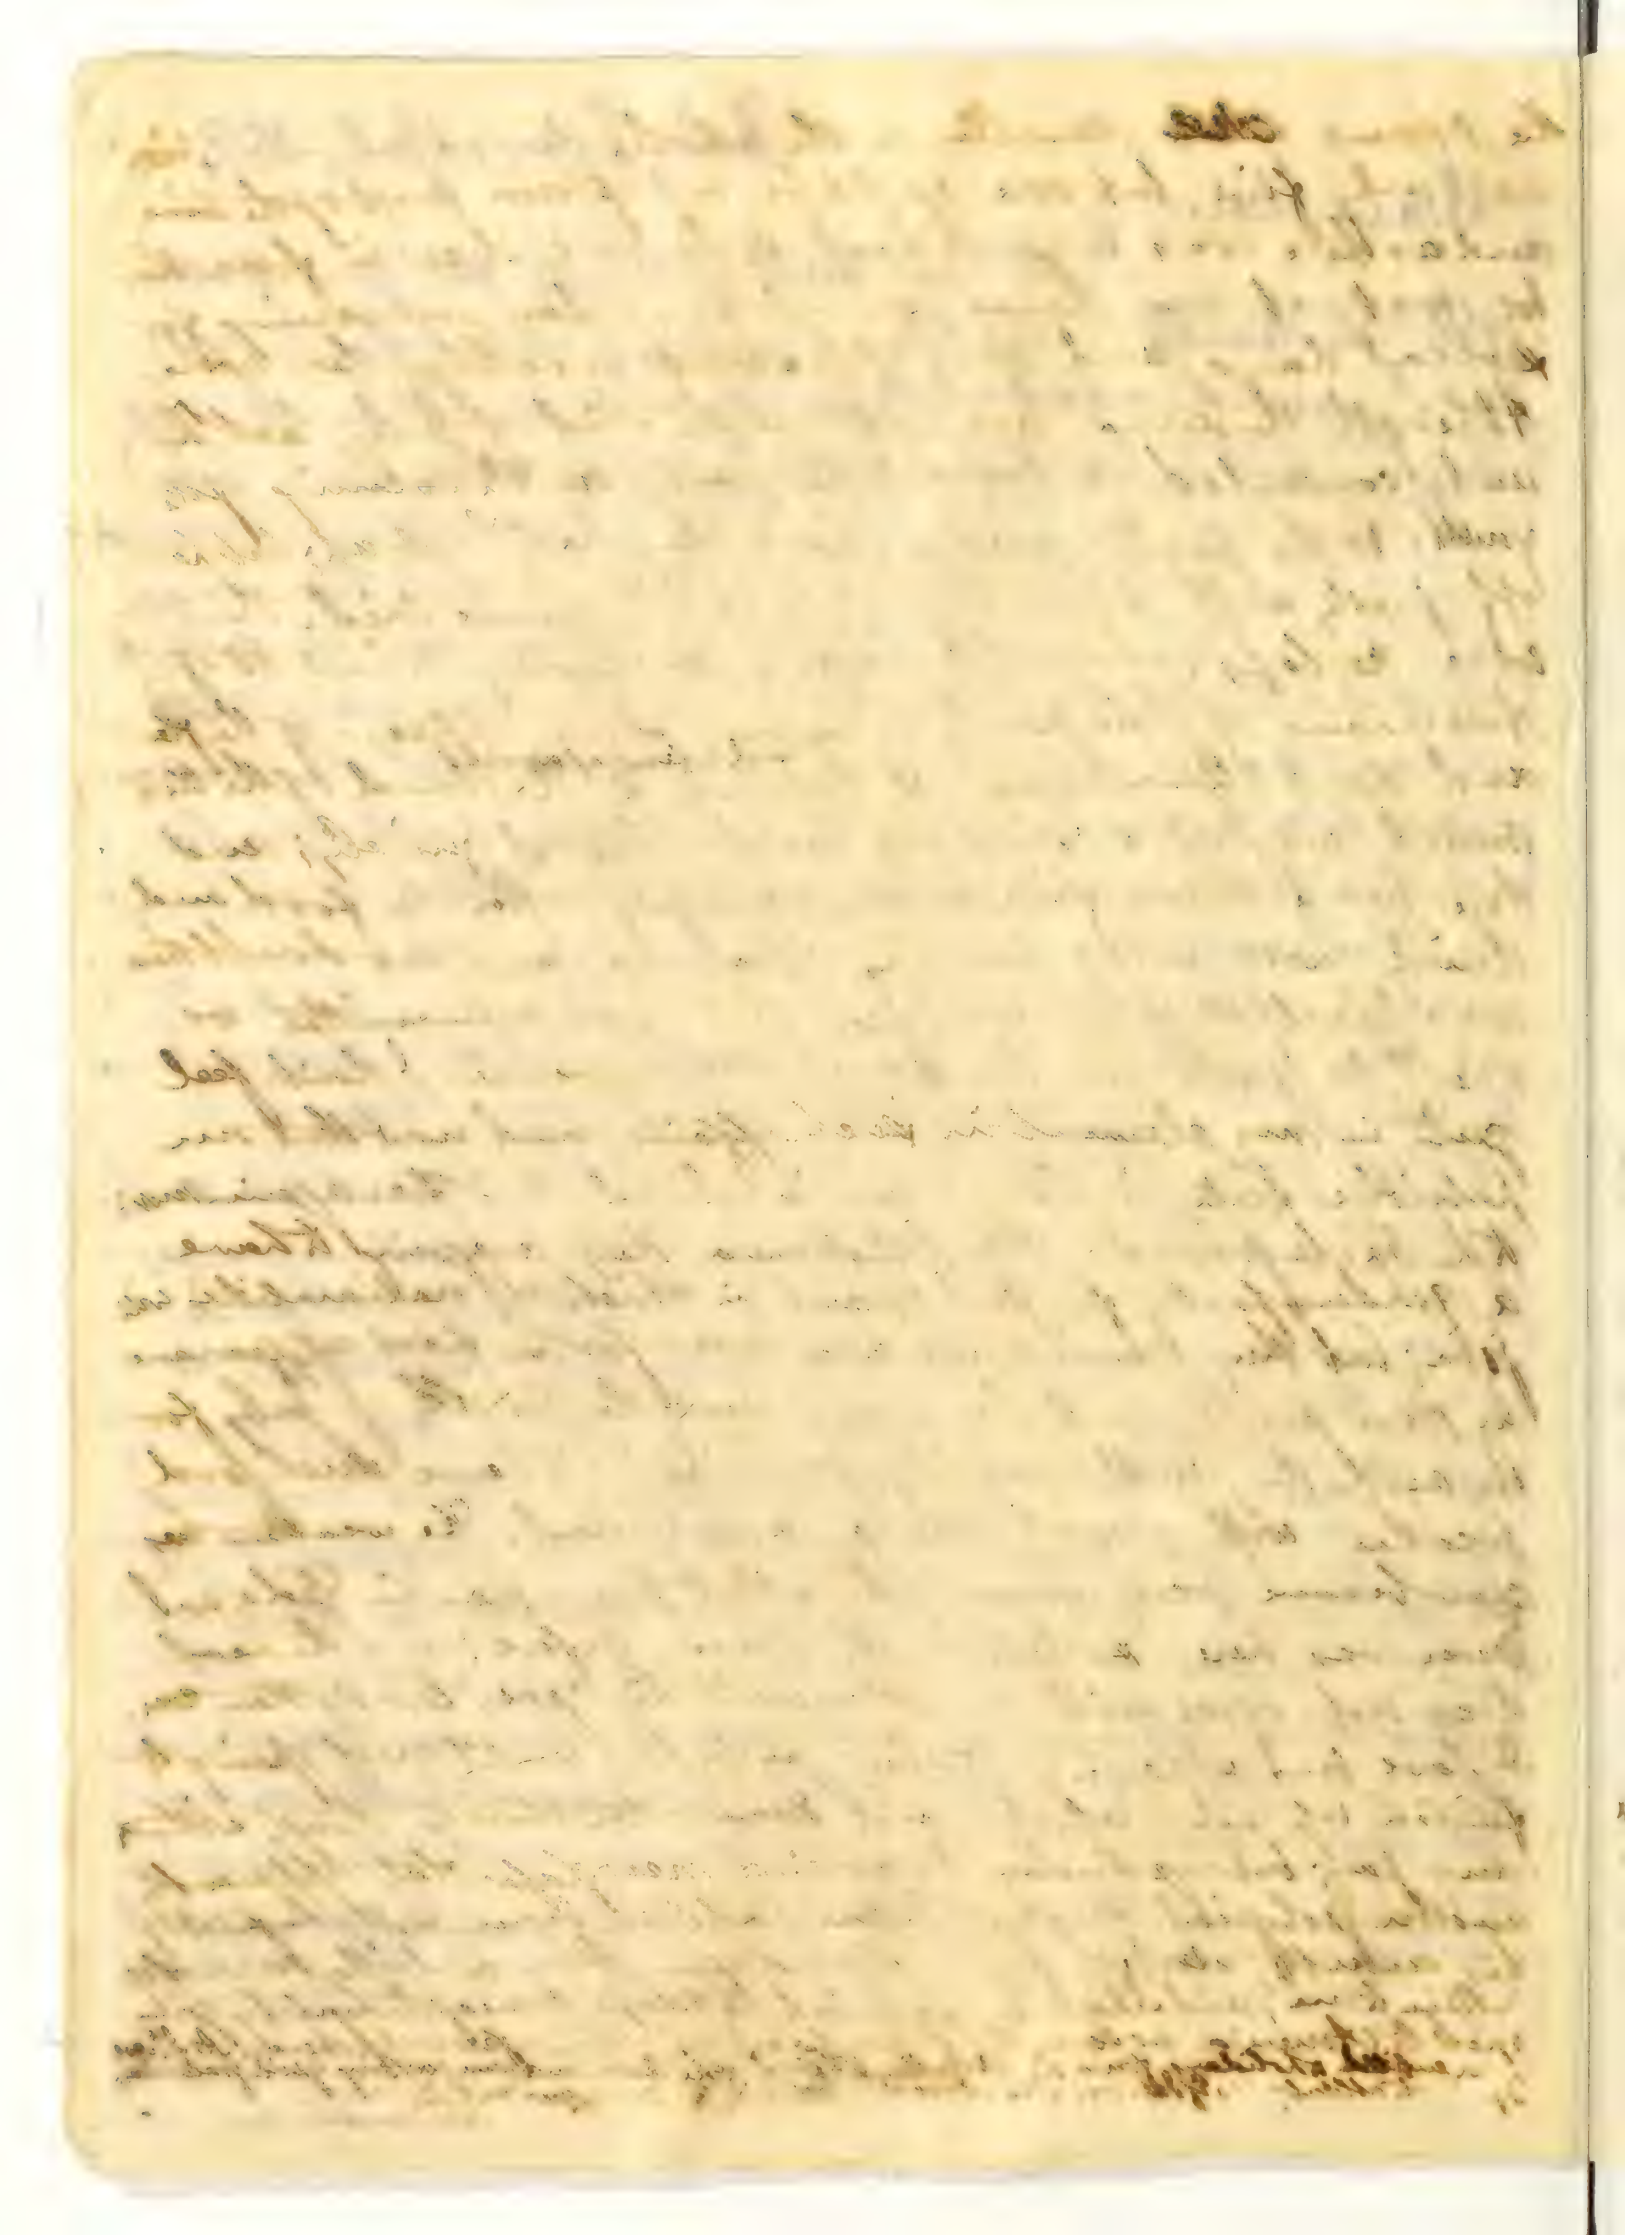


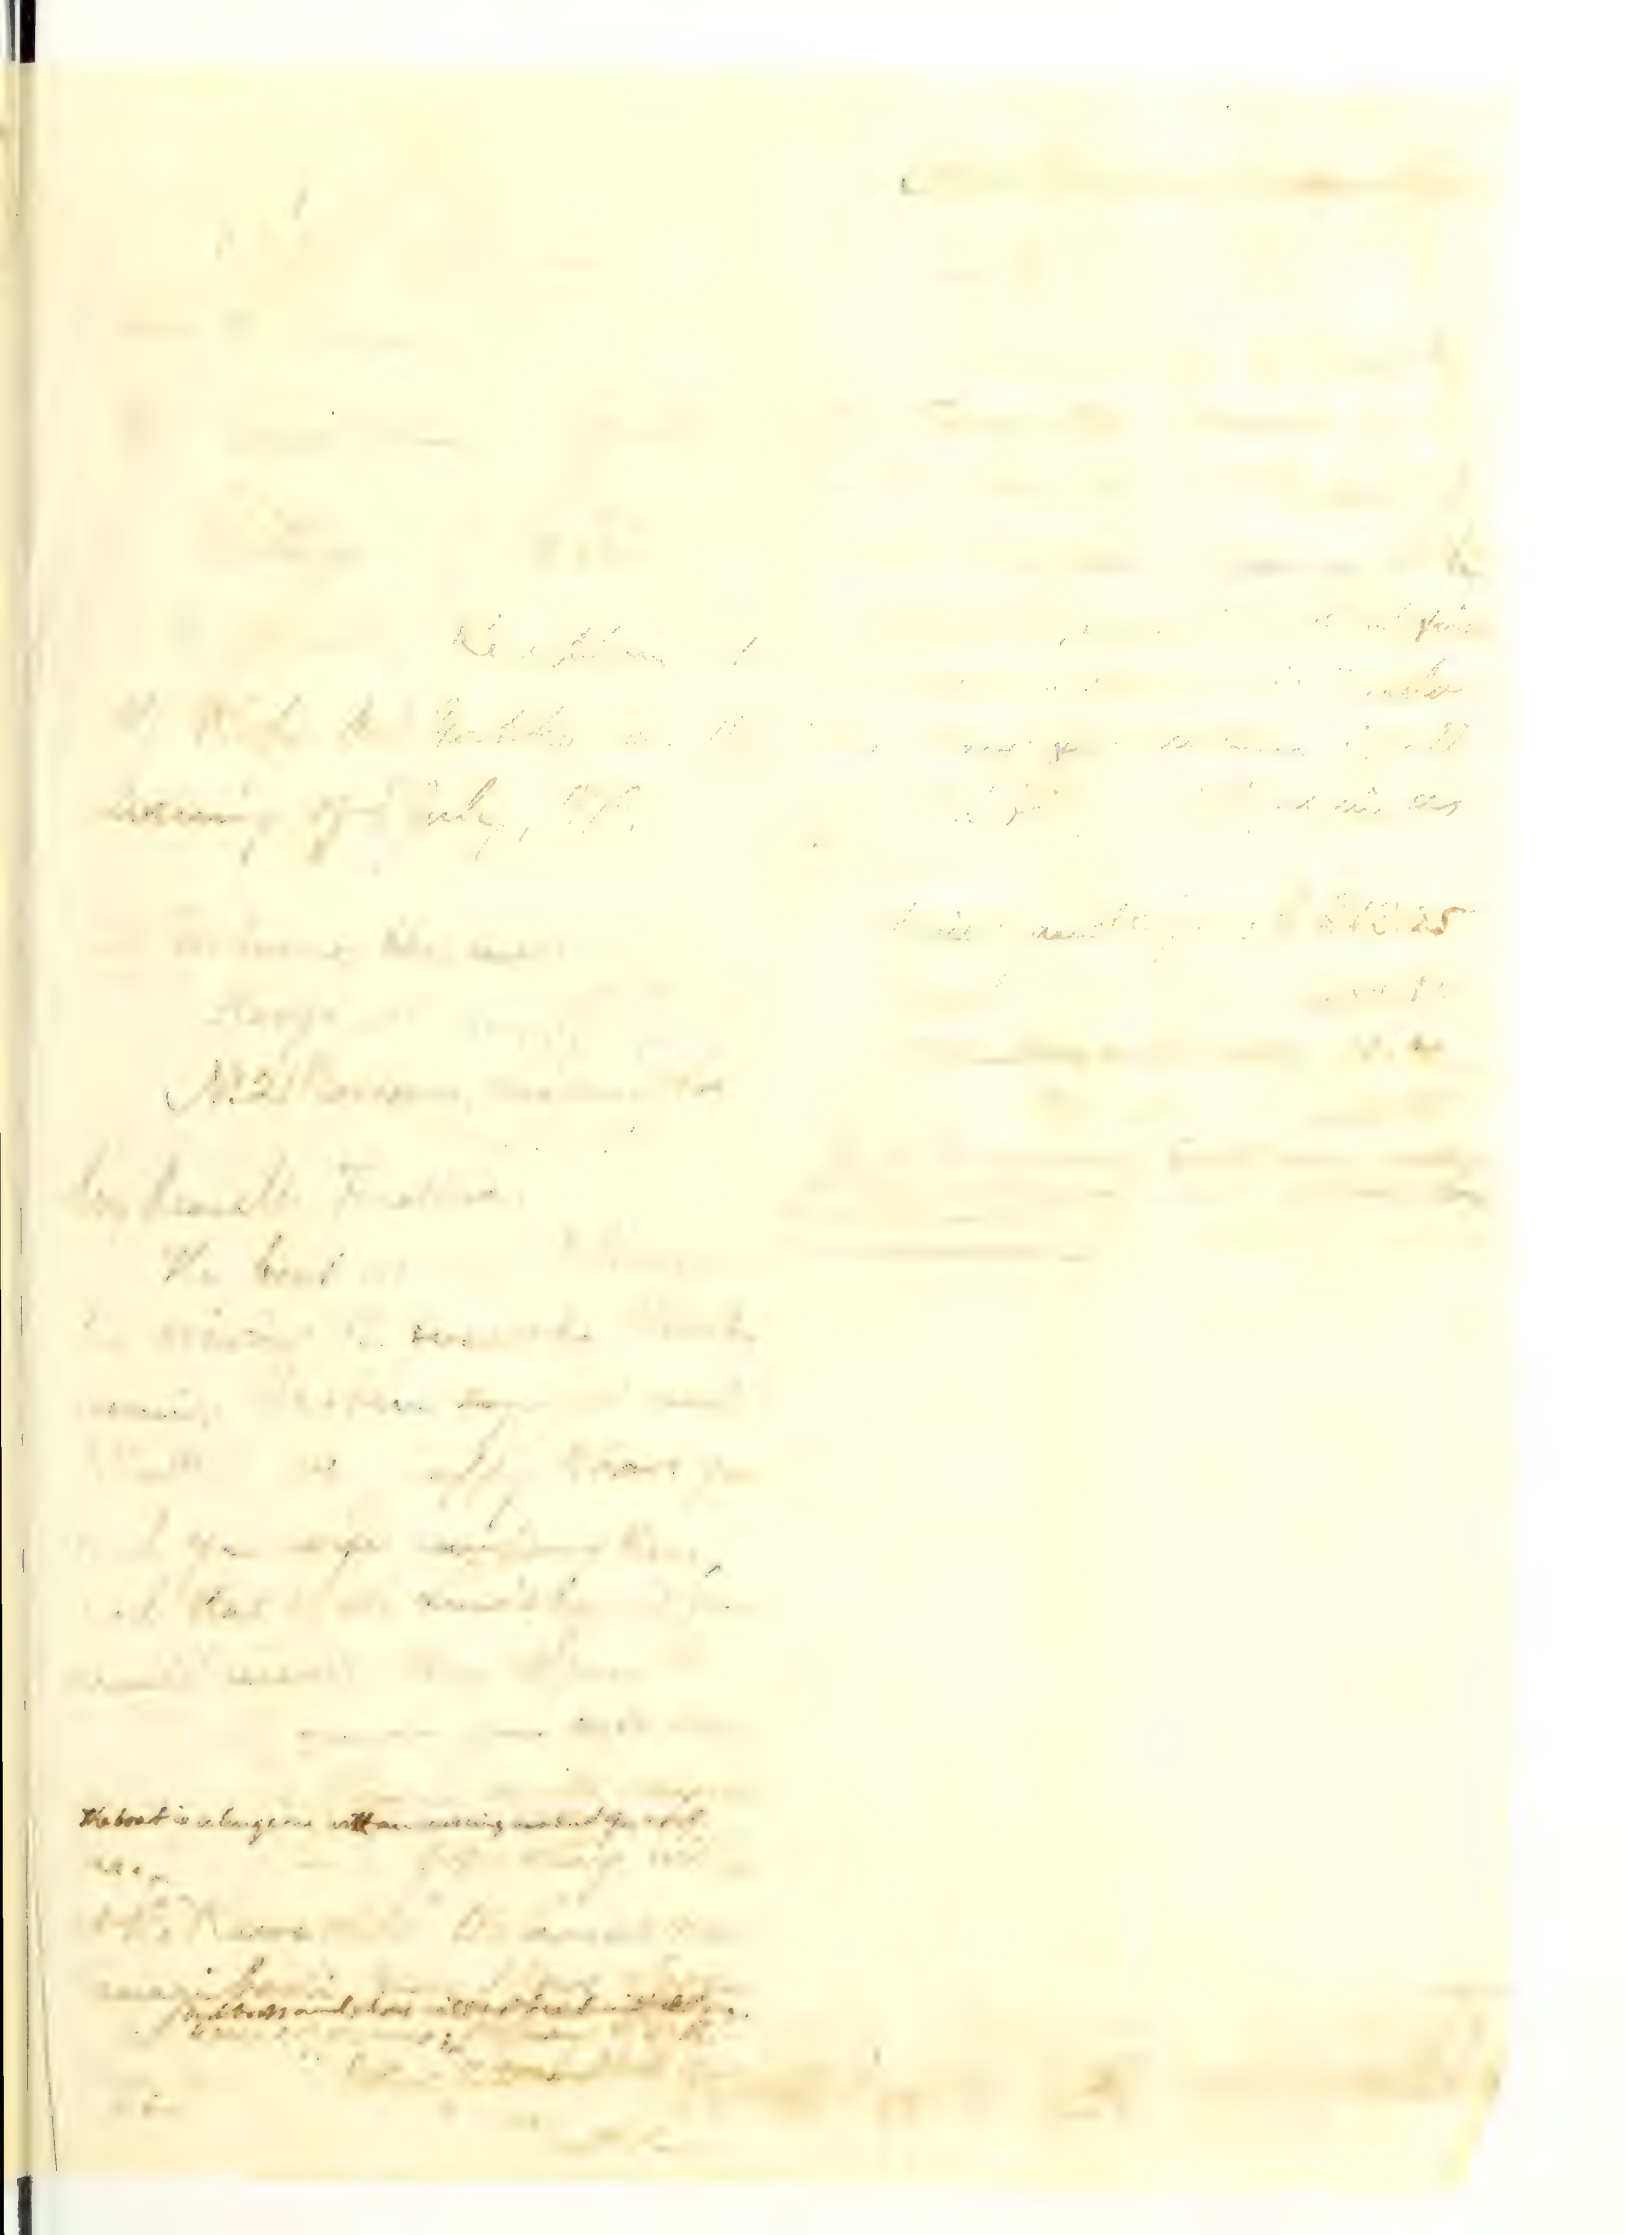


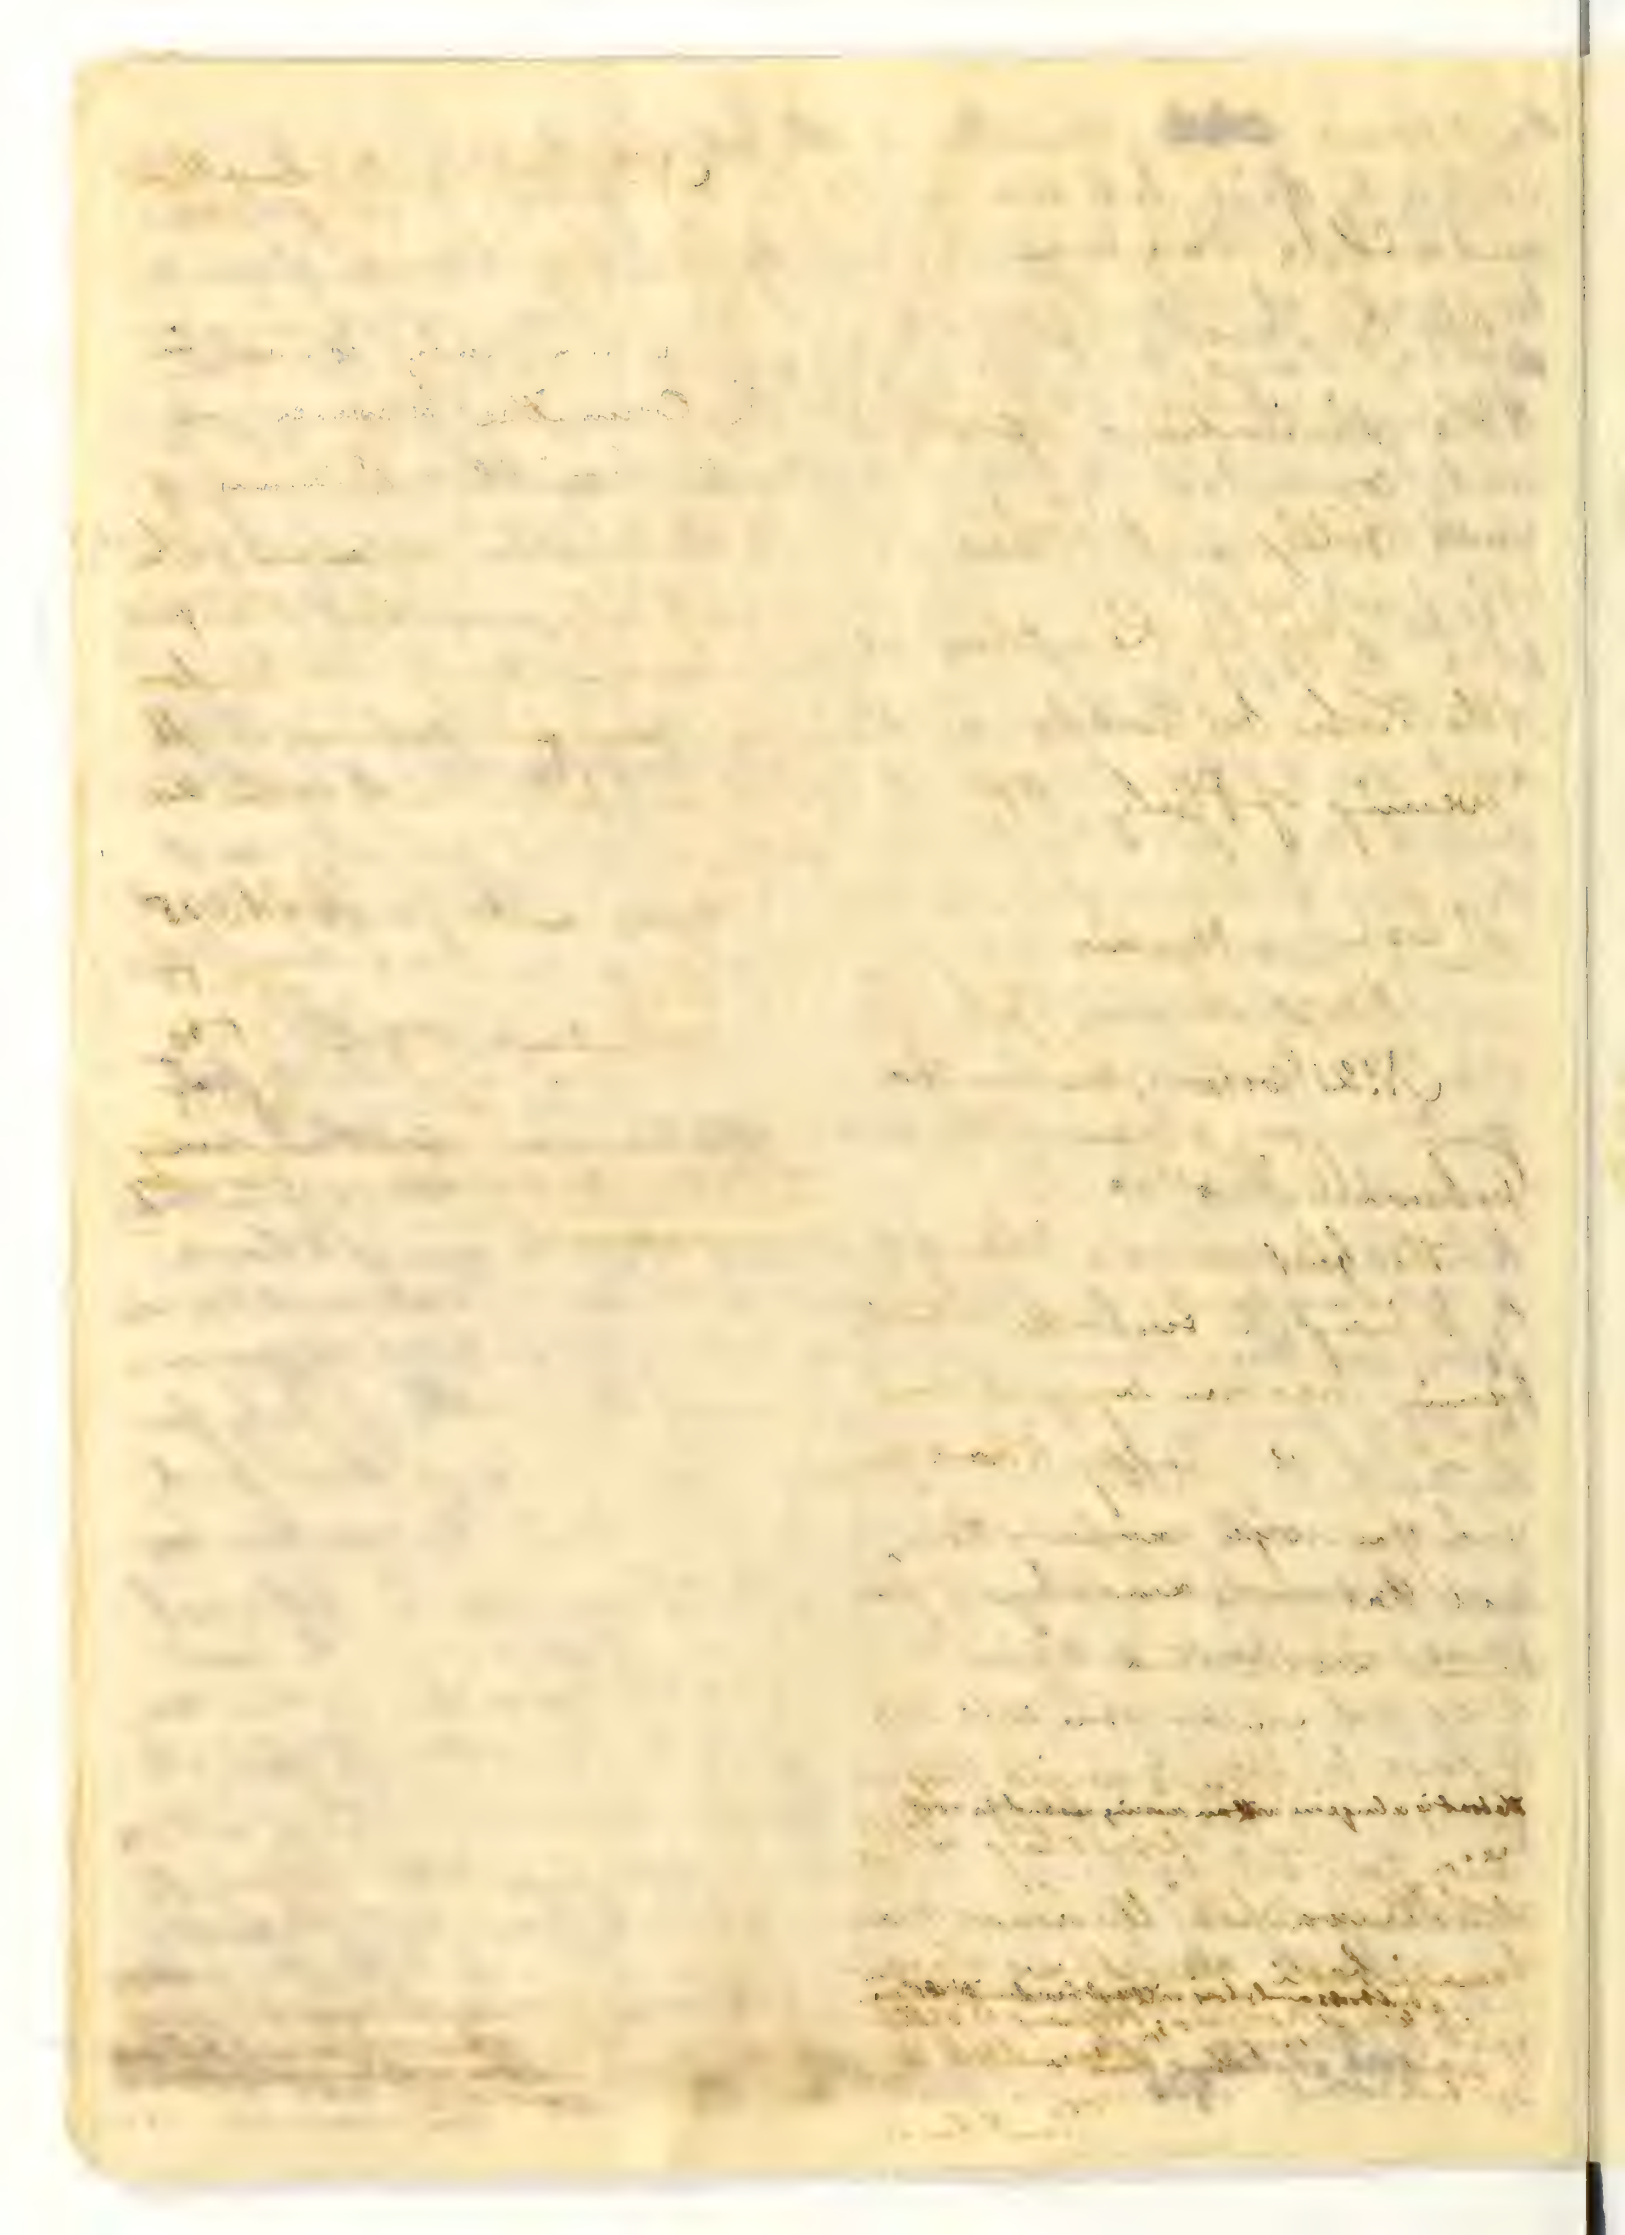


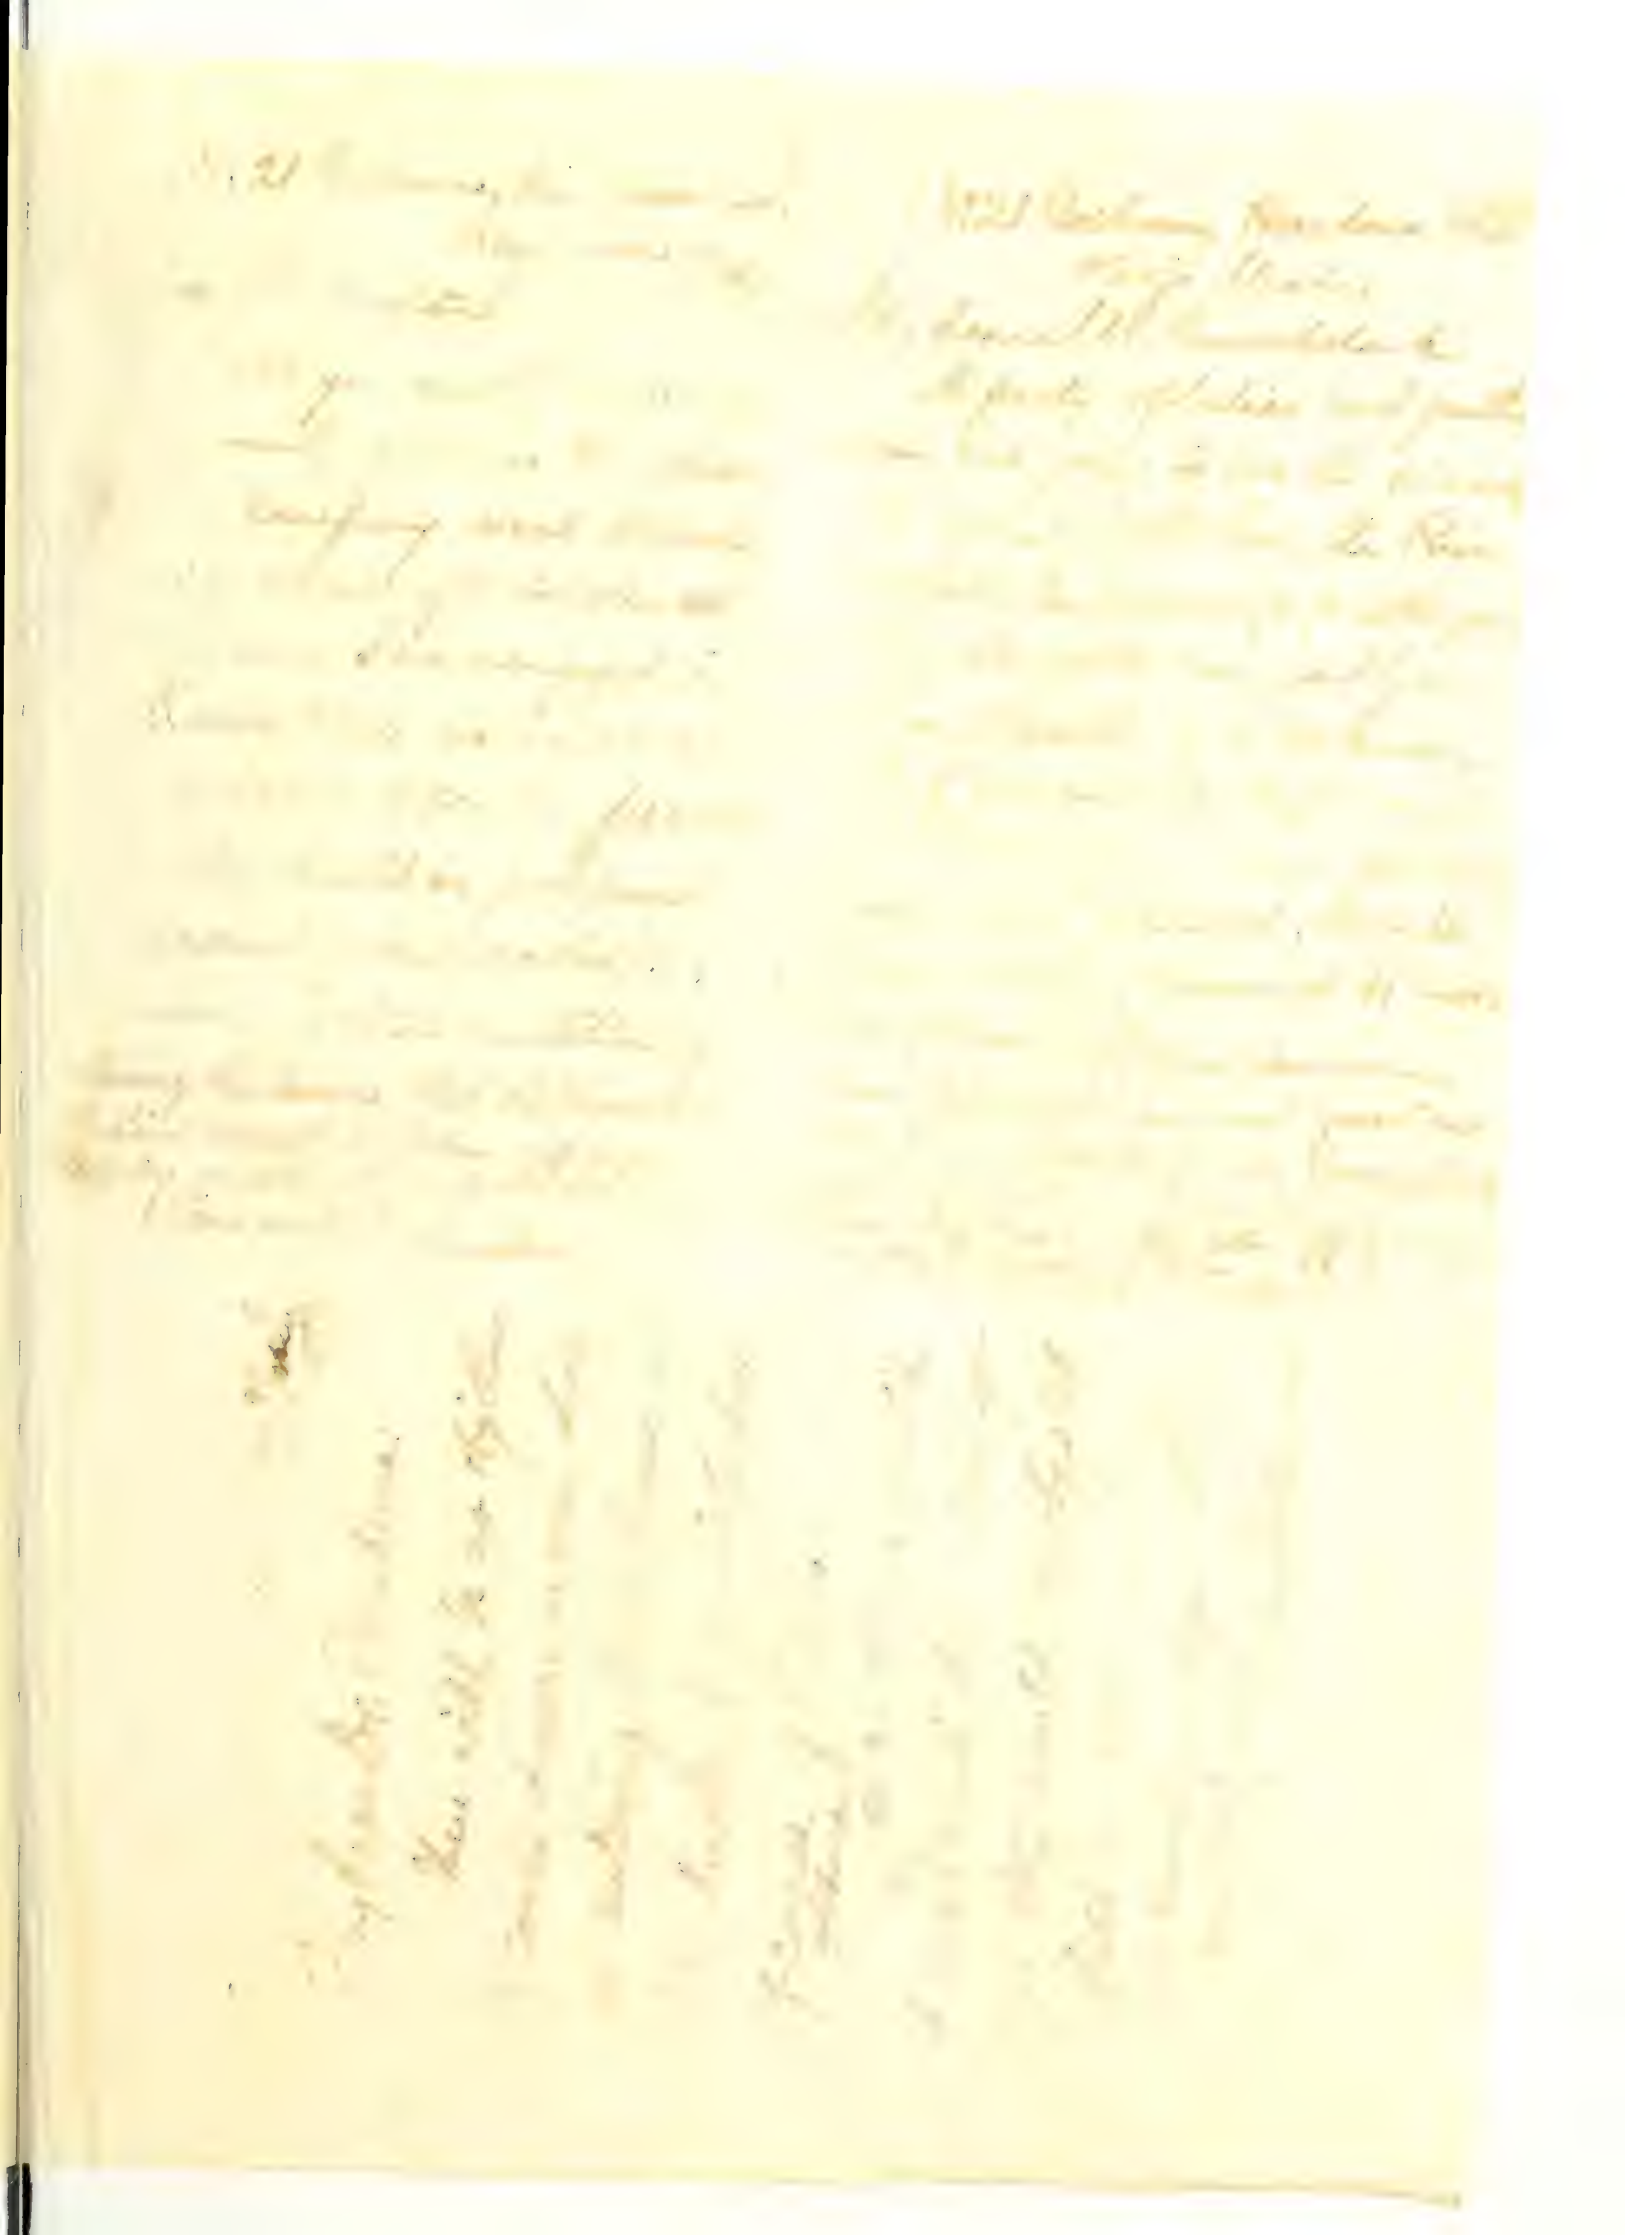


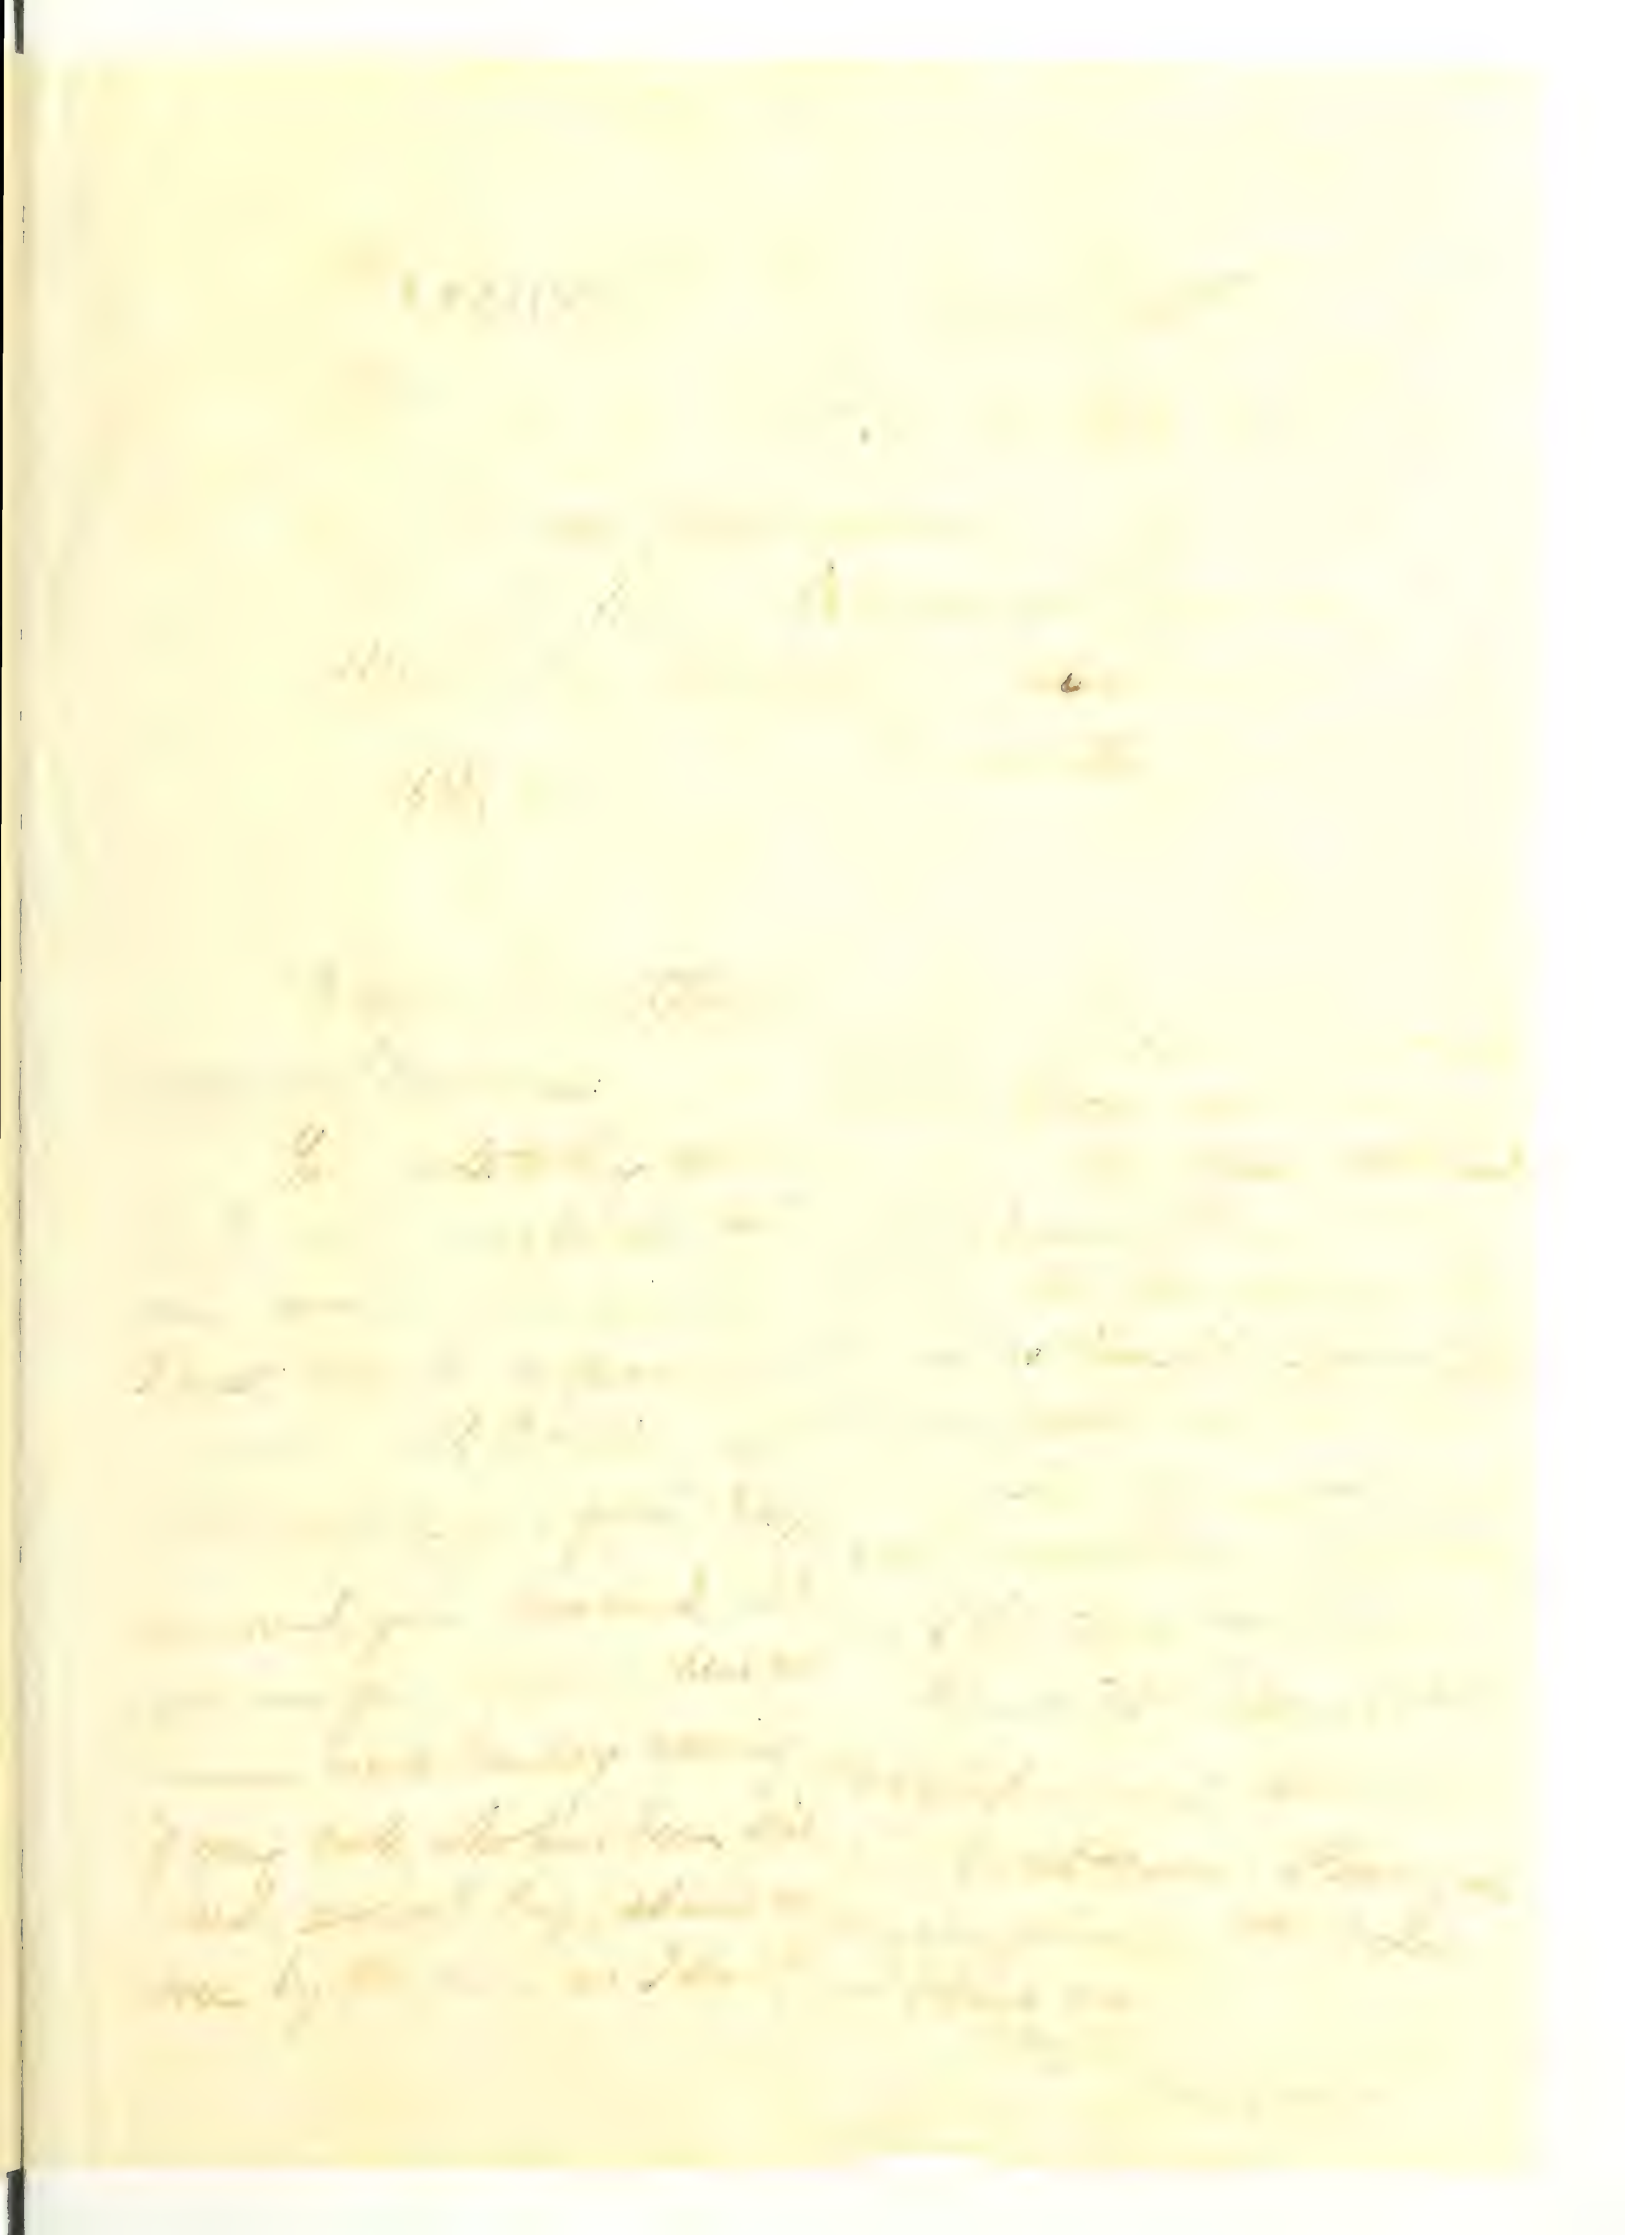


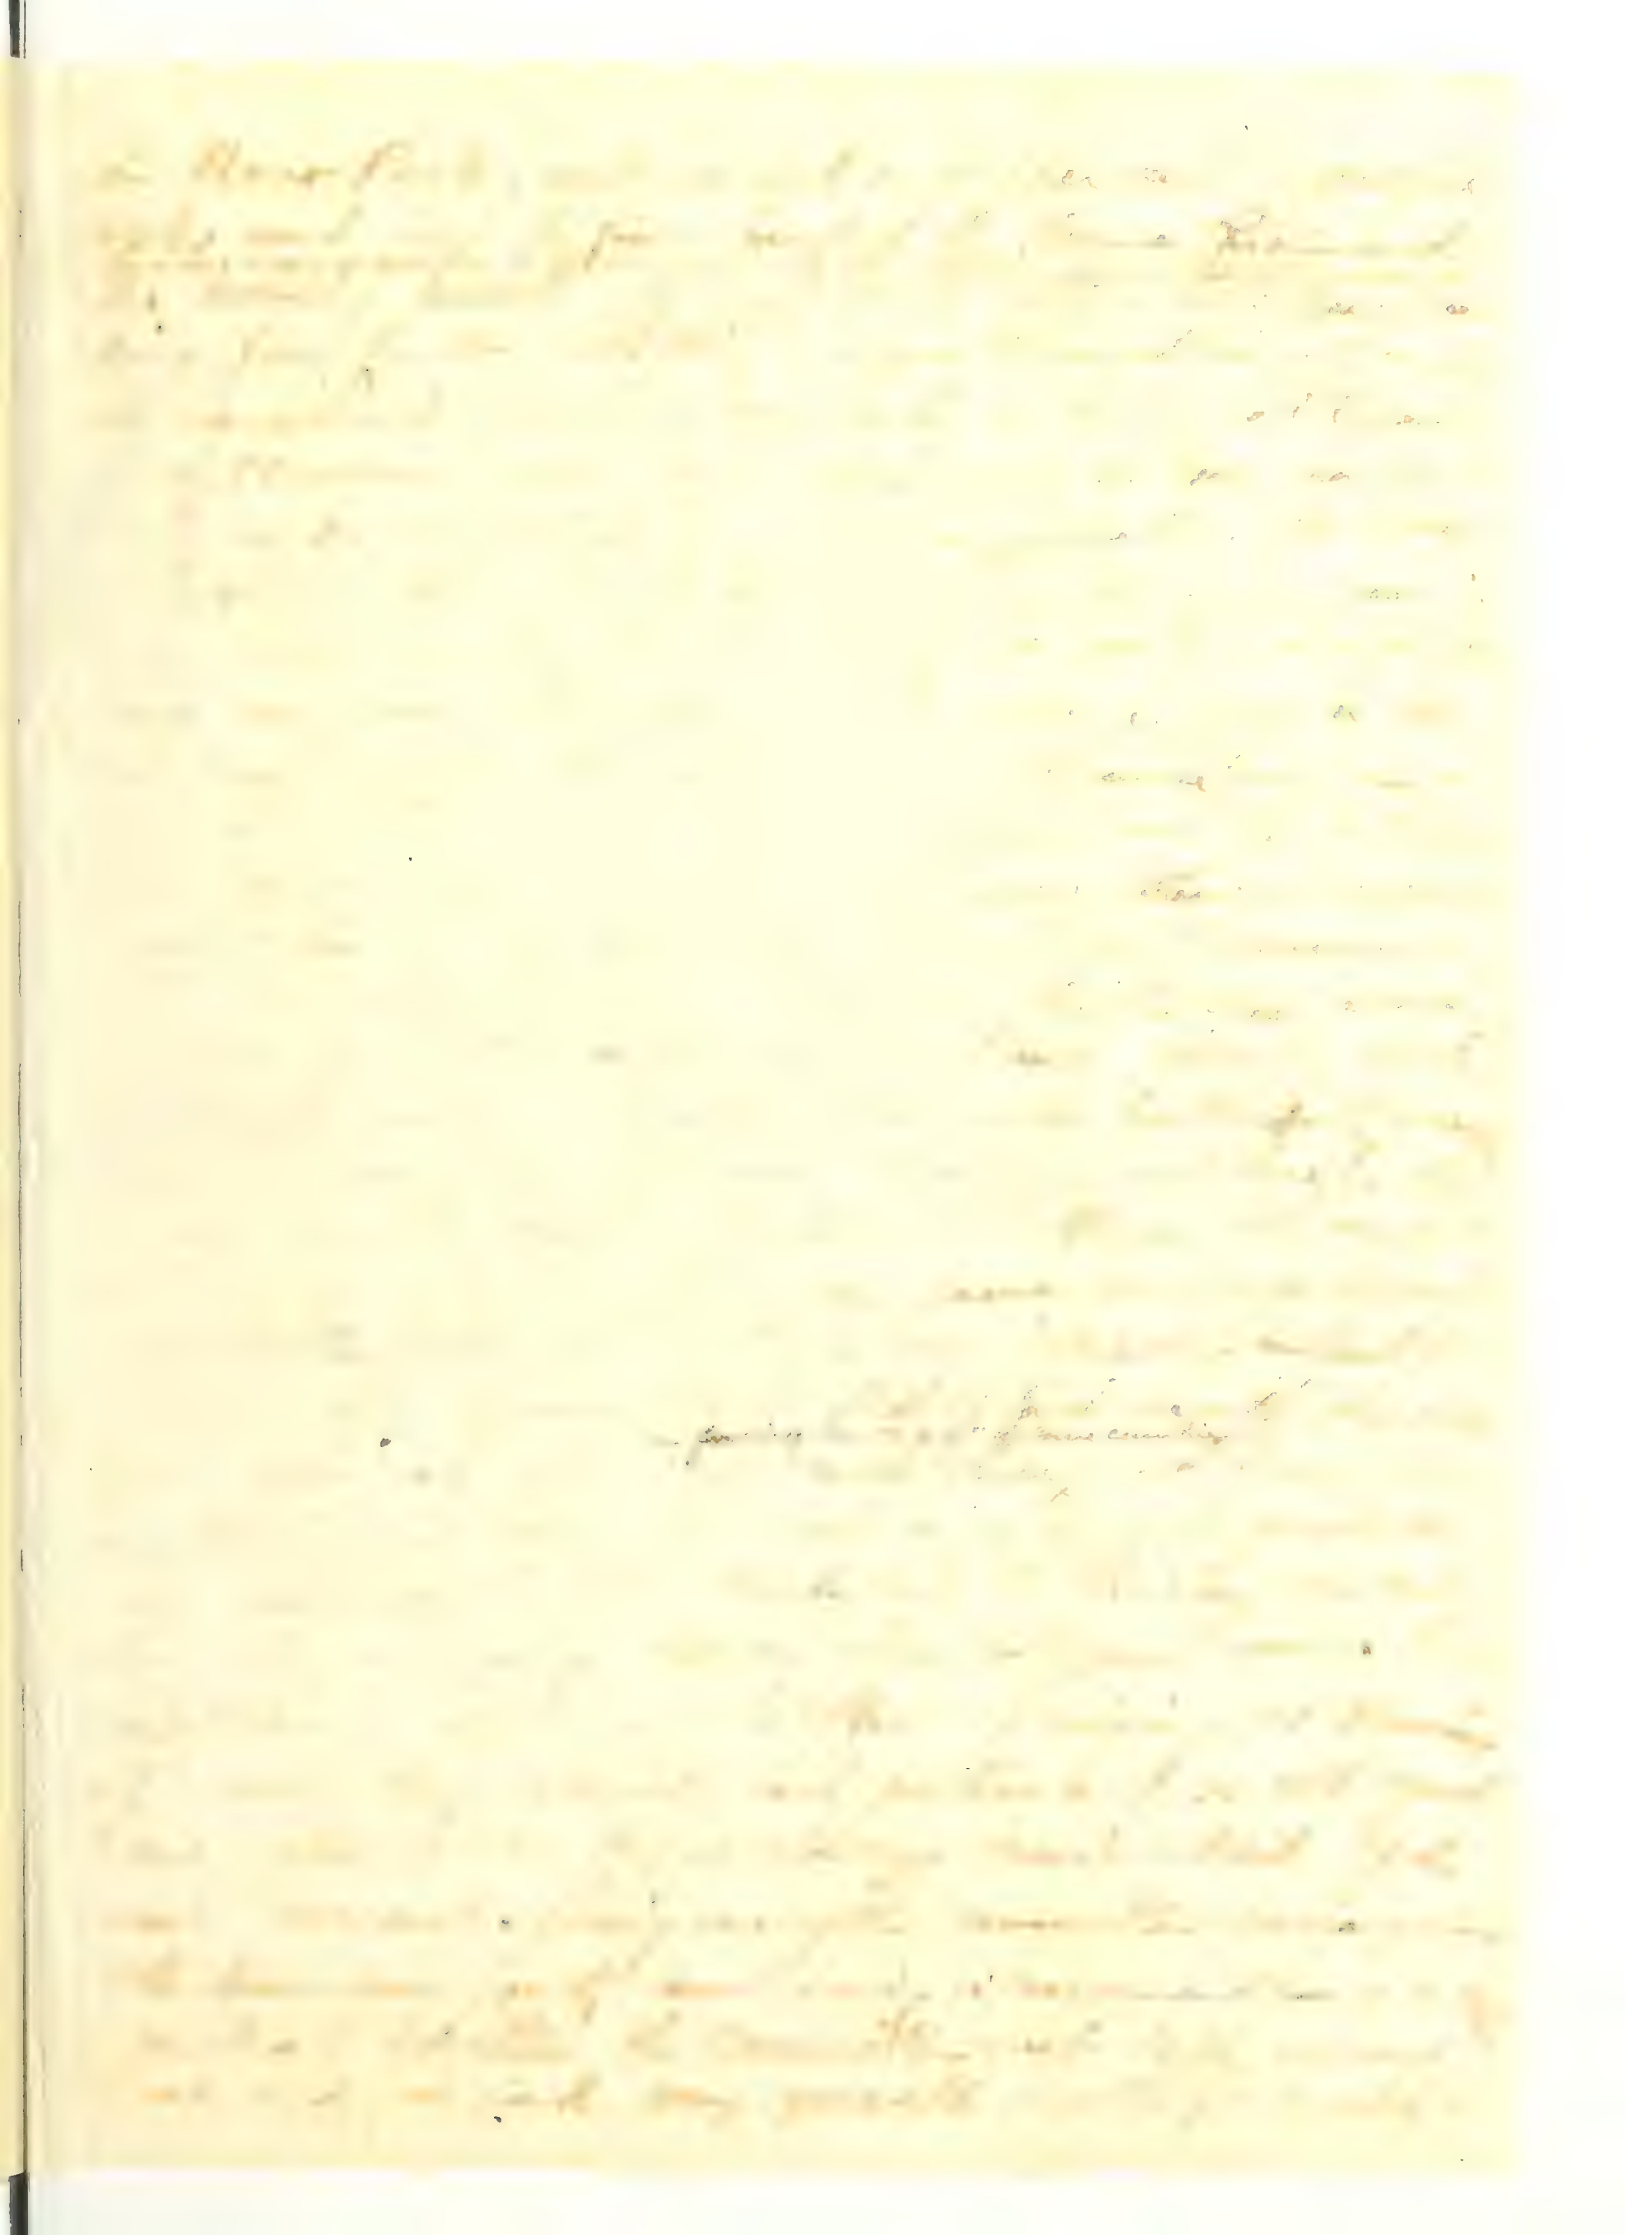


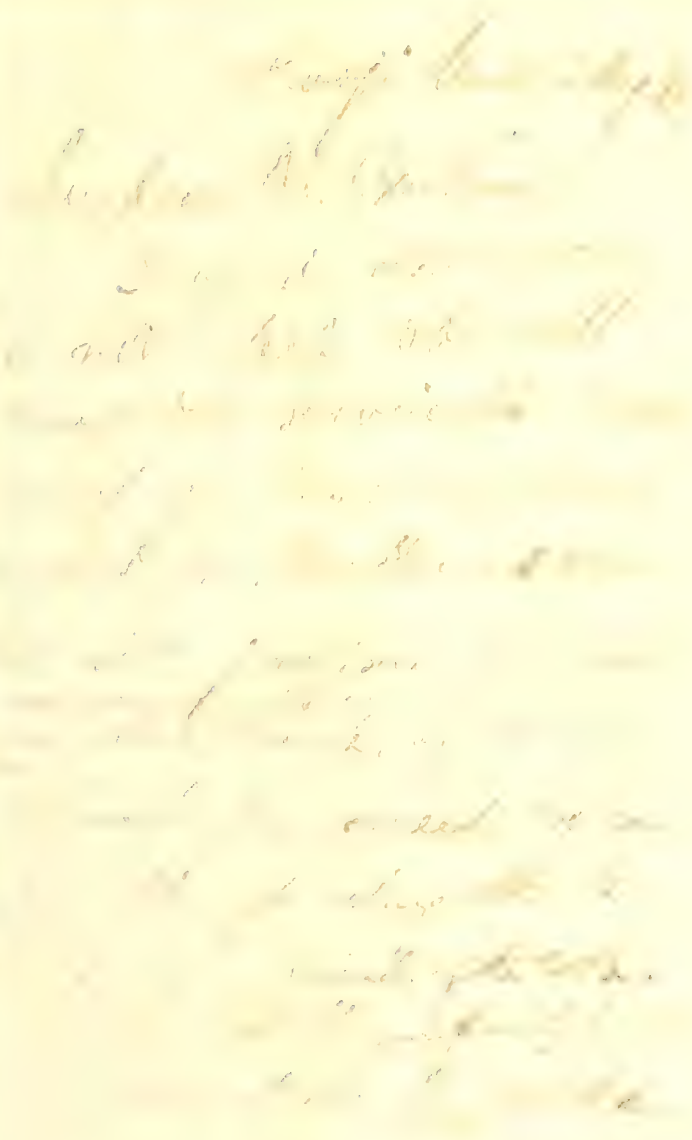


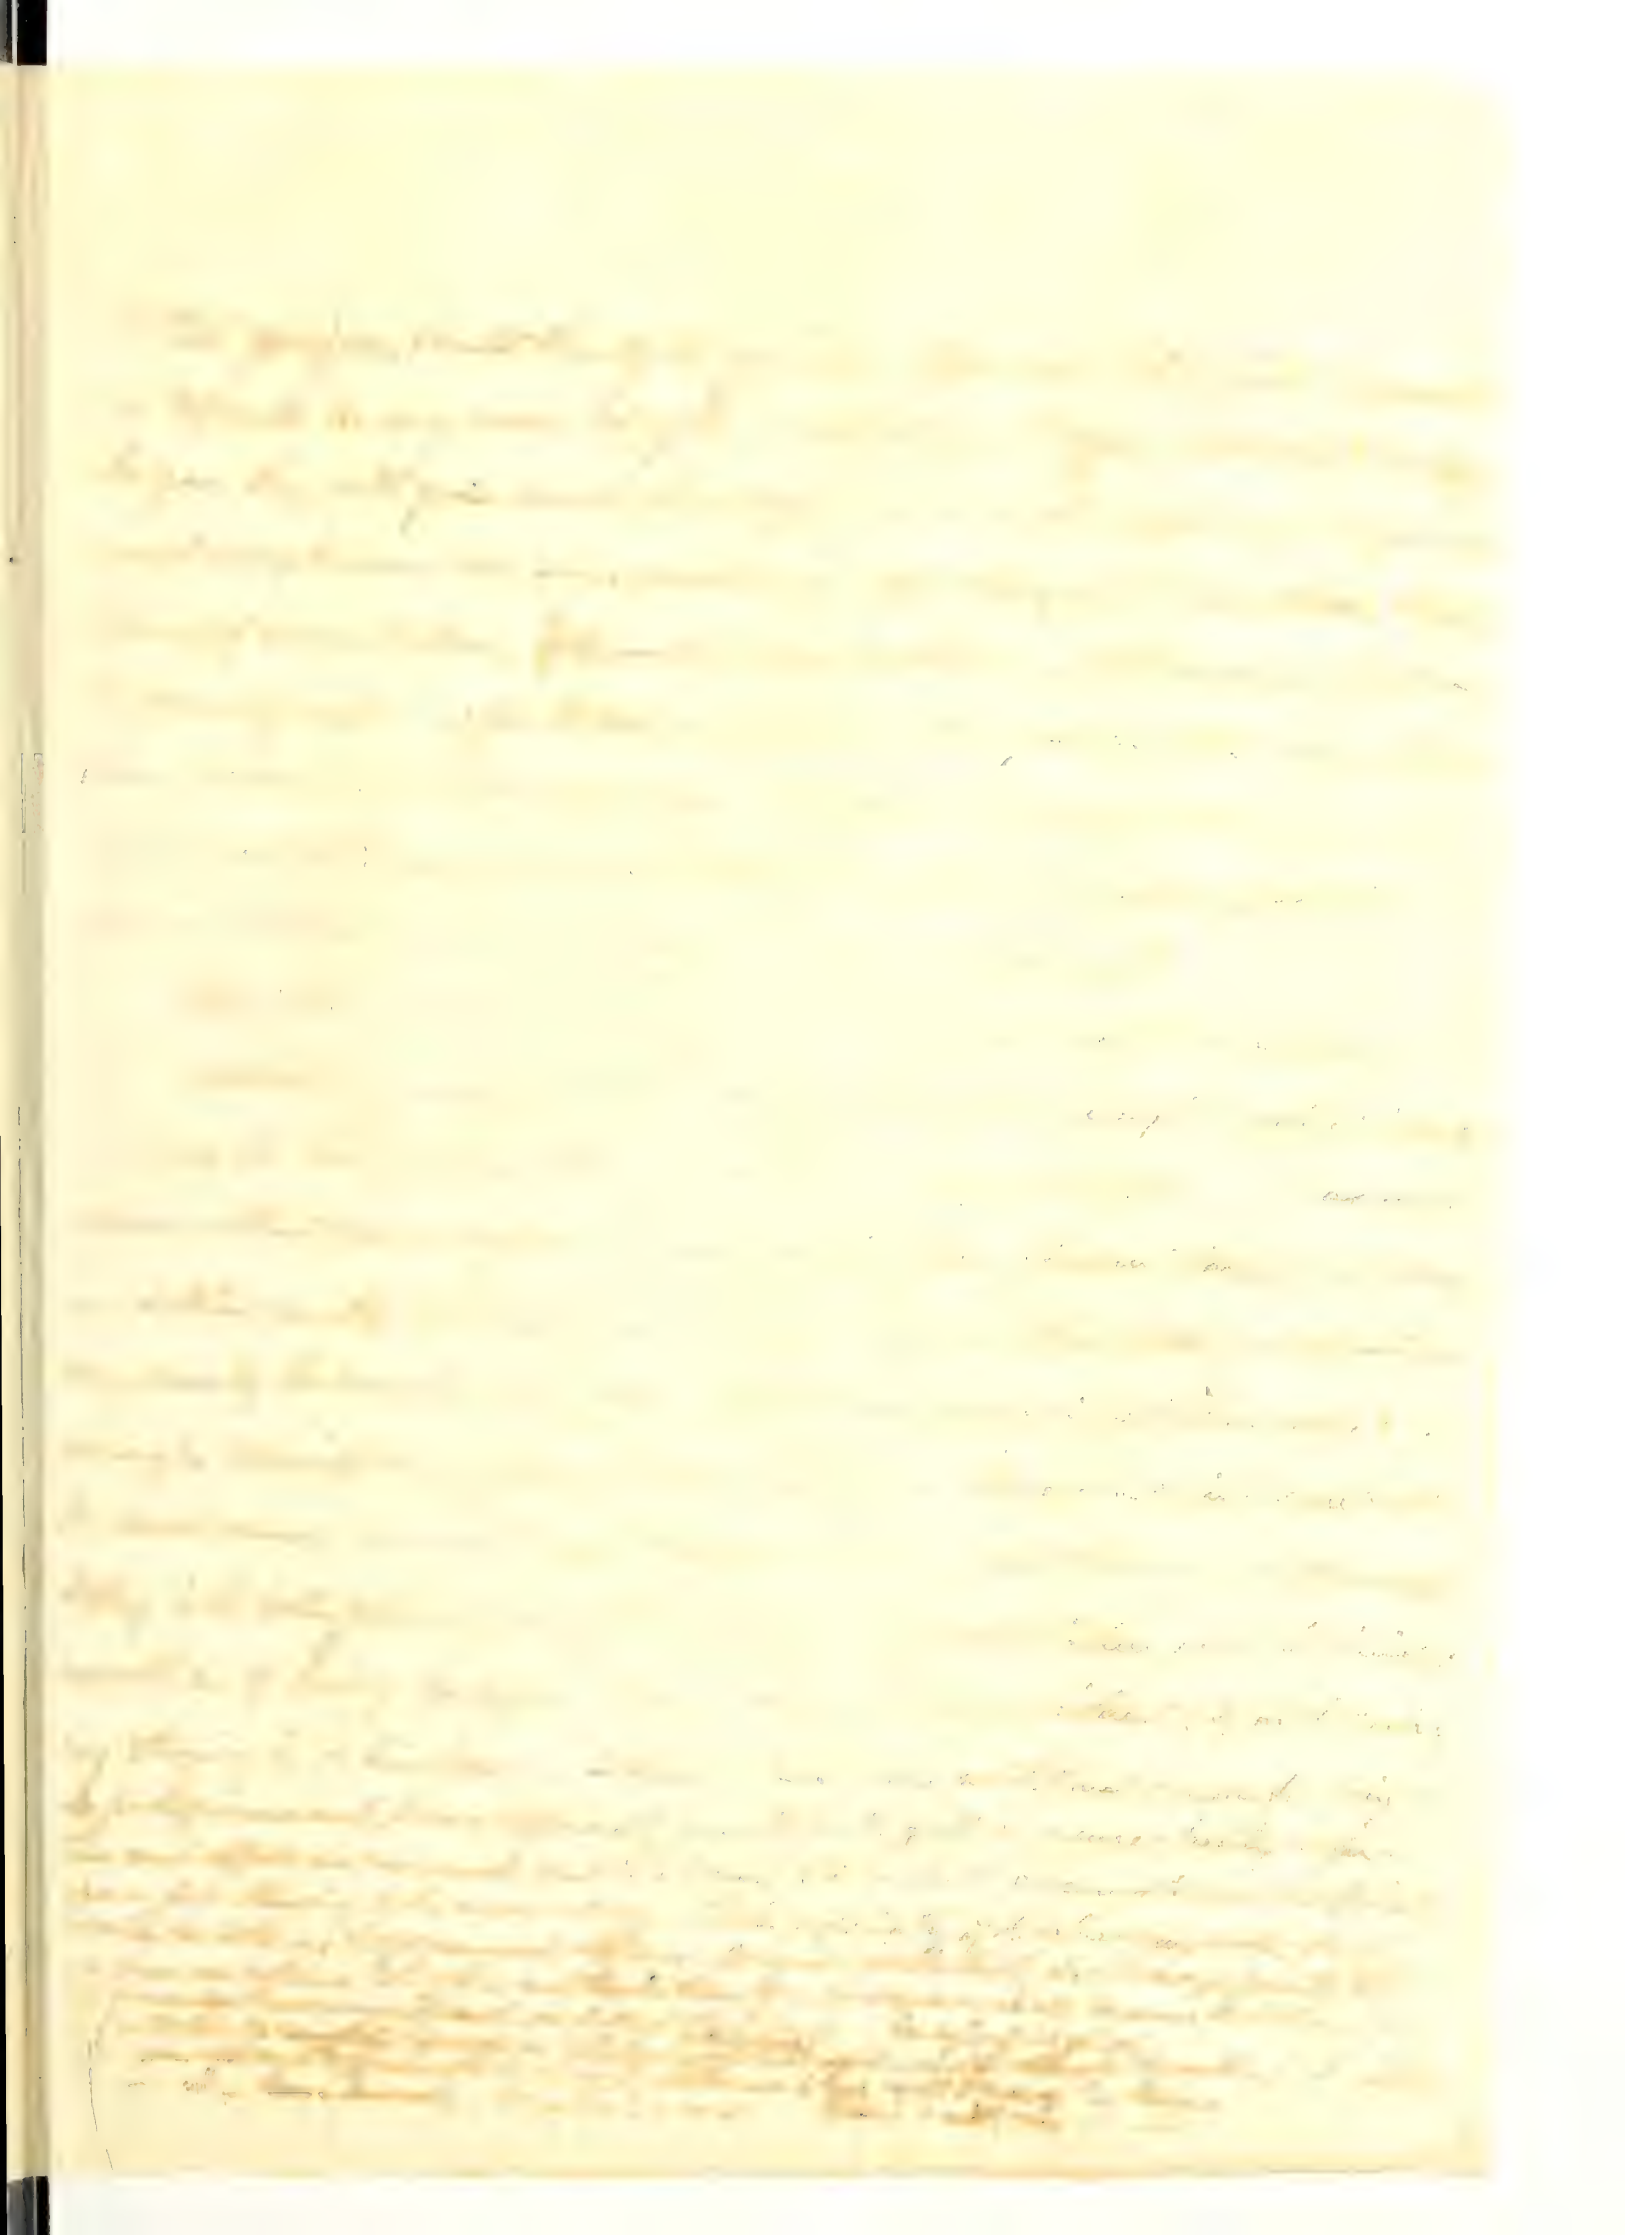












Lake Jackson, 11 Aug. 1841

My dear Mr. Channing

I have to thank you very much for your favour of the 21st ult. and with it the valuable pictures of Napoleon's Tomb &c. &c. which I have got as a present, & which I shall always consider as a very great favour conferred by you. I am glad to find that you have received safely the box of specimens which I sent you, & I hope that you will be pleased with them. I am afraid that you will find the collection a very small one, but I have been so much occupied with my duties as Surveyor, that I have had very little time to collect specimens, & I have been unable to go to any distance from home. I have however been very successful in procuring a few specimens of the Fossil Bones of the Mammoth, Mastodon, Megalonyx &c. which are found in great abundance in the Marl Beds of this State. I have sent you a few of the Bones of the Megalonyx, which I think you will find very interesting. I have also sent you a few specimens of the Fossil Bones of the Mastodon, which are very common in the Marl Beds of this State

Capt. J. Waterhouse,

No 1 Wood Street, Calcutta

Lucknow this:

I owe you many thanks for your letter of the 28th of June last; and am very glad to learn by it that it is still in your possibility if you continue through Jeypur about the end of July, for as I expect to be there then, I shall be delighted to see you and beg that I can & would you comfortable and possible to stop & carry out your project of bringing for an Engagement under the Lahore Government. I presume, you are aware that under this I would not be in your real interests, and if you would after all be hardly disposed to go. I will do, plan when you understood the circumstances better. Indeed I was greatly astonished at your bare idea, but at a distance & drawback, yet, you are known are handsomely rewarded. Under Ranjit Singh here is excellent, and I think one of the very best in the world. Perhaps he can't you to make your acquaintance all Europeans & you Calcutta like hundreds year after year, from my first little experience, like the dear most

Dear James:

I have to thank you for your favor of the twenty-ninth of July received a few days ago and extremely sorry that you should prefer [illegible] to your own family going many things [illegible] according to the proposals in my last letter; and I have [illegible] right hand and would be happy to [illegible] I shall be glad to get a letter from you [illegible] receive money for [illegible] anybody who [illegible] would merely require a man [illegible] choice, after his own fashion and [illegible] his own business and place, and [illegible] high an account for [illegible]. Perhaps you consider it [illegible] if the [illegible] unwilling to [illegible], but if it is not so, and [illegible] would [illegible] word that would if done, be [illegible] great value to the world though I might not [illegible] the same [illegible] paid for by the public, and that therefore would [illegible] not [illegible] anybody who may [illegible] give anybody [illegible]. I am also to the extent mentioned on my last to make such [illegible] gift to the world [illegible] and will [illegible] their understanding [illegible] and [illegible] times should become [illegible] with you a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] before we [illegible] you will be able to [illegible] get in a [illegible] way. Yedo, Japan, 31 Oct. 1879

My dear Miss Broadley and Bradley and Brewerton:

Now do you like that as a refined way of thanking you, according to appointment, for your very welcome letter? It is rather known for you to be told a man who has lived nearly seven years in mere hope to obtain from it any answer but under the [illegible] of a [illegible] has so much [illegible] bright, cheerful, gay, genial [illegible] as to be one [illegible]. Might I not for example, at least be allowed express surprise that a young man lodged in the bosom of a pious family should so far [illegible] his surroundings as to strive hard ahead of the parish that let his gaiety go off to Boston; that might indeed be called reverted evolution. But possibly you will say that even you have forsworn & any other course; and that's just it; you Yankees are really [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] do very seriously — that is in public, officially — the world would soon come to an end but for the help of others. But for your account of the good folks who sent you [illegible] evening (accessories included) interested me much, and I should indeed be glad to meet many of the worthy folk you speak of and refer to, would not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. It is just now not by any means impossible or not even impossible that I may [illegible] walk in one evening and tell you all about [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in your [illegible] letter; for the [illegible] seem to be really [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Yedo, Japan, Nov. 1879.

Dear Lizzy:

I am glad you like the project of driving out daily with regularity (weather permitting), and enclose herewith a draft on J. M. Law & Bro. for $100 to pay the expense with. For I have calculated that it would not cost more than that amount to hire a horse and buggy or sleigh every day of passable weather for a year. A bargain can be made for so long a time cheaper. It occurred to me that the arrangement could be made with a livery stable keeper or perhaps with some one of the farmers that live in your neighborhood, who may have a boy that could accompany me halfway; or else that possibly you might buy a steady horse and keep it at home yourself. I was in hopes of getting the address of Uncle Edward's adjustment, but it is so good a one anyway that it does not seem to matter. I have employed the old firm again. I trust you may be able to carry out the plan successfully, and the aid of this advice. I wish you had the spirited, gentle horse that I have here and that is merely "eating its head off" while my riding time a dozen times in the year. He is such an admirable creature and his groom is so remarkably honest a one that it is hard to part with them, as long as there is any possibility that they may be wanted. My time for [illegible] has been extremely taken up with guests, as the Hagues in his return from Peking [illegible]

My dear Uncle:

I have to thank you very much for yours of 22nd Sept. enclosing my account sales for the year ending with last June. I am much obliged to you for taking the trouble to invest over your balance to my favor in the Government bonds. Though I must not feel a little shocked at the low rate of interest obtainable yet. It is however a great advantage that they can be held without loss whenever there is any difficulty of using the money. But it would still be much more satisfactory, indeed, if there were some way of realizing, and I would not object to the money being tied up if safe and at good interest. Perhaps with the revival of business in a year or two we may hope for this per cent again under the new treaties.

It is possible that I may go home by the Suez Canal early in the spring, though my plan was to go round Cape Horn, at least in the first instance. I send you by this mail a copy of a pamphlet some of my reports published in Japanese.

Please give my love to Aunt, and believe me

Dear Sir,

I beg to make you acquainted with the fact of my having been baptized by the Rev. Dr. Hepburn and having received from him a letter of introduction to the Rev. Dr. Verbeck of the United States Scriptural Mission here. We have just been holding a Christian Conference and I have pleasure in telling you that many from the Province of Echizen, the capital of which is Fukui, have been baptized. Mr. Verbeck is the Missionary who has been labouring there for the last 10 years. He has translated the Bible into Japanese and has established a Church there. Mr. Yokoi, a Samurai of high rank, is the Pastor of the Church. Mr. Yokoi was formerly a Confucian scholar and is now a most zealous and earnest Christian. He has also translated many Christian books into Japanese. Mr. Yokoi has been appointed Governor of the Province of Echizen by the Japanese Government.

Your unworthy correspondent has not had the privilege of seeing you or receiving a letter from you nearly a year ago, and has ever since hoped for a reply, thinking conscious that he in previous replies expected will obtain blame.

If you should see Babu Keshub Chunder Sen, please remember me to him. I have also a few Christian books, both in English and Japanese, which I have lately sent me a present of. Please let me know if you would like to have any of them.

Dear Mary:

I have to thank you very much for your favour of the 27th ult. which I duly received, and which was very welcome indeed. I am very glad to hear that you are all well, and that you have had such a fine season. We have had very fine weather since the middle of October, and I have had a very pleasant time of it. I have been very busy, and have had a great deal to do, but I have enjoyed myself very much. I have been to Nikko, and have had a very pleasant time there. I have been to the temples, and have seen the tombs of the Shoguns, and have had a very pleasant time there. I have been to the theatre, and have seen the Japanese plays, and have had a very pleasant time there. I have been to the tea-houses, and have had a very pleasant time there. I have been to the geisha houses, and have had a very pleasant time there. I have been to the bathing houses, and have had a very pleasant time there. My dear Miss Brown,

Lido, Saipan, 2 June 1880.

My dear Miss. Sanborn:

I have to thank you very much for a very welcome favor of 30 ult. lately received, & for interesting particulars & tokens in regard to your self and Concord friends. I have just enjoyed my first visit to Concord, which was pronounced by those who have been friendly & hospitable enough to invite me, a delightful & charming & instructive place to live. Quite an unexpected delight was [illegible] a visit to [illegible] & the interesting [illegible] you had appointed for that same [illegible] indeed, you were among the number of kind friends whom I found at the residence of Mrs. Hosmer & her mother, Mrs. Hubbard & the bright young children. I hope you will have an opportunity to meet them, & I feel sure you will find Mrs. Hosmer & her mother charming ladies, & I am glad to give you this assurance of their kindness, & of their hospitality to the people in a social way. The flowers & the shrubs & trees & fields were loaded in the sun yesterday near your home as in Concord, & the immense distance of this country (and [illegible] of America) from Europe & the Old World seems [illegible] like the Puritan roof in the wilderness, with little [illegible] or no means of communication with [illegible] [illegible] & friends & home, nothing [illegible] Nature or of the [illegible] where they are to be found, but of the wonderful [illegible]
[illegible] & rich load of [illegible] & [illegible] & [illegible] [illegible] will occupy the best [illegible] of the land that has been [illegible] meant & to be used in Western Countries, & [illegible]
[illegible] or two in a family, [illegible] & the [illegible]
[illegible] the insane desire that seems to have possessed [illegible]
[illegible] your dwelling in a suburb [illegible]

Dear James:

I have to thank you for your favor of seventeenth of last month; and send you herewith the pass bill of lading for case shipped by the Steamer [illegible] for fifty dollars which I trust will arrive in time. I am sorry to say that the idea of repairing the Steamer will be given up. The Steamer will be sold by auction on the 15th inst. I should be glad to receive a monthly report, writing by this mail. In the meantime I will make such arrangements as I can for the sale of the steamer, but in order to do away with irregularities as well as inconvenience, that may arise from my unexpected leaving for home by this mail, I thought it would be a good plan if you would kindly & take charge of the steamer for me. A. & W. remitting the regular monthly payments as soon as they can. I should like to know if you would prefer that I should draw a bill on you for the amount, or would you prefer that I should write a letter to A. & W. requesting them to pay you the amount. I am afraid they may not do so unless I write a letter to them, therefore I think it would be better for me to draw a bill on you for the amount. I am very much obliged for your kind invitation to stay with you, but there must be some great misunderstanding in regard to my intention, when you think that I should decline to stay with you. I had not declined to stay with you, but I had written to say that I would be glad to stay with you if you would allow me to pay you for my board and lodging. I am afraid that I shall not be able to stay with you for more than a few days, as I have to go to Nagasaki to see about the sale of the steamer, and I shall have to go to Kobe to see about the sale of the steamer there. I shall be glad to stay with you for a few days, but I shall not be able to stay with you for more than a few days.

My dear Charles

I have to thank you for your favor of the eleventh ult. with the enclosed bill of exchange which I have duly received and which I have placed to your credit. I am glad to find that you have been so successful in your investments and I hope that you will continue to be so. I have been extremely surprised to learn from your letter that you should have entered into the speculation that you have in stocks. I had supposed that you were perfectly satisfied with the investments you have already made for me and that you would not wish to make any more. I have indeed felt very much obliged to you for your kindness in attending to my affairs and have never for an instant doubted that you were managing them with the same care as if they were your own. I had supposed that you would not undertake any thing for yourself, nor suppose that any thing else could be done. Possibly the misunderstanding may have arisen from the bungling way in which I have tried to tell you of the fact that the profit of an investment for me is a little different from that of one for yourself; for my case is more like that of an invalid lady who has no great capital & small income and to whom consequently a small pecuniary misfortune would be ruinous. I could well keep track of the stock market so as to sell out and reinvest at any moment, but who needs to have very little indeed accessible in cash, and is not troubled by having money lying idle while an investment is waiting to be converted again into cash at a moments notice, especially if by such an inconvenience, profit in the market or better rate of interest may be obtained.

But I have to congratulate you on your recent success in all such business cares, and hope that you and Mrs Lyman are enjoying the utmost your European trip. Mrs Iver

Dear Mary:

Your favor of the first of December has come to hand, and I am glad to learn that you are well. Perhaps you may have received my letter written from Nagasaki, which I sent by the steamer of the 20th ult. I would not tell, however, if it would be in time to catch the mail. I have received a letter from the government, written in reminder that I had no right to ride about the foreign concession, and according to that edict we are now confined to Yedo and the suburbs of Yedo where foreigners are allowed to live, which is about two miles and a half or less from my residence. The Prince that have slept here since I arrived are the first that have slept here since the 22nd of last month. I have a friend in Yokohama named Morgan, who has been in Japan for many years, and is the Chief Clerk of the house of Walsh, Hall & Co. He has a wife and child there, and I expect to go down there to-morrow and stay a few days. I have been very much confined to my lodgings for some time past, and I am not allowed to go out of the city, and I take all my meals at an American restaurant, and everything is very dear. The Japanese government is very unwilling to allow the foreigners to have any intercourse with the people, and I am afraid that we shall have to leave Yedo in the course of a few months. I am very much afraid that we shall have to leave Yedo in the course of a few months. I am very much afraid that we shall have to leave Yedo in the course of a few months. I am very much

It may be no thunder to you when you receive this, but I cannot help writing a few lines by way of a return for your delightful letter of the 2nd inst. Your letter was a welcome sight to me, for I had begun to think that you had forgotten me entirely. I was very glad to hear that you were all well, and that you had had such a pleasant visit from Mr. Hall. I am sorry that I was not there to see him, for I should have enjoyed a visit from him very much. I have not been to Stockton since I left there, but I expect to go down there in a few days. I have been very busy ever since I came up here, and have had no time to spare. I have been working on the ranch, and have had a number of men to board, which has kept me very busy. Sir:

The last mail brought me two copies of the circular December 11 which you addressed me, asking for two copies of my pamphlets in the Yedo of Japan, and, I must ask to obtain for you the public works that must now consist of the three that is published, and I herewith two of each as well as two of the general Report on the Geology of Yezo with three maps. As soon as it shall possible to get copies of the pamphlets on the Geology of Yezo they shall be sent to you with the twelve maps that accompany them.

Already at the outset the name of Prof. Descloizeaux was put on a short list of those to whom the government was to send copies of the reports and I am surprised that they have not been duly received. Certainly I have still to learn that such most gratifying collection, of the richest and will always be most highly prized so far as may lie in my power.

Dear Mr. Reed:

I am sending to you by this mail the two copies of my Report of Progress with two copies each of the three Charts published by the Hydrographic Office, and the General Report on the Survey of the coast of Japan. I beg that you will present one copy of each to the Library of the Navy Department, and keep the other copy of each for yourself. I am hoping to receive from you in return the Reports and Charts published by the Naval Department, which you will send me as soon as possible.

difficulty in your lodging at myhouse; for you can't easily get a passport for a journey and the interior and will be glad you lodge where and as you please. I would be willing for you two to make a little journey with the children and perhaps I could find leisure to go with you. We are for example yet at a volcano and within a few hundred miles of Mount Etna, and if it should turn out to be an interesting one at the right time we might go and see it. There are several excursions to that would be fine. I am hoping that the new road to Leonforte may be finished before you come. Even if I should be unable perhaps to accompany you elsewhere, I might find a few quarters I could prepare at my lodging, plain rather than, yet possibly better than either of the hotels. The old house might perhaps do, it is kept by a Frenchman and has doubtless a pretty good table, but its rooms are wretchedly furnished. Nevertheless you would be more comfortable at my own and equally independent. You come as soon as you can do so & be able to stay as long as possible. The season for cherry blossoms as I wrote last year is about a week after April and the middle of April; but this year it may possibly be a little earlier, for the plum trees have been in bloom since about the 1st of December, fully two months earlier than common, but that may not make so much difference with the cherries. The winter indeed has been a charming one without any snow on the ground; and now after two or three weeks of stormy weather it seems to be beginning another mild term.

Please give my love to Annie, and tell me the light of your faces as soon as maybe, and believe me always

Yours affectionately,

I was delighted a few days ago to see my cousin Dora Forbes and am sorry we were in such a hurry when you were at Yokohama not to have had you come and make your headquarters with us during your stay. Probably Dora, if she had an opportunity to drop you a line before she sailed from Yokohama, may have given you a rather discouraging view of the possibility of your staying at any house, but I think it will still be feasible. The Japanese government is inclined to make it worth by its treaty rights to prohibit foreigners from residing in the interior except in the foreign concessions, and I am not allowed to live any longer in this house outside of the concession [illegible] as I am no longer in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Franklin Chamberlain:

Many thanks for your photograph; though I must say that it does you great injustice, the photographer has so retouched it as to make it more pretty than you are.

I do not know the name of the picking woman and the address Kaisaijo, but can find out for you if you like, with regard to me. Since you were here it occurred to me that my teacher was not quite so well educated as you would like, and not actually experienced in teaching. He never tried to teach me a lesson or give me an idea of what I ought to learn. He knows two or three words of English and very little Japanese.

Chief Secretary (P.W.D.).

My dear General:

I have to thank you very much for your letter of the 6th inst. and for the information in it which I will endeavour to turn to good account and the manner in which you have put the case. You may be sure that I am always delighted to hear all advancement of your gentleman, who has served me so faithfully for so many years, and in the present instance I cannot but regret that I am unable to accept, especially in these times of high prices.

I am sorry you should be annoyed that the government will not be able to grant funds, instead of handing them in one lump sum, for that seems extremely convenient both directly for yourself and indirectly for the credit of the government, and other great parties will be sorely afraid make over the money away.

I shall however be very glad to avail myself of your assistance in several different ways, and I trust you will find, on your return, [illegible]

Dear Mary.

I owe to thank you for your letter of the 1st February, and was surprised & grieved to hear of Annie's illness and that it was so severe. I hope ere this you have got her quite well again. I wrote a kind letter to Mrs. Hillier expressing how sorry we were to hear of her illness, and how glad we should be to see her & Mr. Hillier again when they came to Yedo in April. He must have received my letter before this, but only acknowledged the receipt of the previous two and did not definitely say that they would come to Yedo at all, tho' he said they would come to Yokohama in the latter part of April or next week. Perhaps they thought of going to America in the Spring. However I have been counting upon great pleasure from their visit, and do not anticipate any difficulty about their lodging in my house, for they can get a handsome house for the interval as indeed I probably could myself if I thought it worth while to keep one in spite of the affluence with which government has provided me. In fact it would in one way be simply "flinging away money" to have one, and I do not care enough about it, if the government leave it as it is, to keep one. Otherwise to have lodgings unfurnished after 10 years residence would be absurd. I am still at work on government work and the Tycoon's treasury is open to me as an office for my labours.

I remain

Your favor of the 28th ult. came to hand, was neglected at the time, for which unpardonable neglect I can offer no excuse, but I was unfortunately at the time very much prostrated, as I have since learned, with a severe fever and ague, and for a number of days my life was despaired of by my family. For an engagement had existed I was not to find that the Nitches were on the eve of [illegible] and that the bad blood existing between the two divisions, Kayuta and Ogara, was fearfully increased by the late [illegible] and that the Kayutas were [illegible] and would not be able to meet the Ogaras in council for some time to come. My dear Parkes:

I owe you many thanks for your favors of the eighteenth of last February received twelfth day of March and of the third of May received nearly a week ago, and both of them by last overland mail. You see how that quite cures your supposed neglect of correspondence. [illegible] I am glad to be assured by you that certainly you did not receive any letter from me written by myself about which you mention in your [illegible] you should look for a letter from me. No doubt, in spite of my shame at writing a second letter before answering the first, and of the wordiness of this second letter, that same lady will succeed in finding a fitting time, and of the great pleasure that your interesting communications give me and of the [illegible] change. Regard to this point there would have still been [illegible] delay in writing but for the present circumstances. Not to mention [illegible] I will draw with this the first part of a bill of exchange drawn by the Oriental Bank Corporation Branch on its Calcutta branch for fifty rupees, [illegible] in payment in advance for the [illegible] I intend writing a book [illegible] marriage ceremonies, a project that I am sure will attract [illegible] anything at least to me and probably to a considerable [illegible] readers of Kaempfer and Golownin and to the [illegible] to [illegible] the public in any way at anywhere. My impression indeed is that I made a similar remittance from for the same purpose about nine years ago; but my memory on the point is a little obscure. My dear Pundit.

I send you herewith the second part of the bill of exchange in your favour for fifty rupees, drawn at three days sight. Should you not have received the first part of the bill, you will please inform me of the fact, and I will send you another copy. I am very glad that you have received your parcel of books safely, and I hope that you will find them useful. I am afraid that it would not be well for you to spend the time and money necessary to come to Japan, but I shall be very glad to correspond with you, and to assist you in your researches. But you must write in the English language, as I am very much afraid that I shall be unable to read your letters if they are written in Bengali. I am very doubtful whether I shall be able to get your articles printed, and I shall value them much if you can send me the original manuscript, as I am afraid that I shall be unable to read your letters if they are written in Bengali. I have read it with much interest and pleasure, and have been much gratified by the flattering terms in which you have been pleased to speak of my humble efforts to [illegible] with your valuable assistance, the difficult language of this country. I have also been much pleased with the [illegible] and [illegible] which you have given to my letters, and which I hope will be found useful and convenient by those who may follow me in the same path. I have some good time remembrances [illegible] and have been delighted to find that [illegible] you have not forgotten to value and welcome my friendship as much as I do yours. My dear Mr. Maunder,

Your kind favour from Hakodate was most gratefully received and I am glad that by it I was able to send you news. Your kind news has come indirectly but it has reached and passed through Sapporo and that you and Mr. Tamagawa were to be some surveying near the Ishikeshiri; and that you are by this time pleasantly and satisfactorily occupied at your work. You have at this season the advantage over us in respect to the weather though the heat here is not for me quite unendurable than it was at the same time last year. I was sorry to find that neither you nor Mr. Tamagawa had taken to heart the old Yedo proverb of the Yezo surveyor, for if you do any surveying in the old surveyor will certainly want to explore those localities, and if your first survey should cover part of the old ground with more correct compass lines, the thorough surveying will still be most useful & will in many cases between the new base lines. But I have taken it for granted that you will have obtained it and be going through the work of the land by some safe opportunity. Since you left, Iguchi and Ishiguma went to Kami and Asahi went to Ani, so that I begin to feel very lonely. I wish to write and tell you all about it, but I will not prompt in answering. As you must have found [illegible]

A. Ad. Lasard
Treasurer of the German Geological Society

Dear Sir:

I have to thank you very much for your kind letter of the 17th inst. with full statement of my account with the Society, showing a balance of £2.10.0 still due from me. I am very sorry that the difficulty I found so small an amount but though a post office order could be procured at Frankfort, perhaps, which I have not made it, I fear that would be slightly more than the value of twenty seven or a little more than one franc in value of unused Prussian postage stamps which I understand are not available in exchange but actually they will more than make up the difference. As I hope to be ready in the next few days I will then remit the amount necessary for the remainder of my year's subscription & I cannot but feel sorry that I have caused the Society the trouble & expense of writing to me about it. I am glad to find in Wiesbaden lately I took a postal order for 1 Mark (as I understood) in exchange for the Prussian stamps which would be received and exchanged for £0.1.0, and so stopped the publication of the 4, and life members of the Society for which I have been so much obliged for some time past sufficient reason though no subscription a clear statement of the receipt of the money from me. So there may possibly be, I admit it is only probable, that the £2.10.0 I posted (or could have posted) from Frankfort for £2.2.0. Evidently there was a misunderstanding somewhere in case these postage stamps cannot answer the purpose please let me know, and greatly oblige. Yours very truly

If the stamps should perhaps be a little too much don't take the trouble to keep account of the surplus

Sometimes he is called away from home for days together, and when he is absent I am required to remain with my teacher. And I have found that I can learn more in a day when he is present than in two days when he is absent. Besides, he is very kind and takes pains to explain everything to me. My dear Annie:

Many thanks for your favor of the 21st of September which I will by no means urging it make you a visit. Yesterday after the last mail was made up Mr Salisbury came in a letter from Mary stating that he should be expecting me and that she would be disappointed not to see me. Dear Mr. Hemmings.

I do hope you should not think me unmindful of your kindness, but that you can [illegible] I have not been [illegible] to find me last summer, but I trust you will not [illegible] any means arisen from want of gratitude, and I am always hoping to become more [illegible] & better prompter correspondent. When I have learned a few hundred more Chinese characters and become more familiar with those already known, you will be (no doubt) how much easier will be my letter writing. We have probably had a very busy active summer in the mountains, and are [illegible] from the country we can [illegible] back to Sapporo in vigorous health and fine spirits. As Sapporo is not yet a very large place the temptations will be to many [illegible] but you will find it extremely important to your health & take daily a good [illegible] exercise, for example & walk about two or three hours every day [illegible] weather [illegible] is bad. Do not [illegible] your self within doors and good spirits that you bring back from the mountains, and you [illegible] will be all the better for such [illegible]. If you [illegible] out door games and amusements should [illegible] be of little [illegible] to [illegible] young men of [illegible]

The health that comes from such exercise not only increases very much your enjoyment of life and the good quality of your work, as well as doubtless lengthening your life by many years; but it adds to the vigor of your children's constitution, especially if their mother should like it — neglect to take daily a good deal of exercise, as unfortunately ladies in Japan [illegible] are wont to neglect. — You are more fortunate in one respect than was at first expected, in that your child [illegible] will be; for you will be [illegible] in the same town [illegible], and that is a town where there is a College and where many books and educated men may be found. You can [illegible] with fifty [illegible] at once in the [illegible] and [illegible] at home, almost equally removed from civilization. In two or three years' time the [illegible] of their number will hardly be able to tell you from a Japanese, and doubtless they will learn your language very much. I sincerely hope that the day is not very distant when you can all work together here in Kobe; [illegible] getting some experience [illegible]. Indeed you must [illegible] be willing [illegible] as to my living permanently [illegible] and your [illegible] to happen. I have been very busy this week [illegible] and I am very ill at present, but the [illegible] soon and that you may be able to rejoin in the occasions of your wife's [illegible] you. Hiakawa Chee, 2 Nov. 1881.

My Dear Sir Archibald.

Very many thanks for your thoughtfulness in sending your Lecture on receipt of which I read it with much interest. The results of your Fijian mountain explorations. I had concluded you were not to be big game, but the smaller one seems to have proved quite satisfactory after all. Would it not however be well in the first consideration that the volcanic material got mountain-ward [illegible] mainly from a vast central molten reservoir, or [illegible] from a comparatively small one, [illegible] only twenty or thirty miles below sea level, where still a large void would be left in consequence of the [illegible] city [illegible] to form. Now perhaps Fiji is [illegible] where the centre of gravity to the land of such a void would be. Supposing the mean density of the mountains above sea level [illegible] 2·5 or more than Snowdon, still seems somewhat likely, and supposing the whole mountain down to sea level to be made up of volcanic material (though likely enough some [illegible] will have been [illegible]) the weight of the mountains too might have some effect on the density of what without it would have been the surface; but possibly the specific gravity might be supposed to increase regularly from 2·7, 2·6, 2·5, 2·05, 1·75 mile above the surface of the mountains to [illegible] such as at or not being of small moment [illegible] matter; but any how [illegible]

My dear Mr. Mendenhall:

Referring to making your some suggestion as to how to regard the possible existence of a void, or something approaching it, beneath [illegible] I do not think [illegible] of elements appreciably. Such a void might exist a canal or tunnel of the above mentioned [illegible] material, to mountain for its gravity would run like water and the reflected ray from [illegible] fall a [illegible] from upwards, causing [illegible] of the surface, that would [illegible] the surrounding country, a measure of [illegible] possibly be [illegible] with [illegible] at still more distant [illegible]. On the other hand there might be [illegible] an exceptionally low density and [illegible] effect that would be produced by abstracting the bulk of the mountain; and [illegible] that became liquid. At any rate your experiment have a very interesting result in proving that the density beneath the summit of the mountain is decidedly less than it is generally supposed to be at most parts of the earth's surface.

"Off rocks" in addition to all the [illegible] seems to mean improvement. My idea was that an earthquake at Oakland would be several miles deep, say nine, and coming straight up would pass through the alluvium and expend its force, all, suppose, a quarter of a mile in depth - who knows? - for only half a mile, or even [illegible] it would seem to give as much vertical movement to the shock here, comparatively speaking, as the slight depression of vertical movement [illegible] to be expected to [illegible]

[illegible] to begin to [illegible] and read to the [illegible]. What for I [illegible] would be the effect of steam passing from it, [illegible] upon the [illegible] by explosion. - It seems to me, in [illegible] talking about the movement [illegible] waves we are apt to look upon it as a little too simple. It must be much like the [illegible] first waves caused by throwing a [illegible] in a large smooth pond. The [illegible] as long as they meet obstacles are not [illegible] in numbers like a [illegible] rolled [illegible]. The surface is soon covered with [illegible] and [illegible] each wave has [illegible] and must be repeatedly [illegible] separated. It seems as if it were impossible to determine in a single place the direction [illegible] any more than that at a certain moment [illegible] desirable in general but during these years while they are still young they should have such facilities may be possible for carrying on their studies in mineral and geological and other matters without exclusive attention of their work; and I feel sure that in benefitting them in that way the country and government will be compensated with great profusion for the trifling expense and labor connected with the plan. It is a mere question of policy and how we can do it for the great advantage for their education; but on the other hand if it is not to be done because they are doubtless some unscrupulous men who have sometimes they are therefore necessarily of great service to the government then they would be here. The contrary is no doubt the fact.

My dear Mr. Augustus,

The bookseller Trubner came here the other day and told me he had no more copies of my reports for sale. I am very anxious therefore to buy a few copies of Gen. Capron's Volcano and of my report for 1875 at half-price if possible. Say ten copies of each of the accompanying maps. Failing that, I would urge that two copies at least be sent to "M. Daubrée Le Membre de l'Institut, Directeur de l'Ecole des Mines, 61 Boulevard St. Michel, Paris." He wrote twice about them. There are also half-a-dozen other copies needed for Libraries in America that have applied for them.

My dear General

I owe you very many thanks for the six handsome volumes of your Publications which I received yesterday, which I prize very highly notwithstanding my inexperience of having lived so long in Europe that many American subjects interest in this country

It seems to me that the government cannot overestimate the importance of letting the world know what progress it is making in civilization, and that the steps which lead to it can be better expected than by rendering the knowledge of what reports and books it has had prepared and the procuring of copies easy to those who are already friendly interested in the country from being kind here or for other reasons, are personally interested in the authors. At present the authors sometimes find difficulty in obtaining [illegible] here even. Nevertheless when weighty international questions arise or in case of war money or other help needed from Europe abroad, it is obviously from just those men that it would get its opinion of the merit of the country.

Dear Mr. Sugeda:

I answer by same post which brings your letter just received. I have not seen that my attention was also called to the notice in the Japanese newspaper about my returning home etc., and I did not know what to make of it. As it appears however to be based on information obtained from somebody in the Kaitakushi Office, your letter inquiring has for practical particulars.

I have all along had no doubt that the Kaitakushi would if possible have its grasp by letting "some other foreign gentleman get trumped" over me; but I did not think you would have the face to threaten me with such a result in order to screw out more gratuitous work from me, work too that at least four Japanese employés of your department can do just about as well as I can.
